

NOTE: To access the interactive functions of this PDF, please make sure you have downloaded the free version of Adobe Acrobat Reader here:
<https://get.adobe.com/reader/>

Practice Test 6

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

AP[®] World History: Modern Exam

SECTION I, PART A: Multiple Choice

DO NOT BEGIN THE EXAM UNTIL YOU ARE TOLD TO DO SO.

At a Glance

Time

55 minutes

Number of Questions

55

Percent of Total Score

40%

DISCLAIMER: The official AP World History: Modern Exam will be administered digitally. Instructions for the digital exam may differ from this practice test.

Instructions

Section I, Part A has 55 multiple-choice questions and lasts 55 minutes.

Each question in this part is followed by four suggested answers. Select the best answer to each question.

Indicate all of your answers to the multiple-choice questions on the answer sheet. Give only one answer to each question.

Use your time effectively, working as quickly as you can without losing accuracy. Do not spend too much time on any one question. Go on to other questions and come back to the ones you have not answered if you have time.

Your total score on the multiple-choice section is based only on the number of questions answered correctly. Points are not deducted for incorrect answers or unanswered questions.

SECTION I, PART B: Short Answer

At a Glance

Time

40 minutes

Number of Questions

3

Percent of Total Score

20%

Questions 1 and 2

Mandatory

Questions 3 or 4

Choose one question

Instructions

Section I, Part B has 3 short-answer questions and lasts 40 minutes.

In this part, answer Question 1 and Question 2 and either Question 3 or Question 4.

In your response, be sure to address all parts of the questions you answer. Use complete sentences; an outline or bulleted list alone is not acceptable.

You may pace yourself as you answer the questions in this part, or you may use these optional timing recommendations:

It is suggested that you spend an equal amount of time, approximately 13 minutes, on each question.

For this practice test, use scratch paper for notes and planning as well as writing your responses.

BACK

NEXT

Questions 1 through 3 refer to the following.

["African Trading States, Ca. 1200–1600 Ce." World History: Ancient and Medieval Eras, ABC-CLIO, 2019, ancienthistory.abc-clio.com/Search/Display/627946. Accessed 2 Apr. 2019.]

Major African trade centers (1250–1600)

1

Mark for Review

Which of the following could be best inferred about the African trading cities shown on the maps?

- ☐ (A) Gold was a primary driver of the African trade networks.
- ☐ (B) Large-scale trade was largely limited to places with coastal or desert access.
- ☐ (C) The Sahara Desert prevented the cities from having economic contact with Arab traders.
- ☐ (D) African trading cities were fueled by the access granted by the Nile River.

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 1 through 3 refer to the following.

"African Trading States, Ca. 1200–1600 Ce." World History: Ancient and Medieval Eras, ABC-CLIO, 2019, [ancienthistory.abc-clio.com/Search/Display/627946. Accessed 2 Apr. 2019.]

Major African trade centers (1250–1600)

2 Mark for Review

Based on the map and your knowledge of history, which of the following is true of African economic activity in the late thirteenth through sixteenth centuries?

- ☐ (A) Christian travelers carved out the trans-Saharan trade routes in northern Africa.
- ☐ (B) African cities acted primarily as trading outposts, as there were few natural resources they had to offer.
- ☐ (C) African traders saw little use in trans-oceanic economic relationships.
- ☐ (D) The gold trade sustained the economic supremacy of most of Africa's major cities.

BACK

NEXT

Questions 1 through 3 refer to the following.

["African Trading States, Ca. 1200–1600 Ce." World History: Ancient and Medieval Eras, ABC-CLIO, 2019, ancienthistory.abc-clio.com/Search/Display/627946. Accessed 2 Apr. 2019.]

Major African trade centers (1250–1600)

3

Mark for Review

Which of the following best describes a commonality between the Swahili states and Mali during the fifteenth century?

- ☐ (A) Muslims spread both economic goods and Islamic culture on their way to and from trade centers.
- ☐ (B) Both groups were governed by common political system.
- ☐ (C) Malians and the Swahili people each experienced modes of cultural diffusion from Asian travelers.
- ☐ (D) Both locales were primarily sustained by the salt trade.

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 4 through 6 refer to the following.

The Romanists have, with great adroitness, drawn three walls round themselves, with which they have hitherto protected themselves, so that no one could reform them, whereby all Christendom has fallen terribly.

Firstly, if pressed by the temporal power, they have affirmed and maintained that the temporal power has no jurisdiction over them, but on the contrary that the spiritual power is above the temporal.

Secondly, if it were proposed to admonish them with the Scriptures, they objected that no one may interpret the Scriptures but the Pope.

Thirdly, if they are threatened with a Council, they pretend that no one may call a Council but the Pope ...

Now may God help us, and give us one of those trumpets, that overthrew the walls of Jericho, so that we may blow down these walls of straw and paper, and that we may set free our Christian rods, for the chastisement of sin, and expose the craft and deceit of the devil, so that we may amend ourselves by punishment and again obtain God's favour.

Excerpt from Martin Luther's address to the Christian nobility of the German nation, 1520

4

Mark for Review

Which of the following best describes Martin Luther's central criticism as outlined in the passage?

(A) Only the pope should be able to call a Council.

(B) The Vatican built walls around its borders.

(C) The Roman Catholic church has made itself immune to the forces of reform.

(D) An appeal to spiritual power is not a valid claim for the Church to make.

BACK

NEXT

Questions 4 through 6 refer to the following.

The Romanists have, with great adroitness, drawn three walls round themselves, with which they have hitherto protected themselves, so that no one could reform them, whereby all Christendom has fallen terribly.

Firstly, if pressed by the temporal power, they have affirmed and maintained that the temporal power has no jurisdiction over them, but on the contrary that the spiritual power is above the temporal.

Secondly, if it were proposed to admonish them with the Scriptures, they objected that no one may interpret the Scriptures but the Pope.

Thirdly, if they are threatened with a Council, they pretend that no one may call a Council but the Pope ...

Now may God help us, and give us one of those trumpets, that overthrew the walls of Jericho, so that we may blow down these walls of straw and paper, and that we may set free our Christian rods, for the chastisement of sin, and expose the craft and deceit of the devil, so that we may amend ourselves by punishment and again obtain God's favour.

Excerpt from Martin Luther's address to the Christian nobility of the German nation, 1520

5

Mark for Review

A historian researching the religious history of Europe in the period circa 1500–1700 would most likely find this passage useful as a source of information about which of the following?

(A) The opinion of a typical Christian living during that time period

(B) An interpretation of Christian scripture

(C) A dispute between the leadership and a portion of the practitioners of Christianity

(D) Christendom's inability to reform

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 4 through 6 refer to the following.

The Romanists have, with great adroitness, drawn three walls round themselves, with which they have hitherto protected themselves, so that no one could reform them, whereby all Christendom has fallen terribly.

Firstly, if pressed by the temporal power, they have affirmed and maintained that the temporal power has no jurisdiction over them, but on the contrary that the spiritual power is above the temporal.

Secondly, if it were proposed to admonish them with the Scriptures, they objected that no one may interpret the Scriptures but the Pope.

Thirdly, if they are threatened with a Council, they pretend that no one may call a Council but the Pope ...

Now may God help us, and give us one of those trumpets, that overthrew the walls of Jericho, so that we may blow down these walls of straw and paper, and that we may set free our Christian rods, for the chastisement of sin, and expose the craft and deceit of the devil, so that we may amend ourselves by punishment and again obtain God's favour.

Excerpt from Martin Luther's address to the Christian nobility of the German nation, 1520

6

Mark for Review

Which of the following events had an outcome most similar to that of Martin Luther's movement in northern Germany in the sixteenth century?

