

Practice Test 4

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

AP[®] World History: Modern Exam

SECTION I, PART A: Multiple Choice

DO NOT BEGIN THE EXAM UNTIL YOU ARE TOLD TO DO SO.

At a Glance

Time

55 minutes

Number of Questions

55

Percent of Total Score

40%

DISCLAIMER: The official AP World History: Modern Exam will be administered digitally. Instructions for the digital exam may differ from this practice test.

Instructions

Section I, Part A has 55 multiple-choice questions and lasts 55 minutes.

Each question in this part is followed by four suggested answers. Select the best answer to each question.

Indicate all of your answers to the multiple-choice questions on the answer sheet. Give only one answer to each question.

Use your time effectively, working as quickly as you can without losing accuracy. Do not spend too much time on any one question. Go on to other questions and come back to the ones you have not answered if you have time.

Your total score on the multiple-choice section is based only on the number of questions answered correctly. Points are not deducted for incorrect answers or unanswered questions.

SECTION I, PART B: Short Answer

At a Glance

Time

40 minutes

Number of Questions

3

Percent of Total Score

20%

Questions 1 and 2

Mandatory

Questions 3 or 4

Choose one question

Instructions

Section I, Part B has 3 short-answer questions and lasts 40 minutes.

In this part, answer Question 1 and Question 2 and either Question 3 or Question 4.

In your response, be sure to address all parts of the questions you answer. Use complete sentences; an outline or bulleted list alone is not acceptable.

You may pace yourself as you answer the questions in this part, or you may use these optional timing recommendations:

It is suggested that you spend an equal amount of time, approximately 13 minutes, on each question.

For this practice test, use scratch paper for notes and planning as well as writing your responses.

BACK

NEXT

Questions 1 through 2 refer to the following.

At Buda I made my first acquaintance with the Janissaries; this is the name by which the Turks call the infantry of the royal guard. The Turkish state has 12,000 of these troops when the corps is at its full strength. They are scattered through every part of the empire, either to garrison the forts against the enemy, or to protect the Christians and Jews from the violence of the mob. There is no district with any considerable amount of population, no borough or city, which has not a detachment of Janissaries to protect the Christians, Jews, and other helpless people from outrage and wrong.

[Forster, C. T., and F. H. B. Daniel, eds. The Life and Letters of Ogier Ghiselin de Busbecq, vol. I. London: Kegan Paul, 1881.

“Ogier Ghiselin de Busbecq: on Ottoman Soldiers (Ca. 1554).” World History: Ancient and Medieval Eras, ABC-CLIO, 2019.]

Source: Flemish ambassador Ogier Ghiselin de Busbecq’s description of Ottoman soldiers (c. 1554)

1

Mark for Review

Which of the following best characterizes the groups described in the paragraph?

(A) An informal group of citizen soldiers who volunteered to serve on an as-needed basis

(B) Mercenaries for hire that created instability within the Ottoman Empire

(C) A standing military that overthrew the sultan

(D) An elite army that had historical origins as enslaved Christians

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 1 through 2 refer to the following.

At Buda I made my first acquaintance with the Janissaries; this is the name by which the Turks call the infantry of the royal guard. The Turkish state has 12,000 of these troops when the corps is at its full strength. They are scattered through every part of the empire, either to garrison the forts against the enemy, or to protect the Christians and Jews from the violence of the mob. There is no district with any considerable amount of population, no borough or city, which has not a detachment of Janissaries to protect the Christians, Jews, and other helpless people from outrage and wrong.

[Forster, C. T., and F. H. B. Daniel, eds. The Life and Letters of Ogier Ghiselin de Busbecq, vol. I. London: Kegan Paul, 1881.

“Ogier Ghiselin de Busbecq: on Ottoman Soldiers (Ca. 1554).” World History: Ancient and Medieval Eras, ABC-CLIO, 2019.]

Source: Flemish ambassador Ogier Ghiselin de Busbecq’s description of Ottoman soldiers (c. 1554)

2

Mark for Review

A historian would most likely use this passage in the treaty to illustrate which of the following?

(A) How the Turkish military compared to foreign militaries

(B) The violence deployed toward Christians and Jews by the Ottoman government

(C) The aftereffects of the Ottoman conquest of Hungary

(D) The methods used for training Janissaries

BACK

NEXT

Questions 3 through 6 refer to the following.

“Many of those slaves we transport from Guinea to America are prepossessed with the opinion, that they are carried like sheep to the slaughter, and that the Europeans are fond of their flesh; which notion so far prevails with some, as to make them fall into a deep melancholy and despair, and to refuse all sustenance, tho’ never so much compelled and even beaten to oblige them to take some nourishment: notwithstanding all which, they will starve to death; whereof I have had several instances in my own slaves both aboard and at Guadalupe.”

[John Barbot, “Some Memoirs of the Life of Job, the Son of Solomon,” in Thomas Astley and John Churchill, eds., Collection of Voyages and Travels (London, 1732).

Source: Firsthand account of John Barbot, an agent for the French Royal African Company (1732)

3

Mark for Review

Barbot’s account is best understood in the context of which of the following?

(A) The colonization of South America

(B) The development of North African trade networks

(C) The dominance of French colonial holdings in the Americas

(D) The transatlantic exchange of people, crops, animals, goods, and technology

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 3 through 6 refer to the following.

“Many of those slaves we transport from Guinea to America are prepossessed with the opinion, that they are carried like sheep to the slaughter, and that the Europeans are fond of their flesh; which notion so far prevails with some, as to make them fall into a deep melancholy and despair, and to refuse all sustenance, tho’ never so much compelled and even beaten to oblige them to take some nourishment: notwithstanding all which, they will starve to death; whereof I have had several instances in my own slaves both aboard and at Guadalupe.”

[John Barbot, “Some Memoirs of the Life of Job, the Son of Solomon ,” in Thomas Astley and John Churchill, eds., Collection of Voyages and Travels (London, 1732).
Source: Firsthand account of John Barbot, an agent for the French Royal African Company (1732)

4

 Mark for Review

The need for human labor during the Age of Exploration was most directly a consequence of which of the following?

- ☐

(A)

 The difficulty of growing crops in the Americas
- ☐

(B)

 The lack of automated industrial technology
- ☐

(C)

 The introduction of sugar crops to the New World
- ☐

(D)

 The discovery of gold deposits in the Americas

BACK

NEXT

Questions 3 through 6 refer to the following.

“Many of those slaves we transport from Guinea to America are prepossessed with the opinion, that they are carried like sheep to the slaughter, and that the Europeans are fond of their flesh; which notion so far prevails with some, as to make them fall into a deep melancholy and despair, and to refuse all sustenance, tho’ never so much compelled and even beaten to oblige them to take some nourishment: notwithstanding all which, they will starve to death; whereof I have had several instances in my own slaves both aboard and at Guadalupe.”

[John Barbot, “Some Memoirs of the Life of Job, the Son of Solomon,” in Thomas Astley and John Churchill, eds., Collection of Voyages and Travels (London, 1732).

Source: Firsthand account of John Barbot, an agent for the French Royal African Company (1732)

5

Mark for Review

Which of the following was an important continuity underlying the interaction described in the passage?

(A) The use of violence to create and maintain European colonies

(B) Widespread opposition to the slave trade

(C) The mutually beneficial relationship between laborers and manufacturers

(D) The cooperation between European colonizers and Native American populations

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 3 through 6 refer to the following.

“Many of those slaves we transport from Guinea to America are prepossessed with the opinion, that they are carried like sheep to the slaughter, and that the Europeans are fond of their flesh; which notion so far prevails with some, as to make them fall into a deep melancholy and despair, and to refuse all sustenance, tho’ never so much compelled and even beaten to oblige them to take some nourishment: notwithstanding all which, they will starve to death; whereof I have had several instances in my own slaves both aboard and at Guadalupe.”

[John Barbot, “Some Memoirs of the Life of Job, the Son of Solomon,” in Thomas Astley and John Churchill, eds., Collection of Voyages and Travels (London, 1732).

Source: Firsthand account of John Barbot, an agent for the French Royal African Company (1732)

6

 Mark for Review

Which of the following additional pieces of information would be most directly useful in assessing the extent to which Barbot’s account was representative of most examples of human trafficking during the eighteenth century?

- ☐

Ⓐ

A list of the most common ports used for the slave trade
- ☐

Ⓑ

Statistics regarding survival rates of enslaved people during the Age of Exploration
- ☐

Ⓒ

Laws regarding human trafficking in the eighteenth century
- ☐

Ⓓ

Maps that portray the routes of different slave ships

BACK

NEXT

Questions 7 through 9 refer to the following.