(A) The establishment of the Council of Trent

(B) Separation from the Roman Catholic church by the English crown

(C) The founding of the Society of Jesus in Spain

(D) Sir Thomas More's publication of Utopia

BACK

NEXT

Questions 7 through 10 refer to the following.

Source 1

Source 2

“For some years I continued averse from mentioning this event, deeming it so horrible that I shrank from recording it and ever withdrawing one foot as I advanced the other. To whom, indeed, can it be easy to write the announcement of the death-blow of Islam and the Muslims, or who is he on whom the remembrance thereof can weigh lightly? O would that my mother had not born me or that I had died and become a forgotten thing ere this befell...

For even Antichrist will spare such as follow him, though he destroy those who oppose him, but these Tatars spared none, slaying women and men and children, ripping open pregnant women and killing unborn babes. Verily to God do we belong, and unto Him do we return, and there is no strength and no power save in God, the High, the Almighty, in face of this catastrophe, whereof the sparks flew far and wide, and the hurt was universal; and which passed over the lands like clouds driven by the wind...

Islam and the Muslims have been afflicted during this period with calamities wherewith no people hath been visited. These Tatars (may God confound them!) came from the East, and wrought deeds which horrify all who hear of them.”

Source: Ibn al-Athir, On the Tatars, 1220–1221 C.E.

7

Mark for Review

What was one of the primary reasons that the Mongol invaders were able to move easily through the large swaths of territory shown in Source 1?

- ☐ (A) They took advantage of trade routes established as part of the Silk Road network.
- ☐ (B) They used their shipbuilding and navigation skills to travel quickly along river systems.
- ☐ (C) They brought enormous amounts of grain with them to maintain a steady food supply.
- ☐ (D) They encountered little resistance from local peoples due to previously established peace treaties.

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 7 through 10 refer to the following.

Source 1

Source 2

“For some years I continued averse from mentioning this event, deeming it so horrible that I shrank from recording it and ever withdrawing one foot as I advanced the other. To whom, indeed, can it be easy to write the announcement of the death-blow of Islam and the Muslims, or who is he on whom the remembrance thereof can weigh lightly? O would that my mother had not born me or that I had died and become a forgotten thing ere this befell...

For even Antichrist will spare such as follow him, though he destroy those who oppose him, but these Tatars spared none, slaying women and men and children, ripping open pregnant women and killing unborn babes. Verily to God do we belong, and unto Him do we return, and there is no strength and no power save in God, the High, the Almighty, in face of this catastrophe, whereof the sparks flew far and wide, and the hurt was universal; and which passed over the lands like clouds driven by the wind...

Islam and the Muslims have been afflicted during this period with calamities wherewith no people hath been visited. These Tatars (may God confound them!) came from the East, and wrought deeds which horrify all who hear of them.”

Source: Ibn al-Athir, On the Tatars, 1220–1221 C.E..

8

Mark for Review

Which of the following most likely explains why the author of Source 2 describes the Mongol invasions as the “death-blow of Islam and the Muslims”?

- ☐ (A) The Mongols forced the people they conquered to convert to shamanism.
- ☐ (B) The Mongols wiped out all traces of Islam by killing those who would not renounce Muhammad.
- ☐ (C) The Mongols captured the birthplace of Islam on the Arabian Peninsula and destroyed all of Islam’s holy places.
- ☐ (D) The Mongols destroyed the cities at the heart of medieval Islamic civilization.

BACK

NEXT

Questions 7 through 10 refer to the following.

Source 1

Source 2

“For some years I continued averse from mentioning this event, deeming it so horrible that I shrank from recording it and ever withdrawing one foot as I advanced the other. To whom, indeed, can it be easy to write the announcement of the death-blow of Islam and the Muslims, or who is he on whom the remembrance thereof can weigh lightly? O would that my mother had not born me or that I had died and become a forgotten thing ere this befell...

For even Antichrist will spare such as follow him, though he destroy those who oppose him, but these Tatars spared none, slaying women and men and children, ripping open pregnant women and killing unborn babes. Verily to God do we belong, and unto Him do we return, and there is no strength and no power save in God, the High, the Almighty, in face of this catastrophe, whereof the sparks flew far and wide, and the hurt was universal; and which passed over the lands like clouds driven by the wind...

Islam and the Muslims have been afflicted during this period with calamities wherewith no people hath been visited. These Tatars (may God confound them!) came from the East, and wrought deeds which horrify all who hear of them.”

Source: Ibn al-Athir, On the Tatars, 1220–1221 C.E.

9

Mark for Review

Present-day historians would most likely agree with which of the following assertions from Source 2?

- ☐ (A) The Mongol invasions destroyed Islam completely.
- ☐ (B) The Mongols passed over the lands like clouds.
- ☐ (C) The Mongols spared no one in the lands they conquered.
- ☐ (D) The Mongols practiced a particularly brutal form of warfare.

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 7 through 10 refer to the following.

Source 1

Source 2

“For some years I continued averse from mentioning this event, deeming it so horrible that I shrank from recording it and ever withdrawing one foot as I advanced the other. To whom, indeed, can it be easy to write the announcement of the death-blow of Islam and the Muslims, or who is he on whom the remembrance thereof can weigh lightly? O would that my mother had not born me or that I had died and become a forgotten thing ere this befell...

For even Antichrist will spare such as follow him, though he destroy those who oppose him, but these Tatars spared none, slaying women and men and children, ripping open pregnant women and killing unborn babes. Verily to God do we belong, and unto Him do we return, and there is no strength and no power save in God, the High, the Almighty, in face of this catastrophe, whereof the sparks flew far and wide, and the hurt was universal; and which passed over the lands like clouds driven by the wind...

Islam and the Muslims have been afflicted during this period with calamities wherewith no people hath been visited. These Tatars (may God confound them!) came from the East, and wrought deeds which horrify all who hear of them.”

Source: Ibn al-Athir, On the Tatars, 1220–1221 C.E.

10

Mark for Review

The fear that people experienced after hearing of the Mongol invasions in texts such as Source 2 most likely contributed to which of the following?

- ☐ (A) A mass exodus of people from their ancestral homelands
- ☐ (B) A renewal of splits along traditional tribal lines
- ☐ (C) An increased readiness to concede to the Mongols’ demands
- ☐ (D) A decline in desire for urbanization

BACK

NEXT

Questions 11 through 13 refer to the following.

“Be it known, that we knowing the prosperity of these countries, and the welfare of their inhabitants depends principally on navigation and trade, which in all former times by the said Countries were carried on happily, and with a great blessing to all countries and kingdoms; and desiring that the aforesaid inhabitants should not only be preserved in their former navigation, traffic, and trade, but also that their trade may be increased as much as possible in special conformity to the treaties, alliances, leagues and covenants for traffic and navigation formerly made with other princes, republics and people, which we give them to understand must be in all parts punctually kept and adhered to.”

Source: Charter of the Dutch West India Company, 1621

11

Mark for Review

Which of the following describes a principal goal of the authors of the passage?

(A) To pool resources and eliminate competition at the companies' trading posts

(B) To force governments to decrease involvement with private business affairs

(C) To encourage scientists to develop more sophisticated navigational tools

(D) To increase economic cooperation between various nations

BACKNEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 11 through 13 refer to the following.

“Be it known, that we knowing the prosperity of these countries, and the welfare of their inhabitants depends principally on navigation and trade, which in all former times by the said Countries were carried on happily, and with a great blessing to all countries and kingdoms; and desiring that the aforesaid inhabitants should not only be preserved in their former navigation, traffic, and trade, but also that their trade may be increased as much as possible in special conformity to the treaties, alliances, leagues and covenants for traffic and navigation formerly made with other princes, republics and people, which we give them to understand must be in all parts punctually kept and adhered to.”

Source: Charter of the Dutch West India Company, 1621

12  Mark for Review

Which of the following would play the strongest role in creating the institution described in the passage?

- ☐ (A) Ecclesiastical authorities
- ☐ (B) Private banks
- ☐ (C) Kings and other royals
- ☐ (D) Military leaders Military leaders

BACK

NEXT

Questions 11 through 13 refer to the following.

“Be it known, that we knowing the prosperity of these countries, and the welfare of their inhabitants depends principally on navigation and trade, which in all former times by the said Countries were carried on happily, and with a great blessing to all countries and kingdoms; and desiring that the aforesaid inhabitants should not only be preserved in their former navigation, traffic, and trade, but also that their trade may be increased as much as possible in special conformity to the treaties, alliances, leagues and covenants for traffic and navigation formerly made with other princes, republics and people, which we give them to understand must be in all parts punctually kept and adhered to.”

Source: Charter of the Dutch West India Company, 1621

13

Mark for Review

Which economic philosophy most supported the creation of chartered companies like the one in the passage?

(A) Free trade

(B) Collectivization

(C) Manorialism

(D) Mercantilism

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 14 through 16 refer to the following.

Source 1

“If I were to record the various services which I have rendered the [French] Government, I should need many volumes, and even then should not finish them; and, as a reward for all these services, I have been arbitrarily arrested at St. Domingo, bound, and put on board ship like a criminal, without regard for my rank, without the least consideration. Is this the recompense due my labors? Should my conduct lead me to expect such treatment?

I was once rich. At the time of the revolution, I was worth six hundred and forty-eight thousand francs. I spent it in the service of my country. I purchased but one small estate upon which to establish my wife and family. Today, notwithstanding my disinterestedness, they seek to cover me with opprobrium and infamy; I am made the most unhappy of men; my liberty is taken from me; I am separated from all that I hold dearest in the world—from a venerable father, a hundred and five years old, who needs my assistance, from a dearly-loved wife, who, I fear, separated from me, cannot endure the afflictions which overwhelm her, and from a cherished family, who made the happiness of my life.”

Source: Toussaint L’Ouverture, memoirs from prison, 1802

Source 2

“Toussaint, the most unhappy of men!
Whether the whistling Rustic tend his plough
Within thy hearing, or thy head be now
Pillowed in some deep dungeon’s earless den; -
O miserable Chieftain! where and when
Wilt thou find patience? Yet die not; do thou
Wear rather in thy bonds a cheerful brow:
Though fallen thyself, never to rise again,
Live, and take comfort. Thou hast left behind
Powers that will work for thee; air, earth, and skies;
There’s not a breathing of the common wind
That will forget thee; thou hast great allies;
Thy friends are exultations, agonies,
And love, and man’s unconquerable mind.”

Source: William Wordsworth, To Toussaint L’Ouverture, 1803

14  Mark for Review

When the author of Source 1 states that “they seek to cover me with opprobrium and infamy,” to what is he referring?

- ☐ (A) The French government’s support for the cause of Haitian independence
- ☐ (B) The French government’s apathy about the plight of former enslaved people in its Caribbean territories
- ☐ (C) The French government’s attempt to discredit Spanish and British interests in the Caribbean as monarchist and repressive
- ☐ (D) The French government’s attempt to discredit L’Ouverture and his revolutionary movement

BACK

NEXT

Questions 14 through 16 refer to the following.

Source 1

“If I were to record the various services which I have rendered the [French] Government, I should need many volumes, and even then should not finish them; and, as a reward for all these services, I have been arbitrarily arrested at St. Domingo, bound, and put on board ship like a criminal, without regard for my rank, without the least consideration. Is this the recompense due my labors? Should my conduct lead me to expect such treatment?

I was once rich. At the time of the revolution, I was worth six hundred and forty-eight thousand francs. I spent it in the service of my country. I purchased but one small estate upon which to establish my wife and family. Today, notwithstanding my disinterestedness, they seek to cover me with opprobrium and infamy; I am made the most unhappy of men; my liberty is taken from me; I am separated from all that I hold dearest in the world—from a venerable father, a hundred and five years old, who needs my assistance, from a dearly-loved wife, who, I fear, separated from me, cannot endure the afflictions which overwhelm her, and from a cherished family, who made the happiness of my life.”

Source: Toussaint L’Ouverture, memoirs from prison, 1802

Source 2

“Toussaint, the most unhappy of men!
Whether the whistling Rustic tend his plough
Within thy hearing, or thy head be now
Pillowed in some deep dungeon’s earless den; -
O miserable Chieftain! where and when
Wilt thou find patience? Yet die not; do thou
Wear rather in thy bonds a cheerful brow:
Though fallen thyself, never to rise again,
Live, and take comfort. Thou hast left behind
Powers that will work for thee; air, earth, and skies;
There’s not a breathing of the common wind
That will forget thee; thou hast great allies;
Thy friends are exultations, agonies,
And love, and man’s unconquerable mind.”

Source: William Wordsworth, To Toussaint L’Ouverture, 1803

15

Mark for Review

The author of Source 2 expresses which of the following sentiments about Toussaint L’Ouverture’s fight for Haitian independence?

(A) Encouragement that L’Ouverture has many allies who support his movement

(B) Ambivalence about the morality of the revolution

(C) Condemnation of L’Ouverture and his revolutionary co-conspirators

(D) Optimism that the French will ultimately prevail and that L’Ouverture will be released from prison

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 14 through 16 refer to the following.

Source 1

“If I were to record the various services which I have rendered the [French] Government, I should need many volumes, and even then should not finish them; and, as a reward for all these services, I have been arbitrarily arrested at St. Domingo, bound, and put on board ship like a criminal, without regard for my rank, without the least consideration. Is this the recompense due my labors? Should my conduct lead me to expect such treatment?

I was once rich. At the time of the revolution, I was worth six hundred and forty-eight thousand francs. I spent it in the service of my country. I purchased but one small estate upon which to establish my wife and family. Today, notwithstanding my disinterestedness, they seek to cover me with opprobrium and infamy; I am made the most unhappy of men; my liberty is taken from me; I am separated from all that I hold dearest in the world—from a venerable father, a hundred and five years old, who needs my assistance, from a dearly-loved wife, who, I fear, separated from me, cannot endure the afflictions which overwhelm her, and from a cherished family, who made the happiness of my life.”

Source: Toussaint L’Ouverture, memoirs from prison, 1802

Source 2

“Toussaint, the most unhappy of men!
Whether the whistling Rustic tend his plough
Within thy hearing, or thy head be now
Pillowed in some deep dungeon’s earless den; -
O miserable Chieftain! where and when
Wilt thou find patience? Yet die not; do thou
Wear rather in thy bonds a cheerful brow:
Though fallen thyself, never to rise again,
Live, and take comfort. Thou hast left behind
Powers that will work for thee; air, earth, and skies;
There’s not a breathing of the common wind
That will forget thee; thou hast great allies;
Thy friends are exultations, agonies,
And love, and man’s unconquerable mind.”

Source: William Wordsworth, To Toussaint L’Ouverture, 1803

16  Mark for Review

Which of the following historical developments most directly contributed to the rebellion mentioned in the sources?

- ☐ (A) The French victory over the British in the Seven Years’ War
- ☐ (B) Spanish imposition of mercantilist policies in its Latin American colonies
- ☐ (C) The abolition of slavery in Brazil
- ☐ (D) The American Revolution

BACK

NEXT

Questions 17 through 19 refer to the following.