“Nature hath made men so equal in the faculties of the body and mind, as that, though there be found one man sometimes manifestly stronger in body or of quicker mind than another, yet when all is reckoned together the difference between man and man is not so considerable as that one man can thereupon claim to himself any benefit to which another may not pretend as well as he. For, as to the strength of body, the weakest has strength enough to kill the strongest, either by secret machination or by confederacy with others that are in the same danger with himself.”

Source: Thomas Hobbes, Leviathan (1651)

7

Mark for Review

The concept of nature described above is best understood in the context of which of the following from 1200 to 1450?

(A) The spread of Christianity across Europe

(B) The intensification of regional trade across Eurasia

(C) The supremacy of the Byzantine emperor over the Church

(D) The development of Renaissance Humanism

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 7 through 9 refer to the following.

“Nature hath made men so equal in the faculties of the body and mind, as that, though there be found one man sometimes manifestly stronger in body or of quicker mind than another, yet when all is reckoned together the difference between man and man is not so considerable as that one man can thereupon claim to himself any benefit to which another may not pretend as well as he. For, as to the strength of body, the weakest has strength enough to kill the strongest, either by secret machination or by confederacy with others that are in the same danger with himself.”

Source: Thomas Hobbes, Leviathan (1651)

8

Mark for Review

The excerpt offers a central argument for which of the following intellectual developments?

(A) The Invisible Hand

(B) Social contract theory

(C) Divine Right of Kings

(D) Communism

BACK

NEXT

Questions 7 through 9 refer to the following.

“Nature hath made men so equal in the faculties of the body and mind, as that, though there be found one man sometimes manifestly stronger in body or of quicker mind than another, yet when all is reckoned together the difference between man and man is not so considerable as that one man can thereupon claim to himself any benefit to which another may not pretend as well as he. For, as to the strength of body, the weakest has strength enough to kill the strongest, either by secret machination or by confederacy with others that are in the same danger with himself.”

Source: Thomas Hobbes, Leviathan (1651)

9

Mark for Review

Which of the following is the most direct result of the philosophies espoused in excerpts like the one above?

(A) The development of England’s first factory system

(B) The growth of transatlantic European empires

(C) A wave of rebellions against European monarchies

(D) Marxist reforms across Europe

BACKNEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 10 through 14 refer to the following.

“My little homestead in the city, which I recently insured for £2,000 would no doubt have shared the common fate, as the insurance companies will not make good that which is destroyed by the Queen’s enemies. And although I have a farm of 50 acres close to the town, no doubt the crops and premises would have been destroyed. In fact, this has already partly been the case, and I am now suing the Government for damages done by a contingent of 1,500 natives that have recently encamped not many hundred yards from the place, who have done much damage all around.”

Source: Letter from a British citizen to his sister during the Anglo-Zulu War, South Africa, 1879

10  Mark for Review

Incidents such as those described by the author of the letter were used by the British government to do which of the following?

- ☐

(A)

 Issue a casus belli to go to war with the Kingdom of Zulu
- ☐

(B)

 Tax the Zulu kingdom to cover damages attributed to them
- ☐

(C)

 Sever its responsibility to protect citizens who chose to live in South Africa
- ☐

(D)

 Liberate the Zulus from British colonialism

BACK

NEXT

Questions 10 through 14 refer to the following.

“My little homestead in the city, which I recently insured for £2,000 would no doubt have shared the common fate, as the insurance companies will not make good that which is destroyed by the Queen’s enemies. And although I have a farm of 50 acres close to the town, no doubt the crops and premises would have been destroyed. In fact, this has already partly been the case, and I am now suing the Government for damages done by a contingent of 1,500 natives that have recently encamped not many hundred yards from the place, who have done much damage all around.”

Source: Letter from a British citizen to his sister during the Anglo-Zulu War, South Africa, 1879

11

Mark for Review

Which of the following reasons explains why European citizens moved in large numbers to Zulu lands in 1867?

(A) The British crown offered incentives to those who would establish homesteads in the unsettled lands of South Africa.

(B) The Zulu created attractive trade ports along the Indian Ocean.

(C) The Berlin Conference clarified boundaries, thus making it logistically sound for Europeans to move to the African colonies.

(D) A diamond rush ensued following the discovery of diamonds on Zulu lands.

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 10 through 14 refer to the following.

“My little homestead in the city, which I recently insured for £2,000 would no doubt have shared the common fate, as the insurance companies will not make good that which is destroyed by the Queen’s enemies. And although I have a farm of 50 acres close to the town, no doubt the crops and premises would have been destroyed. In fact, this has already partly been the case, and I am now suing the Government for damages done by a contingent of 1,500 natives that have recently encamped not many hundred yards from the place, who have done much damage all around.”

Source: Letter from a British citizen to his sister during the Anglo-Zulu War, South Africa, 1879

12  Mark for Review

Which of the following was a direct result of the expanding British presence in South Africa in the late nineteenth century?

- ☐ (A) South Africa became the most economically successful of all the British colonies.
- ☐ (B) Great Britain was penalized at the Berlin Conference with a loss of land.
- ☐ (C) The British engaged in a war with South African decedents of the Dutch.
- ☐ (D) British settlers created an independent nation.

BACK

NEXT

Questions 10 through 14 refer to the following.

“My little homestead in the city, which I recently insured for £2,000 would no doubt have shared the common fate, as the insurance companies will not make good that which is destroyed by the Queen’s enemies. And although I have a farm of 50 acres close to the town, no doubt the crops and premises would have been destroyed. In fact, this has already partly been the case, and I am now suing the Government for damages done by a contingent of 1,500 natives that have recently encamped not many hundred yards from the place, who have done much damage all around.”

Source: Letter from a British citizen to his sister during the Anglo-Zulu War, South Africa, 1879

13

Mark for Review

A historian researching nineteenth-century conflicts in South Africa would most likely find this letter a useful source for information about which of the following?

(A) The diffusion of cultural practices throughout South Africa

(B) Economic boons present in British colonies

(C) Daily challenges of Afrikaners during the colonial period

(D) Unforeseen consequences of British imperialism

BACKNEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 10 through 14 refer to the following.

“My little homestead in the city, which I recently insured for £2,000 would no doubt have shared the common fate, as the insurance companies will not make good that which is destroyed by the Queen’s enemies. And although I have a farm of 50 acres close to the town, no doubt the crops and premises would have been destroyed. In fact, this has already partly been the case, and I am now suing the Government for damages done by a contingent of 1,500 natives that have recently encamped not many hundred yards from the place, who have done much damage all around.”

Source: Letter from a British citizen to his sister during the Anglo-Zulu War, South Africa, 1879

14

 Mark for Review

The inclusion of the author’s pending litigation with the British government serves to do which of the following?

- ☐ (A) Highlight the extent of the author’s property losses
- ☐ (B) Express his opposition to the ongoing war
- ☐ (C) Belittle British officials
- ☐ (D) Place blame on both his home country as well as the Zulus

BACK

NEXT

Questions 15 through 18 refer to the following.

Chinese Poster by the Communist Party, 1958

“Brave the wind and the waves; everything has remarkable abilities.”

Source: Image courtesy of ChinesePosters.net.

15

Mark for Review

Which of these political and economic systems most influenced the message of this poster?

☐

(A) Neoliberalism

☐

(B) Fascism

☐

(C) Communism

☐

(D) Capitalism

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 15 through 18 refer to the following.

Chinese Poster by the Communist Party, 1958

“Brave the wind and the waves; everything has remarkable abilities.”

Source: Image courtesy of ChinesePosters.net.

16

Mark for Review

Which of the following is NOT a result of the Chinese economic program pictured?

- ☐ (A) China strengthened its alliance with the Soviet Union.
- ☐ (B) The Cultural Revolution was initiated.
- ☐ (C) The Chinese adopted elements of capitalism.
- ☐ (D) The Chinese changed their focus to military matters.

BACK

NEXT

Questions 15 through 18 refer to the following.

Chinese Poster by the Communist Party, 1958

“Brave the wind and the waves; everything has remarkable abilities.”

Source: Image courtesy of ChinesePosters.net.

17

Mark for Review

In what way did Chinese economic programs like the one pictured differ from those in the Soviet Union in the first half of the twentieth century?

☐

(A) China focused only on industrial production, while the Soviets also took on agricultural production.