Source 1

“The Land of Israel was the birthplace of the Jewish people. Here their spiritual, religious and political identity was shaped. Here they first attained to statehood, created cultural values of national and universal significance and gave to the world the eternal Book of Books...

After being forcibly exiled from their land, the people remained faithful to it throughout their Dispersion and never ceased to pray and hope for their return to it and for the restoration in it of their political freedom...

Jews strove in every successive generation to re-establish themselves in their ancient homeland. In recent decades they returned in their masses. Pioneers and defenders, they made deserts bloom, revived the Hebrew language, built villages and towns, and created a thriving community controlling its own economy and culture, loving peace but knowing how to defend itself, bringing the blessings of progress to all the country's inhabitants, and aspiring towards independent nationhood...

This right was recognized in the Balfour Declaration of the 2nd November, 1917, and re-affirmed in the Mandate of the League of Nations which, in particular, gave international sanction to the historic connection between the Jewish people and the Land of Israel and to the right of the Jewish people to rebuild its National Home...

The catastrophe which recently befell the Jewish people—the massacre of millions of Jews in Europe—was another clear demonstration of the urgency of solving the problem of its homelessness by re-establishing in the Land of Israel the Jewish State, which would open the gates of the homeland wide to every Jew and confer upon the Jewish people the status of a fully privileged member of the comity of nations.”

Source: Excerpts from Israel's Declaration of Independence, 1948

Source 2

“Palestine is the homeland of the Arab Palestinian people; it is an indivisible part of the Arab homeland, and the Palestinian people are an integral part of the Arab nation.”

“The Palestinians are those Arab nationals who, until 1947, normally resided in Palestine regardless of whether they were evicted from it or have stayed there. Anyone born, after that date, of a Palestinian father—whether inside Palestine or outside it—is also a Palestinian.”

“The partition of Palestine in 1947 and the establishment of the state of Israel are entirely illegal, regardless of the passage of time, because they were contrary to the will of the Palestinian people and to their natural right in their homeland, and inconsistent with the principles embodied in the Charter of the United Nations; particularly the right to self-determination.”

“The Balfour Declaration, the Mandate for Palestine, and everything that has been based upon them, are deemed null and void. Claims of historical or religious ties of Jews with Palestine are incompatible with the facts of history and the true conception of what constitutes statehood. Judaism, being a religion, is not an independent nationality. Nor do Jews constitute a single nation with an identity of its own; they are citizens of the states to which they belong.”

Source: Articles 1, 5, 19, and 20 of the Palestinian National Charter, 1968

17

Mark for Review

Which of the following is a topic about which Source 1 and Source 2 disagree?

(A) Whether the Balfour Declaration declared the land of Palestine a national homeland for the Jews

(B) Whether religious ties to a particular land constitute a legitimate basis for statehood

(C) Whether the Palestinians are Arab nationals

(D) Whether Jews living in Palestine made the deserts bloom and revived the Hebrew language

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 17 through 19 refer to the following.

Source 1

“The Land of Israel was the birthplace of the Jewish people. Here their spiritual, religious and political identity was shaped. Here they first attained to statehood, created cultural values of national and universal significance and gave to the world the eternal Book of Books...

After being forcibly exiled from their land, the people remained faithful to it throughout their Dispersion and never ceased to pray and hope for their return to it and for the restoration in it of their political freedom...

Jews strove in every successive generation to re-establish themselves in their ancient homeland. In recent decades they returned in their masses. Pioneers and defenders, they made deserts bloom, revived the Hebrew language, built villages and towns, and created a thriving community controlling its own economy and culture, loving peace but knowing how to defend itself, bringing the blessings of progress to all the country’s inhabitants, and aspiring towards independent nationhood...

This right was recognized in the Balfour Declaration of the 2nd November, 1917, and re-affirmed in the Mandate of the League of Nations which, in particular, gave international sanction to the historic connection between the Jewish people and the Land of Israel and to the right of the Jewish people to rebuild its National Home...

The catastrophe which recently befell the Jewish people—the massacre of millions of Jews in Europe—was another clear demonstration of the urgency of solving the problem of its homelessness by re-establishing in the Land of Israel the Jewish State, which would open the gates of the homeland wide to every Jew and confer upon the Jewish people the status of a fully privileged member of the comity of nations.”

Source: Excerpts from Israel’s Declaration of Independence, 1948

Source 2

“Palestine is the homeland of the Arab Palestinian people; it is an indivisible part of the Arab homeland, and the Palestinian people are an integral part of the Arab nation.”

“The Palestinians are those Arab nationals who, until 1947, normally resided in Palestine regardless of whether they were evicted from it or have stayed there. Anyone born, after that date, of a Palestinian father—whether inside Palestine or outside it—is also a Palestinian.”

“The partition of Palestine in 1947 and the establishment of the state of Israel are entirely illegal, regardless of the passage of time, because they were contrary to the will of the Palestinian people and to their natural right in their homeland, and inconsistent with the principles embodied in the Charter of the United Nations; particularly the right to self-determination.”

“The Balfour Declaration, the Mandate for Palestine, and everything that has been based upon them, are deemed null and void. Claims of historical or religious ties of Jews with Palestine are incompatible with the facts of history and the true conception of what constitutes statehood. Judaism, being a religion, is not an independent nationality. Nor do Jews constitute a single nation with an identity of its own; they are citizens of the states to which they belong.”

Source: Articles 1, 5, 19, and 20 of the Palestinian National Charter, 1968

18

 Mark for Review

Paragraph 3 of Source 1 states, “In recent decades they returned in their masses.” To what historical development does this statement refer?

- ☐ (A) The mass emigration of European Jews to the United States prior to World War II
- ☐ (B) The movement of Jews from Western to Eastern Europe following World War I
- ☐ (C) The influx of Jewish refugees to Palestine following the 1967 Six-Day War
- ☐ (D) The growth of Zionist immigration to Palestine in the early twentieth century

BACK

NEXT

Questions 17 through 19 refer to the following.

Source 1

“The Land of Israel was the birthplace of the Jewish people. Here their spiritual, religious and political identity was shaped. Here they first attained to statehood, created cultural values of national and universal significance and gave to the world the eternal Book of Books...

After being forcibly exiled from their land, the people remained faithful to it throughout their Dispersion and never ceased to pray and hope for their return to it and for the restoration in it of their political freedom...

Jews strove in every successive generation to re-establish themselves in their ancient homeland. In recent decades they returned in their masses. Pioneers and defenders, they made deserts bloom, revived the Hebrew language, built villages and towns, and created a thriving community controlling its own economy and culture, loving peace but knowing how to defend itself, bringing the blessings of progress to all the country's inhabitants, and aspiring towards independent nationhood...

This right was recognized in the Balfour Declaration of the 2nd November, 1917, and re-affirmed in the Mandate of the League of Nations which, in particular, gave international sanction to the historic connection between the Jewish people and the Land of Israel and to the right of the Jewish people to rebuild its National Home...

The catastrophe which recently befell the Jewish people—the massacre of millions of Jews in Europe—was another clear demonstration of the urgency of solving the problem of its homelessness by re-establishing in the Land of Israel the Jewish State, which would open the gates of the homeland wide to every Jew and confer upon the Jewish people the status of a fully privileged member of the comity of nations.”

Source: Excerpts from Israel's Declaration of Independence, 1948

Source 2

“Palestine is the homeland of the Arab Palestinian people; it is an indivisible part of the Arab homeland, and the Palestinian people are an integral part of the Arab nation.”

“The Palestinians are those Arab nationals who, until 1947, normally resided in Palestine regardless of whether they were evicted from it or have stayed there. Anyone born, after that date, of a Palestinian father—whether inside Palestine or outside it—is also a Palestinian.”

“The partition of Palestine in 1947 and the establishment of the state of Israel are entirely illegal, regardless of the passage of time, because they were contrary to the will of the Palestinian people and to their natural right in their homeland, and inconsistent with the principles embodied in the Charter of the United Nations; particularly the right to self-determination.”

“The Balfour Declaration, the Mandate for Palestine, and everything that has been based upon them, are deemed null and void. Claims of historical or religious ties of Jews with Palestine are incompatible with the facts of history and the true conception of what constitutes statehood. Judaism, being a religion, is not an independent nationality. Nor do Jews constitute a single nation with an identity of its own; they are citizens of the states to which they belong.”

Source: Articles 1, 5, 19, and 20 of the Palestinian National Charter, 1968

19

Mark for Review

Which of the following historical developments best explains the existence of the “Mandate for Palestine” mentioned in Source 2?

- ☐ (A) The Roman occupation of the Levant
- ☐ (B) The Ottoman conquest of Mamluk Egypt
- ☐ (C) The defeat of the Central Powers in World War I
- ☐ (D) The creation of independent states in the Middle East following World War II

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 20 through 23 refer to the following.

“Their women are of surpassing beauty, and are shown more respect than the men. These people are Muslims, punctilious in observing the hours of prayer, studying the books of law, and memorizing the Koran. Yet their women show no bashfulness before men and do not veil themselves, though they are assiduous in attending prayers. Any man who wishes to marry one of them may do so, but they do not travel with their husbands, and, even if one desired to do so, her family would not allow her to go. The women have their “friends” and “companions” amongst the men outside their own families.”

Source: Ibn Battuta, Travels in Asia and Africa, circa 1354

From Gilbert, Erik T; Reynolds, Jonathan T., Africa in World History, 3rd Ed. © 2012. Reprinted by permission of Pearson Education, Inc., New York, New York.

20

Mark for Review

Which of the following describes a historical development evident in the passage that would have most surprised the document’s intended audience?

- ☐ Ⓐ The women of Mali appear to have less autonomy than those of other Islamic nations.
- ☐ Ⓑ The women of Mali appear to have more autonomy than those of other Islamic nations.
- ☐ Ⓒ The women of Mali appear to be more religiously observant than those of other Islamic nations.
- ☐ Ⓓ The women of Mali appear to be less religiously observant than those of other Islamic nations.

BACK

NEXT

Questions 20 through 23 refer to the following.

“Their women are of surpassing beauty, and are shown more respect than the men. These people are Muslims, punctilious in observing the hours of prayer, studying the books of law, and memorizing the Koran. Yet their women show no bashfulness before men and do not veil themselves, though they are assiduous in attending prayers. Any man who wishes to marry one of them may do so, but they do not travel with their husbands, and, even if one desired to do so, her family would not allow her to go. The women have their “friends” and “companions” amongst the men outside their own families.”

Source: Ibn Battuta, Travels in Asia and Africa, circa 1354

From Gilbert, Erik T; Reynolds, Jonathan T., Africa in World History, 3rd Ed. © 2012. Reprinted by permission of Pearson Education, Inc., New York, New York.

21

Mark for Review

In addition to wanting to see more of the world, why did travelers such as the author of the passage travel to Mali in the fourteenth century?

(A) To participate in the salt and gold trade

(B) To participate in the silk and sugar trade

(C) To participate in the copper and iron trade

(D) To participate in the rum and whiskey trade

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 20 through 23 refer to the following.

“Their women are of surpassing beauty, and are shown more respect than the men. These people are Muslims, punctilious in observing the hours of prayer, studying the books of law, and memorizing the Koran. Yet their women show no bashfulness before men and do not veil themselves, though they are assiduous in attending prayers. Any man who wishes to marry one of them may do so, but they do not travel with their husbands, and, even if one desired to do so, her family would not allow her to go. The women have their “friends” and “companions” amongst the men outside their own families.”

Source: Ibn Battuta, Travels in Asia and Africa, circa 1354

From Gilbert, Erik T; Reynolds, Jonathan T., Africa in World History, 3rd Ed. © 2012. Reprinted by permission of Pearson Education, Inc., New York, New York.

22

Mark for Review

Which of the following historical developments in the period between 1450 C.E. and 1750 C.E. reduced the importance of the inland areas of West Africa?

(A) The Ottoman absorption of the Barbary States of North Africa

(B) The establishment of African kingdoms that were heavily involved in the slave trade

(C) The spread of New World crops to Europe and Asia

(D) The settlement of Cape Colony by the Dutch

BACK

NEXT

Questions 20 through 23 refer to the following.

“Their women are of surpassing beauty, and are shown more respect than the men. These people are Muslims, punctilious in observing the hours of prayer, studying the books of law, and memorizing the Koran. Yet their women show no bashfulness before men and do not veil themselves, though they are assiduous in attending prayers. Any man who wishes to marry one of them may do so, but they do not travel with their husbands, and, even if one desired to do so, her family would not allow her to go. The women have their “friends” and “companions” amongst the men outside their own families.”

Source: Ibn Battuta, Travels in Asia and Africa, circa 1354

From Gilbert, Erik T; Reynolds, Jonathan T., Africa in World History, 3rd Ed. © 2012. Reprinted by permission of Pearson Education, Inc., New York, New York.

23

Mark for Review

Which of the following provides the best explanation for the presence of Islam in the Kingdom of Mali?

(A) Conquest of the region by Umayyad forces

(B) Traveling Islamic scholars who sought to convert to faraway lands

(C) Contact with trading cities along Africa’s Mediterranean coast

(D) The presence of several significant holy sites of Islam

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 24 through 27 refer to the following.

Source 1

“The tsar labored at the reform of fashions, or, more properly speaking, of dress. Until that time the Russians had always worn long beards, which they cherished and preserved with much care, allowing them to hang down on their bosoms, without even cutting the moustache. With these long beards they wore the hair very short, except the ecclesiastics, who, to distinguish themselves, wore it very long. The tsar, in order to reform that custom, ordered that gentlemen, merchants, and other subjects, except priests and peasants, should each pay a tax of one hundred rubles a year if they wished to keep their beards; the commoners had to pay one kopek each. Officials were stationed at the gates of the towns to collect that tax, which the Russians regarded as an enormous sin on the part of the tsar and as a thing which tended to the abolition of their religion.”

Source: Jean Rousset de Missy, Life of Peter the Great, circa 1730

Source 2

Source: Russian beard token from 1705, carried to indicate that the owner had paid the beard tax imposed by Peter the Great

24  Mark for Review

Based on the claim in Source 1, which of the following accurately describes Russia in the period of 1450 to 1750?

- ☐ (A) Under Peter the Great, Russia became a strong military nation but failed to modernize or industrialize.
- ☐ (B) Peter the Great was able to build a strong centralized government based on military principles.
- ☐ (C) The lives of ordinary Russian citizens were greatly improved as a result of the Western influences brought by Peter the Great.
- ☐ (D) Peter the Great was considered the first enlightened despot in the history of Russia.

BACK

NEXT

Questions 24 through 27 refer to the following.