☐

(B) Unlike the Soviet Union, China was unable to successfully industrialize during this period.

☐

(C) Mao utilized a process of collectivization in this plan, a technique eschewed by Stalin.

☐

(D) Historians attribute mass starvation to China’s policies, but do not see similar consequences for Soviet policies.

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 15 through 18 refer to the following.

Chinese Poster by the Communist Party, 1958

“Brave the wind and the waves; everything has remarkable abilities.”

Source: Image courtesy of ChinesePosters.net.

18 Mark for Review

The images on the poster best reflect which of the following ambitions of the People’s Republic of China?

- ☐ (A) To cut off ties with the noncommunist world
- ☐ (B) To have all citizens contribute to China’s industrialization
- ☐ (C) To launch the Cultural Revolution
- ☐ (D) To form a friendlier alliance with Taiwan

BACK

NEXT

Questions 19 through 20 refer to the following.

Illustration of Power Loom Weaving, 1835

19  Mark for Review

The device in the image had an impact most similar to which of the following technologies?

- ☐ (A) The cotton gin
- ☐ (B) The quipu
- ☐ (C) Movable type
- ☐ (D) Three-field system

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 19 through 20 refer to the following.

Illustration of Power Loom Weaving, 1835

20

Mark for Review

Which of the following additional pieces of information would be most useful in addressing the extent to which the developments reflected in the image represented a long-term change to the English economy?

☐

(A) Information on which companies profited most from power loom weaving

☐

(B) Information on how the power loom functions

☐

(C) Information on population shifts from rural to urban locations

☐

(D) Information on women's roles within the textile factories

BACK

NEXT

Questions 21 through 24 refer to the following.

“In Northern India the existence of separate States at this period is usually little more than a question of words. A zamindar who paid revenue to the Mogul was clearly in a position of dependence, and if he wished to establish a claim to sovereignty, the first step was to refuse, or omit to pay revenue. Such an omission might, however, arise from various other causes, and it is probable that in Rajputana, Central India, and Chota Nagpur there were numerous chiefs and tribes occupying what constitutional lawyers would regard as an anomalous position, sometimes paying the stipulated revenue, sometimes in open rebellion, and sometimes enjoying practical independence because the Mogul authorities found it inconvenient to undertake active measures of coercion.”

Source: W.H. Moreland, historian, on the policies of the Mughal (Mogul) Empire in India at the Death of Akbar, 1920

21

Mark for Review

Which of the following characteristics most accurately defines the zamindar mentioned in the passage?

(A) Muslim landowners

(B) Buddhist peasants

(C) Sikh nobility

(D) Hindu aristocrats

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 21 through 24 refer to the following.

“In Northern India the existence of separate States at this period is usually little more than a question of words. A zamindar who paid revenue to the Mogul was clearly in a position of dependence, and if he wished to establish a claim to sovereignty, the first step was to refuse, or omit to pay revenue. Such an omission might, however, arise from various other causes, and it is probable that in Rajputana, Central India, and Chota Nagpur there were numerous chiefs and tribes occupying what constitutional lawyers would regard as an anomalous position, sometimes paying the stipulated revenue, sometimes in open rebellion, and sometimes enjoying practical independence because the Mogul authorities found it inconvenient to undertake active measures of coercion.”

Source: W.H. Moreland, historian, on the policies of the Mughal (Mogul) Empire in India at the Death of Akbar, 1920

22

Mark for Review

Zamindars had an ability “to establish a claim to sovereignty” largely due to the Mughal Empire’s policy of

(A) religious toleration

(B) universal taxation

(C) martial law

(D) suffrage

BACK

NEXT

Questions 21 through 24 refer to the following.

“In Northern India the existence of separate States at this period is usually little more than a question of words. A zamindar who paid revenue to the Mogul was clearly in a position of dependence, and if he wished to establish a claim to sovereignty, the first step was to refuse, or omit to pay revenue. Such an omission might, however, arise from various other causes, and it is probable that in Rajputana, Central India, and Chota Nagpur there were numerous chiefs and tribes occupying what constitutional lawyers would regard as an anomalous position, sometimes paying the stipulated revenue, sometimes in open rebellion, and sometimes enjoying practical independence because the Mogul authorities found it inconvenient to undertake active measures of coercion.”

Source: W.H. Moreland, historian, on the policies of the Mughal (Mogul) Empire in India at the Death of Akbar, 1920

23

Mark for Review

The author’s description of revenue collection in the Mughal Empire is best seen as evidence for which of the following generalizations?

(A) Only people of certain religions were required to pay revenue to the empire.

(B) Geographical differences may have influenced which groups pay taxes.

(C) Revenue collection was the only source of funds by which the Mughal Empire operated.

(D) The case of Rajputana was a typical one in the Mughal Empire.

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 21 through 24 refer to the following.

“In Northern India the existence of separate States at this period is usually little more than a question of words. A zamindar who paid revenue to the Mogul was clearly in a position of dependence, and if he wished to establish a claim to sovereignty, the first step was to refuse, or omit to pay revenue. Such an omission might, however, arise from various other causes, and it is probable that in Rajputana, Central India, and Chota Nagpur there were numerous chiefs and tribes occupying what constitutional lawyers would regard as an anomalous position, sometimes paying the stipulated revenue, sometimes in open rebellion, and sometimes enjoying practical independence because the Mogul authorities found it inconvenient to undertake active measures of coercion.”

Source: W.H. Moreland, historian, on the policies of the Mughal (Mogul) Empire in India at the Death of Akbar, 1920

24  Mark for Review

The changes experienced by the zamindars under the Mughal throne are most similar to those faced by

- ☐ (A) feudal lords under the Holy Roman Empire
- ☐ (B) Russian peasants under the Romanovs
- ☐ (C) Qing warriors under the Manchu Dynasty
- ☐ (D) the daimyo under Emperor Tokugawa

BACK

NEXT

Questions 25 through 28 refer to the following.

“I travelled thence to ‘Aden, the port of Yemen, on the coast of the ocean. It is surrounded by mountains and can be approached from one side only; it has no crops, trees, or water, but has reservoirs in which rainwater is collected. The Arabs often cut off the inhabitants from their supply of drinking-water until they buy them off with money and pieces of cloth. It is an exceedingly hot place. It is the port of the Indians, and to it come large vessels from Kinbayat [Cambay], Kawlām [Quilon], Calicut and many other Malabar ports [on the south-west coast of India]. There are Indian merchants living there, as well as Egyptian merchants. Its inhabitants are all either merchants, porters, or fishermen. Some of the merchants are immensely rich, so rich that sometimes a single merchant is sole owner of a large ship with all it contains, and this is a subject of ostentation and rivalry amongst them. In spite of that they are pious, humble, upright, and generous in character, treat strangers well, give liberally to devotees, and pay in full the tithes due to God.”

From Travels in Asia and Africa, 1325–1354 by Ibn Battuta; translated and edited by H. A. R. Gibb. Copyright © 1929 by Broadway House.
Reproduced by permission of Taylor & Francis Books UK.

Source: Ibn Battuta describing his travels, circa 1325–1354

25

Mark for Review

Which of the following led directly to the development of the economic system described in the passage?

(A) Military campaigns

(B) Meteorological phenomena

(C) Competition with European trade networks

(D) The presence of highly developed port cities

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 25 through 28 refer to the following.

“I travelled thence to ‘Aden, the port of Yemen, on the coast of the ocean. It is surrounded by mountains and can be approached from one side only; it has no crops, trees, or water, but has reservoirs in which rainwater is collected. The Arabs often cut off the inhabitants from their supply of drinking-water until they buy them off with money and pieces of cloth. It is an exceedingly hot place. It is the port of the Indians, and to it come large vessels from Kinbayat [Cambay], Kawlām [Quilon], Calicut and many other Malabar ports [on the south-west coast of India]. There are Indian merchants living there, as well as Egyptian merchants. Its inhabitants are all either merchants, porters, or fishermen. Some of the merchants are immensely rich, so rich that sometimes a single merchant is sole owner of a large ship with all it contains, and this is a subject of ostentation and rivalry amongst them. In spite of that they are pious, humble, upright, and generous in character, treat strangers well, give liberally to devotees, and pay in full the tithes due to God.”

From Travels in Asia and Africa, 1325–1354 by Ibn Battuta; translated and edited by H. A. R. Gibb. Copyright © 1929 by Broadway House. Reproduced by permission of Taylor & Francis Books UK.

Source: Ibn Battuta describing his travels, circa 1325–1354

26

 Mark for Review

The views expressed in this journal passage are best seen as evidence of which of the following concerning medieval Islamic societies?