Source 1

“The tsar labored at the reform of fashions, or, more properly speaking, of dress. Until that time the Russians had always worn long beards, which they cherished and preserved with much care, allowing them to hang down on their bosoms, without even cutting the moustache. With these long beards they wore the hair very short, except the ecclesiastics, who, to distinguish themselves, wore it very long. The tsar, in order to reform that custom, ordered that gentlemen, merchants, and other subjects, except priests and peasants, should each pay a tax of one hundred rubles a year if they wished to keep their beards; the commoners had to pay one kopek each. Officials were stationed at the gates of the towns to collect that tax, which the Russians regarded as an enormous sin on the part of the tsar and as a thing which tended to the abolition of their religion.”

Source: Jean Rousset de Missy, Life of Peter the Great, circa 1730

Source 2

Source: Russian beard token from 1705, carried to indicate that the owner had paid the beard tax imposed by Peter the Great

25

Mark for Review

Which of the following best describes the purpose of the policy alluded to in Source 1 and Source 2?

- ☐ (A) The Tsars believed facial hair was not becoming of true gentlemen
- ☐ (B) The government sought to more easily distinguish members of the clergy from ordinary citizens
- ☐ (C) The rulers sought to reclaim traditions of earlier time periods
- ☐ (D) The leaders wished to Westernize Russia by importing European clothing and hairstyles

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 24 through 27 refer to the following.

Source 1

“The tsar labored at the reform of fashions, or, more properly speaking, of dress. Until that time the Russians had always worn long beards, which they cherished and preserved with much care, allowing them to hang down on their bosoms, without even cutting the moustache. With these long beards they wore the hair very short, except the ecclesiastics, who, to distinguish themselves, wore it very long. The tsar, in order to reform that custom, ordered that gentlemen, merchants, and other subjects, except priests and peasants, should each pay a tax of one hundred rubles a year if they wished to keep their beards; the commoners had to pay one kopek each. Officials were stationed at the gates of the towns to collect that tax, which the Russians regarded as an enormous sin on the part of the tsar and as a thing which tended to the abolition of their religion.”

Source: Jean Rousset de Missy, Life of Peter the Great, circa 1730

Source 2

Source: Russian beard token from 1705, carried to indicate that the owner had paid the beard tax imposed by Peter the Great

26  Mark for Review

Which of the following historical developments from 1200 to 1450 CE best contextualizes the development of the Russian state as highlighted in the sources?

- ☐ (A) The settlement of Russia by Scandinavians
- ☐ (B) The establishment of trading cities along major Russian rivers
- ☐ (C) The conversion of Russia to Orthodox Christianity
- ☐ (D) The conquest of Russia by the Mongolians

BACK

NEXT

Questions 24 through 27 refer to the following.

Source 1

“The tsar labored at the reform of fashions, or, more properly speaking, of dress. Until that time the Russians had always worn long beards, which they cherished and preserved with much care, allowing them to hang down on their bosoms, without even cutting the moustache. With these long beards they wore the hair very short, except the ecclesiastics, who, to distinguish themselves, wore it very long. The tsar, in order to reform that custom, ordered that gentlemen, merchants, and other subjects, except priests and peasants, should each pay a tax of one hundred rubles a year if they wished to keep their beards; the commoners had to pay one kopek each. Officials were stationed at the gates of the towns to collect that tax, which the Russians regarded as an enormous sin on the part of the tsar and as a thing which tended to the abolition of their religion.”

Source: Jean Rousset de Missy, Life of Peter the Great, circa 1730

Source 2

Source: Russian beard token from 1705, carried to indicate that the owner had paid the beard tax imposed by Peter the Great

27

Mark for Review

According to Source 1, Peter the Great's style of rule could best be described with which of the following terms?

- ☐ (A) Enlightened despotism
- ☐ (B) Absolute monarchy
- ☐ (C) Oligarchy
- ☐ (D) Capitalism

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 28 through 30 refer to the following.

Source 1

“The humble address and petition of thousands who labour in the cloth manufactory sheweth that the Scribbling-Machines have thrown thousands of your petitioners out of employ, whereby they are brought into great distress, and are not able to procure a maintenance for their families, and deprived them of the opportunity of bringing up their children to labour: We have therefore to request, that prejudice and self-interest may be laid aside, and that you may pay that attention to the following facts, which the nature of the case requires. The number of Scribbling-Machines extending about seventeen miles south-west of Leeds, exceed all belief, being no less than one hundred and seventy! and as each machine will do as much work in twelve hours, as ten men can in that time do by hand, (speaking within bounds) and they working night-and day, one machine will do as much work in one day as would otherwise employ twenty men.”

Source: Leeds Woollen Workers Petition, 1786

Source 2

“At a time when the People, engaged in every other Manufacture in the Kingdom, are exerting themselves to bring their Work to Market at reduced Prices, which can alone be effected by the Aid of Machinery, it certainly is not necessary that the Cloth Merchants of Leeds, who depend chiefly on a Foreign Demand, where they have for Competitors the Manufacturers of other Nations, whose Taxes are few, and whose manual Labour is only Half the Price it bears here, should have Occasion to defend a Conduct, which has for its Aim the Advantage of the Kingdom in general, and of the Cloth Trade in particular.”

Source: Letter from Leeds Cloth Merchants, 1791

28  Mark for Review

Which of the following historical developments in the period 1750 C.E. to 1900 C.E. most directly caused the debate presented in the sources?

- ☐ (A) The spread of nationalism in the wake of the French Revolution
- ☐ (B) The Industrial Revolution
- ☐ (C) Imperialism and neocolonialism
- ☐ (D) The spread of democratic or representative governments

BACK

NEXT

Questions 28 through 30 refer to the following.

Source 1

“The humble address and petition of thousands who labour in the cloth manufactory sheweth that the Scribbling-Machines have thrown thousands of your petitioners out of employ, whereby they are brought into great distress, and are not able to procure a maintenance for their families, and deprived them of the opportunity of bringing up their children to labour: We have therefore to request, that prejudice and self-interest may be laid aside, and that you may pay that attention to the following facts, which the nature of the case requires. The number of Scribbling-Machines extending about seventeen miles south-west of Leeds, exceed all belief, being no less than one hundred and seventy! and as each machine will do as much work in twelve hours, as ten men can in that time do by hand, (speaking within bounds) and they working night-and day, one machine will do as much work in one day as would otherwise employ twenty men.”

Source: Leeds Woollen Workers Petition, 1786

Source 2

“At a time when the People, engaged in every other Manufacture in the Kingdom, are exerting themselves to bring their Work to Market at reduced Prices, which can alone be effected by the Aid of Machinery, it certainly is not necessary that the Cloth Merchants of Leeds, who depend chiefly on a Foreign Demand, where they have for Competitors the Manufacturers of other Nations, whose Taxes are few, and whose manual Labour is only Half the Price it bears here, should have Occasion to defend a Conduct, which has for its Aim the Advantage of the Kingdom in general, and of the Cloth Trade in particular.”

Source: Letter from Leeds Cloth Merchants, 1791

29

Mark for Review

Taken together, the two sources illuminate which of the following social concerns in the period 1750 C.E. to 1900 C.E.?

(A) The displacement of traditional labor methods by new production techniques

(B) The greed of capitalists at the expense of society at large

(C) The imposition of tariffs and other protective measures for industries

(D) The use of child labor in industries

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 28 through 30 refer to the following.

Source 1

“The humble address and petition of thousands who labour in the cloth manufactory sheweth that the Scribbling-Machines have thrown thousands of your petitioners out of employ, whereby they are brought into great distress, and are not able to procure a maintenance for their families, and deprived them of the opportunity of bringing up their children to labour: We have therefore to request, that prejudice and self-interest may be laid aside, and that you may pay that attention to the following facts, which the nature of the case requires. The number of Scribbling-Machines extending about seventeen miles south-west of Leeds, exceed all belief, being no less than one hundred and seventy! and as each machine will do as much work in twelve hours, as ten men can in that time do by hand, (speaking within bounds) and they working night-and day, one machine will do as much work in one day as would otherwise employ twenty men.”

Source: Leeds Woollen Workers Petition, 1786

Source 2

“At a time when the People, engaged in every other Manufacture in the Kingdom, are exerting themselves to bring their Work to Market at reduced Prices, which can alone be effected by the Aid of Machinery, it certainly is not necessary that the Cloth Merchants of Leeds, who depend chiefly on a Foreign Demand, where they have for Competitors the Manufacturers of other Nations, whose Taxes are few, and whose manual Labour is only Half the Price it bears here, should have Occasion to defend a Conduct, which has for its Aim the Advantage of the Kingdom in general, and of the Cloth Trade in particular.”

Source: Letter from Leeds Cloth Merchants, 1791

30

 Mark for Review

Taken together, the two sources support which of the following inferences about the relationship between capital and labor during the period 1750 C.E. to 1900 C.E.?

- ☐ (A) The socialist tendencies of labor pushed populations to support capital to put down unions and other organizations of labor.
- ☐ (B) Labor and capital had quite similar goals and cooperated to achieve the best outcome for society at large.
- ☐ (C) Capital attempted as much as possible to mechanize production in order to punish workers or depress their wages.
- ☐ (D) Both labor and capital appealed to the welfare of the population at large to press their respective agendas.

BACK

NEXT

Questions 31 through 33 refer to the following.

Source 1

Source: "The Steam Roller," political cartoon from the satirical magazine Judge, March 9, 1917

Source 2

"If woman would fulfill her traditional responsibility to her own children; if she would educate and protect from danger factory children who must find their recreation on the street; if she would bring the cultural forces to bear upon our materialistic civilization; and if she would do it all with the dignity and directness fitting one who carries on her immemorial duties, then she must bring herself to the use of the ballot—that latest implement for self-government."

Source: Jane Addams, Why Women Should Vote, 1915

31

Mark for Review

Which of the following would the author of Source 2 most agree with?

☐

(A) Self-determination

☐

(B) Dictatorship of the proletariat

☐

(C) Capitalism

☐

(D) Monarchy

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 31 through 33 refer to the following.

Source 1

Source: "The Steam Roller," political cartoon from the satirical magazine Judge, March 9, 1917

Source 2

"If woman would fulfill her traditional responsibility to her own children; if she would educate and protect from danger factory children who must find their recreation on the street; if she would bring the cultural forces to bear upon our materialistic civilization; and if she would do it all with the dignity and directness fitting one who carries on her immemorial duties, then she must bring herself to the use of the ballot—that latest implement for self-government."

Source: Jane Addams, Why Women Should Vote, 1915

32  Mark for Review

Which of the following historical developments most directly led to the success of the movement discussed in both sources?

- ☐ (A) The Great Depression
- ☐ (B) The First Industrial Revolution
- ☐ (C) World War I
- ☐ (D) The Cold War

BACK

NEXT

Questions 31 through 33 refer to the following.

Source 1

Source: "The Steam Roller," political cartoon from the satirical magazine Judge, March 9, 1917

Source 2

"If woman would fulfill her traditional responsibility to her own children; if she would educate and protect from danger factory children who must find their recreation on the street; if she would bring the cultural forces to bear upon our materialistic civilization; and if she would do it all with the dignity and directness fitting one who carries on her immemorial duties, then she must bring herself to the use of the ballot—that latest implement for self-government."

Source: Jane Addams, Why Women Should Vote, 1915

33

Mark for Review

Which of the following inferences regarding the period 1750 C.E. to 1900 C.E. best explains Addams' characterization of women's roles as educators and protectors of factory children as described in Source 2?

- ☐ (A) Children in the nineteenth century sought motherly figures by nature to teach and guard them.
- ☐ (B) Governments designated roles of teachers and parental guardians only to women in the nineteenth century.
- ☐ (C) Women were integral to the movements to abolish child labor and promote universal basic education in the nineteenth century.
- ☐ (D) Men played no role in the advancement of children's rights in the nineteenth century.

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 34 through 37 refer to the following.

Source 1

“There will be a good deal of snow this year and some rain. In the fall there will be such a rain as I have never given you before.

Grandfather [a universal title of reverence among Indians and here meaning the messiah] says, when your friends die you must not cry. You must not hurt anybody or do harm to anyone. You must not fight. Do right always. It will give you satisfaction in life...

Do not tell the white people about this. Jesus is now upon the earth. He appears like a cloud. The dead are still alive again. I do not know when they will be here; maybe this fall or in the spring. When the time comes there will be no more sickness and everyone will be young again.

Do not refuse to work for the whites and do not make any trouble with them until you leave them. When the earth shakes [at the coming of the new world] do not be afraid. It will not hurt you.

I want you to dance every six weeks. Make a feast at the dance and have food that everybody may eat. Then bathe in the water. That is all. You will receive good words again from me some time. Do not tell lies.”

Source: Wovoka, creator of the “Ghost Dance” Movement of Native Americans, 1891

Source 2

“The war had already reached Mngeta, which was near Merera. When the news was announced, Undole sent one of the elders to Mngeta to investigate. On arrival, the envoy luckily met the people who had brought the maji medicine. The natives of Mngeta had already taken the maji and wore small pieces of reed on their heads. They advised the visitor to take the maji as well. But the visitor wanted first to know what was the meaning of drinking the maji. They told him, ‘We drink this maji medicine so that European and local wars will not harm us. If by bad luck war comes, bullets and spears will not harm us. Bullets and spears will not penetrate our skins.’”

Source: Blasius Undole, regarding the Maji-Maji Revolt in German East Africa, ca. 1905–1907

34  Mark for Review

The position of Native Americans and Africans in both sources can be attributed to which of the following disadvantages?

- ☐ (A) Superior European technology
- ☐ (B) Superior European numbers
- ☐ (C) Superior European forms of government
- ☐ (D) Superior European knowledge of local terrain

BACK

NEXT

Questions 34 through 37 refer to the following.

Source 1

“There will be a good deal of snow this year and some rain. In the fall there will be such a rain as I have never given you before.

Grandfather [a universal title of reverence among Indians and here meaning the messiah] says, when your friends die you must not cry. You must not hurt anybody or do harm to anyone. You must not fight. Do right always. It will give you satisfaction in life...

Do not tell the white people about this. Jesus is now upon the earth. He appears like a cloud. The dead are still alive again. I do not know when they will be here; maybe this fall or in the spring. When the time comes there will be no more sickness and everyone will be young again.

Do not refuse to work for the whites and do not make any trouble with them until you leave them. When the earth shakes [at the coming of the new world] do not be afraid. It will not hurt you.

I want you to dance every six weeks. Make a feast at the dance and have food that everybody may eat. Then bathe in the water. That is all. You will receive good words again from me some time. Do not tell lies.”

Source: Wovoka, creator of the “Ghost Dance” Movement of Native Americans, 1891

Source 2

“The war had already reached Mngeta, which was near Merera. When the news was announced, Undole sent one of the elders to Mngeta to investigate. On arrival, the envoy luckily met the people who had brought the maji medicine. The natives of Mngeta had already taken the maji and wore small pieces of reed on their heads. They advised the visitor to take the maji as well. But the visitor wanted first to know what was the meaning of drinking the maji. They told him, ‘We drink this maji medicine so that European and local wars will not harm us. If by bad luck war comes, bullets and spears will not harm us. Bullets and spears will not penetrate our skins.’”