- ☐ (A) The absence of religious orthodoxy
- ☐ (B) Hostility toward outsiders
- ☐ (C) Limited economic opportunities
- ☐ (D) The supremacy of piety

BACK

NEXT

Questions 25 through 28 refer to the following.

“I travelled thence to ‘Aden, the port of Yemen, on the coast of the ocean. It is surrounded by mountains and can be approached from one side only; it has no crops, trees, or water, but has reservoirs in which rainwater is collected. The Arabs often cut off the inhabitants from their supply of drinking-water until they buy them off with money and pieces of cloth. It is an exceedingly hot place. It is the port of the Indians, and to it come large vessels from Kinbayat [Cambay], Kawlām [Quilon], Calicut and many other Malabar ports [on the south-west coast of India]. There are Indian merchants living there, as well as Egyptian merchants. Its inhabitants are all either merchants, porters, or fishermen. Some of the merchants are immensely rich, so rich that sometimes a single merchant is sole owner of a large ship with all it contains, and this is a subject of ostentation and rivalry amongst them. In spite of that they are pious, humble, upright, and generous in character, treat strangers well, give liberally to devotees, and pay in full the tithes due to God.”

From Travels in Asia and Africa, 1325–1354 by Ibn Battuta; translated and edited by H. A. R. Gibb. Copyright © 1929 by Broadway House. Reproduced by permission of Taylor & Francis Books UK.

Source: Ibn Battuta describing his travels, circa 1325–1354

27

Mark for Review

The tone of the passage best reflects which of the following developments in the Indian Ocean trade network?

(A) The ability of commerce to foster cultural diffusion

(B) The superiority of Arabian port cities

(C) The increasing difficulty caused by language barriers

(D) The overproduction of cash crops

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 25 through 28 refer to the following.

“I travelled thence to ‘Aden, the port of Yemen, on the coast of the ocean. It is surrounded by mountains and can be approached from one side only; it has no crops, trees, or water, but has reservoirs in which rainwater is collected. The Arabs often cut off the inhabitants from their supply of drinking-water until they buy them off with money and pieces of cloth. It is an exceedingly hot place. It is the port of the Indians, and to it come large vessels from Kinbayat [Cambay], Kawlām [Quilon], Calicut and many other Malabar ports [on the south-west coast of India]. There are Indian merchants living there, as well as Egyptian merchants. Its inhabitants are all either merchants, porters, or fishermen. Some of the merchants are immensely rich, so rich that sometimes a single merchant is sole owner of a large ship with all it contains, and this is a subject of ostentation and rivalry amongst them. In spite of that they are pious, humble, upright, and generous in character, treat strangers well, give liberally to devotees, and pay in full the tithes due to God.”

From Travels in Asia and Africa, 1325–1354 by Ibn Battuta; translated and edited by H. A. R. Gibb. Copyright © 1929 by Broadway House. Reproduced by permission of Taylor & Francis Books UK.

Source: Ibn Battuta describing his travels, circa 1325–1354

28  Mark for Review

In the period 1200 to 1450, merchants like the one described in the excerpt would have faced the most restrictions on their ability to do business in which of the following regions?

☐

(A) Italy

☐

(B) China

☐

(C) England

☐

(D) India

BACK

NEXT

Questions 29 through 32 refer to the following.

Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper, an American news magazine, 1882.

THE ONLY ONE BARRED OUT. Enlightened American Statesman.
—“We must draw the line somewhere, you know.”

29  Mark for Review

The conflict addressed in the cartoon is best understood in the context of which of the following?

- ☐ (A) The imperial interests of the United States
- ☐ (B) A dramatic increase in migration
- ☐ (C) A stagnation in global trade
- ☐ (D) The burgeoning human rights movement

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 29 through 32 refer to the following.

Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper, an American news magazine, 1882.

THE ONLY ONE BARRED OUT. Enlightened American Statesman.
—“We must draw the line somewhere, you know.”

30 Mark for Review

Which late-nineteenth/early-twentieth century policy is most similar to the one depicted in the cartoon?

- ☐ (A) Open Door Policy
- ☐ (B) White Australia Policy
- ☐ (C) Meiji Restoration
- ☐ (D) Russification

BACK

NEXT

Questions 29 through 32 refer to the following.

Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper, an American news magazine, 1882.

THE ONLY ONE BARRED OUT. Enlightened American Statesman.
—“We must draw the line somewhere, you know.”

31 Mark for Review

For which reason does the cartoonist imply that the United States discriminated against Chinese immigrants?

- ☐ (A) Fear of overpopulation
- ☐ (B) Concerns about communism
- ☐ (C) To avoid competition in the labor market
- ☐ (D) Revenge for the Boxer uprising

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 29 through 32 refer to the following.

Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper, an American news magazine, 1882.

THE ONLY ONE BARRED OUT. Enlightened American Statesman.
—“We must draw the line somewhere, you know.”

32 Mark for Review

Which of the following would the cartoonist argue is an undesirable characteristic in a migrant coming to the United States?

- ☐ (A) Temperance
- ☐ (B) Racial designation
- ☐ (C) Industriousness
- ☐ (D) Political radicalism

BACK

NEXT

Questions 33 through 35 refer to the following.

“Indeed, as both the fatwas of distinguished [scholars] who base their opinion on reason and tradition alike and the consensus of the Sunni community agree that the ancient obligation of extirpation, extermination, and expulsion of evil innovation must be the aim of our exalted aspiration, for “Religious zeal is a victory for the Faith of God the Beneficent”; then, in accordance with the words of the Prophet (Peace upon him!) “Whosoever introduces evil innovation into our order must be expelled” and “Whosoever does aught against our order must be expelled,” action has become necessary and exigent...”

Source: Letter from Ottoman Sultan Selim I to
Safavid Shah Ismail I, 1514

33

Mark for Review

The letter from Selim I is most clearly an example of which of the following?

(A) The maintenance of military supremacy at all costs

(B) Expanding tensions between religious sects

(C) Factors that brought about the collapse of the Ottoman Empire

(D) Peacemaking efforts among the Islamic empires

BACKNEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 33 through 35 refer to the following.

“Indeed, as both the fatwas of distinguished [scholars] who base their opinion on reason and tradition alike and the consensus of the Sunni community agree that the ancient obligation of extirpation, extermination, and expulsion of evil innovation must be the aim of our exalted aspiration, for “Religious zeal is a victory for the Faith of God the Beneficent”; then, in accordance with the words of the Prophet (Peace upon him!) “Whosoever introduces evil innovation into our order must be expelled” and “Whosoever does aught against our order must be expelled,” action has become necessary and exigent...”

Source: Letter from Ottoman Sultan Selim I to
Safavid Shah Ismail I, 1514

34  Mark for Review

The Safavids drew the ire of Islamic empires such as the Ottoman and the Mughal Empires primarily because the Safavids

- ☐ (A) were an expansionist empire geographically located between two other expansionists
- ☐ (B) rejected the central tenets of Islam
- ☐ (C) enslaved Christians and turned them into Safavid fighters
- ☐ (D) were ruled by Ismail, who proclaimed himself to be a Caliph

BACK

NEXT

Questions 33 through 35 refer to the following.

“Indeed, as both the fatwas of distinguished [scholars] who base their opinion on reason and tradition alike and the consensus of the Sunni community agree that the ancient obligation of extirpation, extermination, and expulsion of evil innovation must be the aim of our exalted aspiration, for “Religious zeal is a victory for the Faith of God the Beneficent”; then, in accordance with the words of the Prophet (Peace upon him!) “Whosoever introduces evil innovation into our order must be expelled” and “Whosoever does aught against our order must be expelled,” action has become necessary and exigent...”

Source: Letter from Ottoman Sultan Selim I to
Safavid Shah Ismail I, 1514

35

Mark for Review

Which of these best describes what happened to the empire led by the author of this letter in the twentieth century?

(A) Successful establishment of overseas colonies in Africa

(B) Strong economic growth due to industrialization

(C) Establishment of a Shiite Islamist Republic

(D) Partition into smaller nation-states by Allied Western Powers

BACKNEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 36 through 38 refer to the following.

World War II Era Poster from the Soviet Union, 1940s

This poster reads “Young Men and Women, Defend the Freedom, Motherland, and Honor that was Won by your Fathers.”

36  Mark for Review

This poster draws directly on its audience’s experiences of which of the following events?

- ☐ (A) The Great Purge
- ☐ (B) The Yalta Conference
- ☐ (C) World War I
- ☐ (D) The Russian Revolution

BACK

NEXT

Questions 36 through 38 refer to the following.

World War II Era Poster from the Soviet Union, 1940s

This poster reads “Young Men and Women, Defend the Freedom, Motherland, and Honor that was Won by your Fathers.”

37

Mark for Review

The image is best seen as evidence for which of the following?

(A) Anti-American sentiment at the dawn of the Cold War

(B) The use of propaganda to drive support for World War II

(C) Russian regret over exiting World War I

(D) The results of Soviet collectivization

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 36 through 38 refer to the following.

World War II Era Poster from the Soviet Union, 1940s

This poster reads “Young Men and Women, Defend the Freedom, Motherland, and Honor that was Won by your Fathers.”

38  Mark for Review

The Soviet Union’s view of nationalist fervor depicted in the poster is evidence of which of the following contrasts to Marx’s view of communism?

- ☐ Ⓐ The Soviet Union saw communism as developing most effectively within a single country, while Marx envisioned it as an international movement.
- ☐ Ⓑ The Soviet Union saw communism as primarily a militaristic philosophy, while Marx argued for a peaceful approach.
- ☐ Ⓒ The Soviet Union saw communism as being fully realized by 1917, while Marx predicted the proletariat revolt to occur much later.
- ☐ Ⓓ The Soviet Union saw communism as a theoretical concept, while Marx attempted to implement a communist society.

BACK

NEXT

Questions 39 through 43 refer to the following.

“Above all, we want equal political rights, because without them our disabilities will be permanent. I know this sounds revolutionary to the whites in this country, because the majority of voters will be Africans. This makes the white man fear democracy.

But this fear cannot be allowed to stand in the way of the only solution which will guarantee racial harmony and freedom for all. It is not true that the enfranchisement of all will result in racial domination. Political division, based on colour, is entirely artificial and, when it disappears, so will the domination of one colour group by another. The [African National Congress] has spent half a century fighting against racialism. When it triumphs it will not change that policy.

This then is what the [African National Congress] is fighting. Their struggle is a truly national one. It is a struggle of the African people, inspired by their own suffering and their own experience. It is a struggle for the right to live.

During my lifetime I have dedicated myself to this struggle of the African people. I have fought against white domination, and I have fought against black domination. I have cherished the ideal of a democratic and free society in which all persons live together in harmony and with equal opportunities. It is an ideal which I hope to live for and to achieve. But if needs be, it is an ideal for which I am prepared to die.”

Source: Nelson Mandela, 1964

39

Mark for Review

Which of the following explains why Mandela feels that his idea “sounds revolutionary to the whites in this country”?

(A) White South Africans had not yet known independence from Britain.

(B) Many white South Africans had already supported increasing Black rights before the Sharpeville Massacre.

(C) White South Africans were unfamiliar with a democratic form of government.

(D) The political power of white citizens would be tempered by the larger number of Black voters.

BACKNEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 39 through 43 refer to the following.

“Above all, we want equal political rights, because without them our disabilities will be permanent. I know this sounds revolutionary to the whites in this country, because the majority of voters will be Africans. This makes the white man fear democracy.

But this fear cannot be allowed to stand in the way of the only solution which will guarantee racial harmony and freedom for all. It is not true that the enfranchisement of all will result in racial domination. Political division, based on colour, is entirely artificial and, when it disappears, so will the domination of one colour group by another. The [African National Congress] has spent half a century fighting against racialism. When it triumphs it will not change that policy.

This then is what the [African National Congress] is fighting. Their struggle is a truly national one. It is a struggle of the African people, inspired by their own suffering and their own experience. It is a struggle for the right to live.

During my lifetime I have dedicated myself to this struggle of the African people. I have fought against white domination, and I have fought against black domination. I have cherished the ideal of a democratic and free society in which all persons live together in harmony and with equal opportunities. It is an ideal which I hope to live for and to achieve. But if needs be, it is an ideal for which I am prepared to die.”

Source: Nelson Mandela, 1964

40

Mark for Review

Which of the following policies is characteristic of South Africa at the time of Mandela’s speech?

(A) Political allegiance to Juvénal Habyarimana

(B) Dual sovereign governments separating British and Dutch regions of the country

(C) Universal adult franchise with open elections

(D) Black citizens being forced to carry identification within city limits

BACK

NEXT

Questions 39 through 43 refer to the following.

“Above all, we want equal political rights, because without them our disabilities will be permanent. I know this sounds revolutionary to the whites in this country, because the majority of voters will be Africans. This makes the white man fear democracy.

But this fear cannot be allowed to stand in the way of the only solution which will guarantee racial harmony and freedom for all. It is not true that the enfranchisement of all will result in racial domination. Political division, based on colour, is entirely artificial and, when it disappears, so will the domination of one colour group by another. The [African National Congress] has spent half a century fighting against racialism. When it triumphs it will not change that policy.

This then is what the [African National Congress] is fighting. Their struggle is a truly national one. It is a struggle of the African people, inspired by their own suffering and their own experience. It is a struggle for the right to live.

During my lifetime I have dedicated myself to this struggle of the African people. I have fought against white domination, and I have fought against black domination. I have cherished the ideal of a democratic and free society in which all persons live together in harmony and with equal opportunities. It is an ideal which I hope to live for and to achieve. But if needs be, it is an ideal for which I am prepared to die.”

Source: Nelson Mandela, 1964

41

Mark for Review

This passage is most clearly an example of which of the following?

(A) A response to failed unification attempts

(B) A plea to change a government policy

(C) A proposal to increase the standing of Africa in the modern world

(D) Ardent opposition to the influence of capitalism in Africa

BACKNEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 39 through 43 refer to the following.

“Above all, we want equal political rights, because without them our disabilities will be permanent. I know this sounds revolutionary to the whites in this country, because the majority of voters will be Africans. This makes the white man fear democracy.

But this fear cannot be allowed to stand in the way of the only solution which will guarantee racial harmony and freedom for all. It is not true that the enfranchisement of all will result in racial domination. Political division, based on colour, is entirely artificial and, when it disappears, so will the domination of one colour group by another. The [African National Congress] has spent half a century fighting against racialism. When it triumphs it will not change that policy.

This then is what the [African National Congress] is fighting. Their struggle is a truly national one. It is a struggle of the African people, inspired by their own suffering and their own experience. It is a struggle for the right to live.

During my lifetime I have dedicated myself to this struggle of the African people. I have fought against white domination, and I have fought against black domination. I have cherished the ideal of a democratic and free society in which all persons live together in harmony and with equal opportunities. It is an ideal which I hope to live for and to achieve. But if needs be, it is an ideal for which I am prepared to die.”

Source: Nelson Mandela, 1964

42  Mark for Review

The inclusion of the African National Congress in Mandela’s argument is intended to do which of the following?

☐ (A) Show an opposing viewpoint

☐ (B) Advocate for the status quo

☐ (C) Give historic context to a struggle

☐ (D) Show solidarity with other African nations

Questions 39 through 43 refer to the following.

“Above all, we want equal political rights, because without them our disabilities will be permanent. I know this sounds revolutionary to the whites in this country, because the majority of voters will be Africans. This makes the white man fear democracy.

But this fear cannot be allowed to stand in the way of the only solution which will guarantee racial harmony and freedom for all. It is not true that the enfranchisement of all will result in racial domination. Political division, based on colour, is entirely artificial and, when it disappears, so will the domination of one colour group by another. The [African National Congress] has spent half a century fighting against racialism. When it triumphs it will not change that policy.

This then is what the [African National Congress] is fighting. Their struggle is a truly national one. It is a struggle of the African people, inspired by their own suffering and their own experience. It is a struggle for the right to live.

During my lifetime I have dedicated myself to this struggle of the African people. I have fought against white domination, and I have fought against black domination. I have cherished the ideal of a democratic and free society in which all persons live together in harmony and with equal opportunities. It is an ideal which I hope to live for and to achieve. But if needs be, it is an ideal for which I am prepared to die.”

Source: Nelson Mandela, 1964

43

Mark for Review

Mandela’s argument in the passage most clearly opposes which of the following ideologies?

(A) Apartheid(B) Communism(C) Neocolonialism(D) Pan-AfricanismBACK*NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 44 through 47 refer to the following.

“The real grievance of the worker is the insecurity of his existence; he is not sure that he will always have work, he is not sure that he will always be healthy, and he foresees that he will one day be old and unfit to work. If he falls into poverty, even if only through a prolonged illness, he is then completely helpless, left to his own devices, and society does not currently recognize any real obligation towards him beyond the usual help for the poor, even if he has been working all the time ever so faithfully and diligently. The usual help for the poor, however, leaves a lot to be desired, especially in large cities, where it is very much worse than in the country.”

Source: Otto von Bismarck, 1884

44

 Mark for Review

According to the passage and your knowledge of world history, this speech led to the creation of laws that did which of the following?

- ☐

(A) Limited work hours in factories
- ☐

(B) Established public health care and pensions
- ☐

(C) Displaced citizens in the overpopulated city to the countryside
- ☐

(D) Forced early retirement for aging workers

BACK

NEXT

Questions 44 through 47 refer to the following.

“The real grievance of the worker is the insecurity of his existence; he is not sure that he will always have work, he is not sure that he will always be healthy, and he foresees that he will one day be old and unfit to work. If he falls into poverty, even if only through a prolonged illness, he is then completely helpless, left to his own devices, and society does not currently recognize any real obligation towards him beyond the usual help for the poor, even if he has been working all the time ever so faithfully and diligently. The usual help for the poor, however, leaves a lot to be desired, especially in large cities, where it is very much worse than in the country.”

Source: Otto von Bismarck, 1884

45

Mark for Review

Otto von Bismarck likely made this speech in reaction to which of the following issues?

(A) Social acceptance of child labor

(B) Declining life expectancy in Germany

(C) Criticisms of German trade tariffs

(D) Negative effects attributed to industrial capitalism

BACKNEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 44 through 47 refer to the following.

“The real grievance of the worker is the insecurity of his existence; he is not sure that he will always have work, he is not sure that he will always be healthy, and he foresees that he will one day be old and unfit to work. If he falls into poverty, even if only through a prolonged illness, he is then completely helpless, left to his own devices, and society does not currently recognize any real obligation towards him beyond the usual help for the poor, even if he has been working all the time ever so faithfully and diligently. The usual help for the poor, however, leaves a lot to be desired, especially in large cities, where it is very much worse than in the country.”

Source: Otto von Bismarck, 1884

46  Mark for Review

How would a twentieth-century Keynesian economist suggest that society address Otto von Bismarck’s evaluation of workers in Germany?

- ☐ (A) They would recommend government intervention to maintain aggregate demand.
- ☐ (B) They would suggest helping elderly workers, but claim that the government should not intervene in most circumstances.
- ☐ (C) They would caution against government intervention in personal economic matters.
- ☐ (D) They would advocate doing nothing because they would feel poverty in rural areas was more severe than it was in cities.

BACK

NEXT

Questions 44 through 47 refer to the following.

“The real grievance of the worker is the insecurity of his existence; he is not sure that he will always have work, he is not sure that he will always be healthy, and he foresees that he will one day be old and unfit to work. If he falls into poverty, even if only through a prolonged illness, he is then completely helpless, left to his own devices, and society does not currently recognize any real obligation towards him beyond the usual help for the poor, even if he has been working all the time ever so faithfully and diligently. The usual help for the poor, however, leaves a lot to be desired, especially in large cities, where it is very much worse than in the country.”

Source: Otto von Bismarck, 1884

47

Mark for Review

The long-term effects of Otto von Bismarck’s speech include which of the following?

(A) Development of socialized programs throughout much of Europe

(B) Disunity of the German states

(C) Communist overhaul of the eastern parts of Germany

(D) A decrease in German economic output

BACKNEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 48 through 50 refer to the following.

“His Majesty the Emperor of China and His Majesty the Emperor of Japan, desiring to restore the blessings of peace to their countries and subjects and to remove all cause for future complications... have agreed to the following articles:—

ARTICLE I.

Independence of Korea.—China recognizes definitely the full and complete independence and autonomy of Korea, and in consequence the payment or tribute and the performance of ceremonies and formalities by Korea to China, in derogation of such independence and autonomy, shall wholly cease for the future.

ARTICLE II.

Cession of part of Fengtien Province.—China cedes to Japan in perpetuity and full sovereignty the following territories together with all fortifications, arsenals, and public property thereon:

- (a) The southern portion of the province of Fengtien
- (b) The island of Formosa, together with all islands appertaining or belonging to said island of Formosa.”

Source: Treaty of Shimonoseki (1895)

48  Mark for Review

Based on the concessions in the treaty, what was most likely the outcome of the conflict it resolved?

- ☐ (A) Japan had defeated China in a military operation.
- ☐ (B) A war between China and Japan ended in a stalemate.
- ☐ (C) Japan assisted China in putting down a rebellion.
- ☐ (D) China handily defeated the Japanese army.

BACK

NEXT

Questions 48 through 50 refer to the following.

“His Majesty the Emperor of China and His Majesty the Emperor of Japan, desiring to restore the blessings of peace to their countries and subjects and to remove all cause for future complications... have agreed to the following articles:—

ARTICLE I.

Independence of Korea.—China recognizes definitely the full and complete independence and autonomy of Korea, and in consequence the payment or tribute and the performance of ceremonies and formalities by Korea to China, in derogation of such independence and autonomy, shall wholly cease for the future.

ARTICLE II.

Cession of part of Fengtien Province.—China cedes to Japan in perpetuity and full sovereignty the following territories together with all fortifications, arsenals, and public property thereon:

- (a) The southern portion of the province of Fengtien
- (b) The island of Formosa, together with all islands appertaining or belonging to said island of Formosa.”

Source: Treaty of Shimonoseki (1895)

49

Mark for Review

Treaties like this one are best understood in the context of which of the following?

(A) The rise of China as an industrial power

(B) The spread of communism in East Asia

(C) Chinese domination of overland trade routes like the Silk Road

(D) Japan’s development of its Pacific empire

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 48 through 50 refer to the following.

“His Majesty the Emperor of China and His Majesty the Emperor of Japan, desiring to restore the blessings of peace to their countries and subjects and to remove all cause for future complications... have agreed to the following articles:—

ARTICLE I.

Independence of Korea.—China recognizes definitely the full and complete independence and autonomy of Korea, and in consequence the payment or tribute and the performance of ceremonies and formalities by Korea to China, in derogation of such independence and autonomy, shall wholly cease for the future.

ARTICLE II.

Cession of part of Fengtien Province.—China cedes to Japan in perpetuity and full sovereignty the following territories together with all fortifications, arsenals, and public property thereon:

- (a) The southern portion of the province of Fengtien
- (b) The island of Formosa, together with all islands appertaining or belonging to said island of Formosa.”

Source: Treaty of Shimonoseki (1895)

50

Mark for Review

This treaty occurred within the context of which of the following continuities of nineteenth-century Chinese history?

(A) Chinese military and economic expansion

(B) China’s concession of land and spheres of influence to outside entities

(C) China’s transition to a communist government

(D) Increased autonomy given to the Chinese emperor

BACK

NEXT

Questions 51 through 55 refer to the following.

“The colonial world is a world cut in two...In the capitalist countries a multitude of moral teachers, counselors and ‘bewilderers’ separate the exploited from those in power. In the colonial countries, on the contrary, the policeman and the soldier, by their immediate presence and their frequent and direct action maintain contact with the native and advise him by means of rifle butts and napalm not to budge. It is obvious here that the agents of government speak the language of pure force. The intermediary does not lighten the oppression, nor seek to hide the domination; he shows them up and puts them into practice with the clear conscience of an upholder of the peace; yet he is the bringer of violence into the home and into the mind of the native.”

Source: The Wretched of the Earth by Frantz Fanon (1961)

51

Mark for Review

The statement that “the agents of government speak the language of pure force” is best understood in the context of which of the following twentieth-century continuities?

(A) The ongoing practice of colonial expansion

(B) The inability of the agents of government to communicate with local populations

(C) The dehumanization of people in developing nations

(D) Cold War tensions

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 51 through 55 refer to the following.

“The colonial world is a world cut in two...In the capitalist countries a multitude of moral teachers, counselors and ‘bewilderers’ separate the exploited from those in power. In the colonial countries, on the contrary, the policeman and the soldier, by their immediate presence and their frequent and direct action maintain contact with the native and advise him by means of rifle butts and napalm not to budge. It is obvious here that the agents of government speak the language of pure force. The intermediary does not lighten the oppression, nor seek to hide the domination; he shows them up and puts them into practice with the clear conscience of an upholder of the peace; yet he is the bringer of violence into the home and into the mind of the native.”

Source: The Wretched of the Earth by Frantz Fanon (1961)

52

Mark for Review

Fanon’s interpretation of the colonial world as presented in the passage was most strongly influenced by which of the following?

☐

(A) Marxism

☐

(B) Liberalism

☐

(C) Social Darwinism

☐

(D) Nationalism

BACK

NEXT

Questions 51 through 55 refer to the following.

“The colonial world is a world cut in two...In the capitalist countries a multitude of moral teachers, counselors and ‘bewilderers’ separate the exploited from those in power. In the colonial countries, on the contrary, the policeman and the soldier, by their immediate presence and their frequent and direct action maintain contact with the native and advise him by means of rifle butts and napalm not to budge. It is obvious here that the agents of government speak the language of pure force. The intermediary does not lighten the oppression, nor seek to hide the domination; he shows them up and puts them into practice with the clear conscience of an upholder of the peace; yet he is the bringer of violence into the home and into the mind of the native.”

Source: The Wretched of the Earth by Frantz Fanon (1961)

53

Mark for Review

The colonized nations described by Fanon experienced difficulty building stable, independent countries for which of the following reasons?

(A) They were unable to secure independence from their European colonizers.

(B) Most colonized nations had been resistant to democratic constitutions.

(C) Colonized nations had few natural resources of their own with which to build a strong economy.

(D) National boundaries had been drawn by Europeans with no regard for shared languages or cultures.

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 51 through 55 refer to the following.

“The colonial world is a world cut in two...In the capitalist countries a multitude of moral teachers, counselors and ‘bewilderers’ separate the exploited from those in power. In the colonial countries, on the contrary, the policeman and the soldier, by their immediate presence and their frequent and direct action maintain contact with the native and advise him by means of rifle butts and napalm not to budge. It is obvious here that the agents of government speak the language of pure force. The intermediary does not lighten the oppression, nor seek to hide the domination; he shows them up and puts them into practice with the clear conscience of an upholder of the peace; yet he is the bringer of violence into the home and into the mind of the native.”

Source: The Wretched of the Earth by Frantz Fanon (1961)

54

Mark for Review

The process of African decolonization was most accelerated by which of the following factors?

(A) A series of treaties made with European colonizers

(B) Pan-nationalism

(C) Increased wealth in colonized countries

(D) Political stability

BACK

NEXT

Questions 51 through 55 refer to the following.

“The colonial world is a world cut in two...In the capitalist countries a multitude of moral teachers, counselors and ‘bewilderers’ separate the exploited from those in power. In the colonial countries, on the contrary, the policeman and the soldier, by their immediate presence and their frequent and direct action maintain contact with the native and advise him by means of rifle butts and napalm not to budge. It is obvious here that the agents of government speak the language of pure force. The intermediary does not lighten the oppression, nor seek to hide the domination; he shows them up and puts them into practice with the clear conscience of an upholder of the peace; yet he is the bringer of violence into the home and into the mind of the native.”

Source: The Wretched of the Earth by Frantz Fanon (1961)

55

Mark for Review

All of the following statements are factually accurate. Which most likely informs Fanon’s view of the two worlds discussed in the passage?

- ☐ (A) Fanon dedicated part of his life to helping Algerians fight for their independence against France.
- ☐ (B) Fanon encountered racism while fighting in the French Free Forces during World War II.
- ☐ (C) Fanon had experience living in colonized nations as well as in France.
- ☐ (D) The Algerian fight for independence was a stressor that contributed to the fall of the French Fourth Republic.

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Short Answer

AP WORLD HISTORY: MODERN

SECTION I, Part B

Time—40 minutes

Directions: Answer Question 1 and Question 2. Answer either Question 3 or Question 4.

Use complete sentences; an outline or bulleted list alone is not acceptable. On test day, you will be able to plan your answers on scratch paper, but only your responses in the corresponding boxes on the free-response screen will be scored.

BACK

NEXT

Question 1 refers to the following.

Phillip Veit, Germania, 1848

1

Mark for Review

Using the image, respond to parts A, B, and C.

- A. Explain ONE feature of this image and how it connects to nationalism from 1800 to 1900.
- B. Identify and explain ONE reason why nationalism became an important political movement in Germany from 1800 to 1900.
- C. Identify and explain ONE consequence of a Nationalist movement in Europe (other than Germany) from 1800 to 1900.

BACKNEXT

Section I: Short Answer

Question 2 refers to the following.

“The fact that we can release atomic energy ushers in a new era in man’s understanding of nature’s forces. Atomic energy may in the future supplement the power that now comes from coal, oil, and falling water, but at present it cannot be produced on a basis to compete with them commercially. Before that comes there must be a long period of intensive research. It has never been the habit of the scientists of this country or the policy of this government to withhold from the world scientific knowledge. Normally, therefore, everything about the work with atomic energy would be made public.

But under the present circumstances it is not intended to divulge the technical processes of production or all the military applications. Pending further examination of possible methods of protecting us and the rest of the world from the danger of sudden destruction.”

Source: President Harry Truman, speech informing American citizens that an atomic weapon had been used against Japan, August 6, 1945

2

Mark for Review

Using the passage, respond to parts A, B, and C.

- A. Identify and explain ONE argument made in the passage.
- B. Identify and explain ONE way that the development of the technology referenced above affected international relations after World War II.
- C. Identify and explain ONE factor that led to the development of the technology described.

BACK

NEXT

Question 3 or 4

Directions: Answer either Question 3 or Question 4.

3. Respond to parts A, B, and C.
 - A. Identify and explain ONE way in which improved transportation technology led to cultural diffusion during the period 1200 to 1450.
 - B. Identify and explain ONE motivation for increased cultural interactions during the period 1200 to 1450.
 - C. Identify and explain ONE reason for the rise of nation-states in Europe during the period 1450 to 1750.
4. Respond to parts A, B, and C.
 - A. Identify and explain ONE way that the expansion of the British Empire changed a particular region between 1750 to 1900.
 - B. Identify and explain ONE reason that the British Empire experienced a decline from 1900 to 2000.
 - C. Identify and explain ONE method that the British Empire used to maintain control of its colonies from 1750 to 1900.

3-4

Mark for Review

Choose a question to answer before you start typing.

- ☐ Answer Question 3
- ☐ Answer Question 4

BACK

NEXT

AP[®] World History: Modern Exam

SECTION II: Free Response

DO NOT OPEN THIS BOOKLET UNTIL YOU ARE TOLD TO DO SO.

At a Glance

Total Time

1 hour, 40 minutes

Number of Questions

2

Percent of Total Score

40%

Question 1 (DBQ):
Mandatory*Suggested Reading and Writing Time

60 minutes

Reading Period

15 minutes. Use this time to read Question 1 and plan your answer. You may begin writing your response before the reading period is over.

Suggested Writing Time

45 minutes

Percent of Total Score

25%

Question 2, 3, or 4:
Choose One Question

Answer Question 2, Question 3, or Question 4

Suggested Writing Time

40 minutes

Percent of Total Score

15%

DISCLAIMER: The official AP World History: Modern Exam will be administered digitally. Instructions for the digital exam may differ from this practice test.

Instructions

Section II has 1 document-based question (DBQ) and 1 long essay question, and lasts 1 hour and 40 minutes.

In this section, answer Question 1 (the DBQ) and either Question 2 or Question 3 or Question 4. After reviewing Questions 2, 3, and 4, choose the question that you are best prepared to answer. This section of the exam requires answers in essay form. Use complete sentences; an outline or bulleted list alone is not acceptable.

You may pace yourself as you answer the questions in this section, or you may use these optional timing recommendations:

For Question 1 (DBQ), it is suggested that you spend approximately 15 minutes reading the question and planning your answer, and then 45 minutes writing your essay. The suggested writing time for the long essay question is 40 minutes.

For this practice test, use scratch paper for notes and planning as well as writing your responses.

BACK

NEXT

AP WORLD HISTORY: MODERN

SECTION II

Total Time—1 hour, 40 minutes

Question 1 (Document-Based Question)

Suggested reading and writing time: 1 hour

It is suggested that you spend 15 minutes reading the documents and 45 minutes writing your response. Note: You may begin writing your response before the reading period is over.

Directions: Question 1 is based on the accompanying documents. The documents have been edited for the purpose of this exercise.

In your response you should do the following.

- Respond to the prompt with a historically defensible thesis or claim that establishes a line of reasoning.
- Describe a broader historical context relevant to the prompt.
- Support an argument in response to the prompt using at least four documents.
- Use at least one additional piece of specific historical evidence (beyond that found in the documents) relevant to an argument about the prompt.
- For at least two documents, explain how or why the document's point of view, purpose, historical situation, and/or audience is relevant to an argument.
- Demonstrate a complex understanding of a historical development related to the prompt through sophisticated argumentation and/or effective use of evidence.

BACKNEXT

Section II: Free Response

Document 1

Source: Anna Manning Comfort, The Public 2, 1899.

Home Burdens of Uncle Sam

“Take up the white man’s burden” –

The Negro, once our slave!

Boast lightly of his freedom,

This problem still is grave.

We scoff and shoot and lynch him,

And yet, because he’s black,

We shove him out of office

And crowd him off the track.

“Take up the white man’s burden” –

Yes, one of them is sex.

Enslaved are your brave women,

No ballot, while you tax!

Your labors and your conflicts,

Columbia’s daughters share,

Yet still denied the franchise,

Quick give! be just! deal fair!

1

Mark for Review

Using the following documents and your knowledge of world history, discuss the barriers women have faced for more equal treatment in modern society. Consider the goals and methods of such campaigns.

BACK

NEXT

Document 2

Source: From the Women's Charter, adopted at the Founding Conference of the Federation of South African Women, Johannesburg, 1954.

This organisation is formed for the purpose of uniting women in common action for the removal of all political, legal, economic, and social disabilities. We shall strive for women to obtain:

1. The right to vote and to be elected to all State bodies, without restriction or discrimination.
2. The right to full opportunities for employment with equal pay and possibilities of promotion in all spheres of work.
3. Equal rights with men in relation to property, marriage and children, and for the removal of all laws and customs that deny women such equal rights.
4. For the development of every child through free compulsory education for all; for the protection of mother and child through maternity homes, welfare clinics, crèches and nursery schools, in countryside and towns; through proper homes for all, and through the provision of water, light, transport, sanitation, and other amenities of modern civilisation.
5. For the removal of all laws that restrict free movement, that prevent or hinder the right of free association and activity in democratic organizations, and the right to participate in the work of these organisations.
6. To build and strengthen women's sections in the National Liberatory movements, the organisation of women in trade unions, and through the peoples' varied organisation.
7. To cooperate with all other organisations that have similar aims in South Africa as well as throughout the world.
8. To strive for permanent peace throughout the world.

BACKNEXT

Section II: Free Response

Document 3

Source: The Plight of Women's Work in the Early Industrial Revolution in England and Wales, evidence taken by Children's Employment Commission, 1841.

Miss — has been for several years in the dress-making business. The common hours of business are from 8 A.M. 'til 11 P.M. in the winters; in the summer from 6 or half past 6 A.M. 'til 12 at night. During the fashionable season, that is from April 'til the later end of July, it frequently happens that the ordinary hours are greatly exceeded; if there is a drawing room or grand fete, or mourning to be made, it often happens that the work goes on for 20 hours out of the 24, occasionally all night. . . . The general result of the long hours and sedentary occupation is to impair seriously and very frequently to destroy the health of the young women. The digestion especially suffers, and also the lungs: pain to the side is very common, and the hands and feet die away from want of circulation and exercise.

Miss — is sure that there are some thousands of young women employed in the business in London and in the country. If one vacancy were to occur now there would be 20 applicants for it. Thinks that no men could endure the work enforced from the dress-makers.

BACK

NEXT

Document 4

Source: Aung San Suu Kyi, Nobel Prize Laureate, excerpts from keynote address at APC Conference, 1995.

For millennia women have dedicated themselves almost exclusively to the task of nurturing, protecting, and caring for the young and old, striving for the conditions of peace that favour life as a whole. To this can be added the fact that, to the best of my knowledge, no war was ever started by women. But it is women and children who have always suffered most in situations of conflict. Now that we are gaining control of the primary historical role imposed on us of sustaining life in the context of the home and family, it is time to apply in the arena of the world the wisdom and experience thus gained in activities of peace over so many thousands of years. The education and empowerment of women throughout the world cannot fail to result in a more caring, tolerant, just, and peaceful life for all.

BACKNEXT

Section II: Free Response

Document 5

Source: Raja Rammohan Roy, A Second Conference Between an Advocate for, and an Opponent of the Practice of Burning Widows Alive, 1820.

Advocate:

I alluded. . . to the real reason for our anxiety to persuade widows to follow their husbands, and for our endeavors to burn them pressed down with ropes: viz., that women are by nature of inferior understanding, without resolution, unworthy of trust, subject to passions, And void of virtuous knowledge; they, according to the precepts of the Sastra, are not allowed to marry again after the demise of their husbands, and consequently despair at once of all worldly pleasure; hence it is evident, that death to these unfortunate widows is preferable to existence; for the great difficulty which a widow may experience by living a purely ascetic life, as prescribed by the Sastras, is obvious; may bring disgrace upon her paternal and maternal relations, and those that may be connected with her husband. Under these circumstances, we instruct them from their early life in the idea of the beatitude of their relations, both by birth and marriage, and their reputation in this world. From this many of them, on the death of their husbands, become desirous of accompanying them; but to remove every chance of their trying to escape from the blazing fire, in the burning them we first tie them down to the pile.

BACK

NEXT

Document 6

Source: Pravda (Soviet Newspaper), “On the Path to a Great Emancipation,” March 8, 1929.

Capitalist “democracy” has not and cannot give freedom to working and laboring women. Working women in all bourgeois countries are economically and politically enslaved. Middle class conventionality has a tenacious vice-grip on daily life. Advanced women workers and revolutionary women proletarians are persecuted. The most brutal blows of capitalist “rationalization,” unemployment, and hunger in the midst of plenty descend upon the female half of the proletariat. Fascism, Catholicism, and reformism with increasingly thoroughness exploit the historical backwardness of women workers in order to split apart the proletarian ranks and strengthen the position of imperialism. The temples of “national government”—what a thing to talk about!—are protected by stone walls which prevent the participation of working women.

BACKNEXT

Section II: Free Response

Document 7

Source: Argentine feminist Maria Eugenia Echenique, “The Emancipation of Women,” 1876.

When emancipation was given to men, it was also given to women in recognition of the equality of rights, consistent with the principles of nature on which they are founded, that proclaim the identity of soul between men and women. Thus, Argentine women have been emancipated by law for a long time. The code of law that governs us authorizes a widow to defend her rights in court, just as an educated woman can in North America, and like her, we can manage the interests of our children, these rights being the basis for emancipation. What we lack is sufficient education and instruction to make use of them, instruction that North American women have; it is not just recently that we have proclaimed our freedom. To try to question or to oppose women’s emancipation is to oppose something that is almost a fact, it is to attack our laws and destroy the Republic.

So let the debate be there, on the true point where it should be: whether or not it is proper for women to make use of those granted rights, asking as a consequence the authorization to go to the university so as to practice those rights or make them effective. And this constitutes another right and duty in woman: a duty to accept the role that our own laws bestow on her when extending the circle of her jurisdiction and which makes her responsible before the members of her family.

END OF DOCUMENTS FOR QUESTION 1

BACK

NEXT

Question 2, 3, or 4 (Long Essay)

Suggested writing time: 40 minutes

Directions: Answer Question 2 or Question 3 or Question 4.

In your response you should do the following.

- Respond to the prompt with a historically defensible thesis or claim that establishes a line of reasoning.
 - Describe a broader historical context relevant to the prompt.
 - Support an argument in response to the prompt using at least two pieces of specific and relevant evidence.
 - Use historical reasoning (e.g., comparison, causation, continuity, or change over time) to frame or structure an argument that addresses the prompt.
 - Demonstrate a complex understanding of a historical development related to the prompt through sophisticated argumentation and/or effective use of evidence.
2. In the period 1800 to present, imperial subjects challenged their ruling empires through various methods. Develop an argument that evaluates the extent to which resistance to colonialism in the 1800s and 1900s transformed national identities.
 3. In the period 1750 to 1900, Enlightenment era philosophy began spreading around the world. Develop an argument that evaluates the extent to which Enlightenment philosophy transformed European culture between 1750 and 1900.
 4. In the period after 1950, the Cold War transformed international relations as the United States and Soviet Union sought to expand their influence. Develop an argument that evaluates the extent to which the Cold War transformed Latin American culture between 1900 and the present.

2-4

Mark for Review

Choose a question to answer before you start typing.

Answer Question 2

Answer Question 3

Answer Question 4

END OF EXAM

Copyright © 2025 by TPR Education IP Holdings, LLC. All rights reserved.

BACK