Source: Blasius Undole, regarding the Maji-Maji Revolt in German East Africa, ca. 1905–1907

35

Mark for Review

The two sources invoke supernatural forms of resistance to Europeans on account of which of the following?

(A) The superior divine connection between the natives and their deities compared with that of the Europeans

(B) A feeling of helplessness on account of previous defeats

(C) Societies organized on pacifist principles

(D) Societies based on shamanist governance

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 34 through 37 refer to the following.

Source 1

“There will be a good deal of snow this year and some rain. In the fall there will be such a rain as I have never given you before.

Grandfather [a universal title of reverence among Indians and here meaning the messiah] says, when your friends die you must not cry. You must not hurt anybody or do harm to anyone. You must not fight. Do right always. It will give you satisfaction in life...

Do not tell the white people about this. Jesus is now upon the earth. He appears like a cloud. The dead are still alive again. I do not know when they will be here; maybe this fall or in the spring. When the time comes there will be no more sickness and everyone will be young again.

Do not refuse to work for the whites and do not make any trouble with them until you leave them. When the earth shakes [at the coming of the new world] do not be afraid. It will not hurt you.

I want you to dance every six weeks. Make a feast at the dance and have food that everybody may eat. Then bathe in the water. That is all. You will receive good words again from me some time. Do not tell lies.”

Source: Wovoka, creator of the “Ghost Dance” Movement of Native Americans, 1891

Source 2

“The war had already reached Mngeta, which was near Merera. When the news was announced, Undole sent one of the elders to Mngeta to investigate. On arrival, the envoy luckily met the people who had brought the maji medicine. The natives of Mngeta had already taken the maji and wore small pieces of reed on their heads. They advised the visitor to take the maji as well. But the visitor wanted first to know what was the meaning of drinking the maji. They told him, ‘We drink this maji medicine so that European and local wars will not harm us. If by bad luck war comes, bullets and spears will not harm us. Bullets and spears will not penetrate our skins.’”

Source: Blasius Undole, regarding the Maji-Maji Revolt in German East Africa, ca. 1905–1907

36

 Mark for Review

The reference to “local wars” in Source 2 most likely refers to which of the following strategies of European colonizers in Africa between 1750 c.e. and 1900 c.e.?

- ☐ (A) Instigating intertribal wars so that tribes would sell enslaved people to European merchants
- ☐ (B) Making alliances with certain tribes in order to dominate other tribes
- ☐ (C) Selling machine guns and other advanced weapons to certain tribes in order to form solitary states to negotiate with in place of multiple tribes
- ☐ (D) Spreading Christianity to stoke religious wars across Africa

BACK

NEXT

Questions 34 through 37 refer to the following.

Source 1

“There will be a good deal of snow this year and some rain. In the fall there will be such a rain as I have never given you before.

Grandfather [a universal title of reverence among Indians and here meaning the messiah] says, when your friends die you must not cry. You must not hurt anybody or do harm to anyone. You must not fight. Do right always. It will give you satisfaction in life...

Do not tell the white people about this. Jesus is now upon the earth. He appears like a cloud. The dead are still alive again. I do not know when they will be here; maybe this fall or in the spring. When the time comes there will be no more sickness and everyone will be young again.

Do not refuse to work for the whites and do not make any trouble with them until you leave them. When the earth shakes [at the coming of the new world] do not be afraid. It will not hurt you.

I want you to dance every six weeks. Make a feast at the dance and have food that everybody may eat. Then bathe in the water. That is all. You will receive good words again from me some time. Do not tell lies.”

Source: Wovoka, creator of the “Ghost Dance” Movement of Native Americans, 1891

Source 2

“The war had already reached Mngeta, which was near Merera. When the news was announced, Undole sent one of the elders to Mngeta to investigate. On arrival, the envoy luckily met the people who had brought the maji medicine. The natives of Mngeta had already taken the maji and wore small pieces of reed on their heads. They advised the visitor to take the maji as well. But the visitor wanted first to know what was the meaning of drinking the maji. They told him, ‘We drink this maji medicine so that European and local wars will not harm us. If by bad luck war comes, bullets and spears will not harm us. Bullets and spears will not penetrate our skins.’”

Source: Blasius Undole, regarding the Maji-Maji Revolt in German East Africa, ca. 1905–1907

37

Mark for Review

Which of the following historical developments is most analogous to the forms of imperial resistance highlighted by the author of Source 1?

(A) The Angolan independence movement

(B) The Vietnamese independence movement

(C) The Indian independence movement

(D) The Haitian independence movement

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 38 through 41 refer to the following.

38 Mark for Review

A historian researching the economic history of the Americas would most likely find this chart useful as a source of information about which of the following?

- ☐ (A) The economic footprint left by extended periods of stagnant population growth
- ☐ (B) The impact of North and South American migration patterns on the economic development of the New World
- ☐ (C) Worldwide economic growth as it relates to population changes
- ☐ (D) The effects that periods of economic growth and stagnation have had on the population of the New World

BACK

NEXT

Questions 38 through 41 refer to the following.

39

Mark for Review

Which of the following best explains the changes illustrated in the chart during the period 1500 C.E. to 1600 C.E.?

- ☐ (A) The spread of Eastern Hemisphere crops and livestock through the Columbian Exchange
- ☐ (B) The introduction of Christianity and other belief systems through the Columbian Exchange
- ☐ (C) The introduction of tobacco and maize through the Columbian Exchange
- ☐ (D) The spread of diseases such as smallpox through the Columbian Exchange

BACKNEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 38 through 41 refer to the following.

40 Mark for Review

Which of the following best explains the changes illustrated in the chart during the period 1600 C.E. to 1800 C.E.?

- ☐ (A) The introduction of Chinese migrant laborers
- ☐ (B) The introduction of Enlightenment thought from Europe
- ☐ (C) The importation of laborers from Africa
- ☐ (D) The destruction of the Incan Empire by Spanish conquistadores

BACK

NEXT

Questions 38 through 41 refer to the following.

41

Mark for Review

Which of the following best explains the changes illustrated in the chart after 1800 C.E.?

(A) The migration of many displaced Europeans during industrialization

(B) The migration of many displaced Europeans during the wars of the Protestant Reformation

(C) The importation of enslaved Africans by British merchants

(D) The rapid industrialization of newly independent Latin American states

BACKNEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 42 through 45 refer to the following.

“The Ethiopian government never expected other governments to shed their soldiers’ blood to defend the Covenant when their own personal interests were not at stake. Ethiopian warriors asked only for means to defend themselves. On many occasions I have asked for financial assistance for the purchase of arms. That assistance has been constantly refused me. What, then, in practice, is the meaning of Article 16 and of collective security?

Apart from the Kingdom of the Lord there is not on this earth any nation that is superior to any other. Should it happen that a strong government finds it may, with impunity, destroy a weak people, then the hour strikes for that weak people to appeal to the League of Nations to give us its judgment in all freedom. God and history will remember your judgment...

Representatives of the world, I have come to discharge in your midst the most painful of the duties of the head of a state. What reply shall I have to take back to my people?”

Source: Haile Selassie, Emperor of Ethiopia, Speech to the League of Nations, June 30, 1936 C.E.

42

Mark for Review

The author’s appeal to the international community was hampered by all of the following developments in the early 20th century EXCEPT

(A) Efforts by communist and capitalist blocs to dominate politics in the developing world.

(B) Hypernationalist and militaristic governments in Western states

(C) A breakdown of the global financial system.

(D) International institutions lacking key members and the ability to enforce decisions.

BACK

NEXT

Questions 42 through 45 refer to the following.

“The Ethiopian government never expected other governments to shed their soldiers’ blood to defend the Covenant when their own personal interests were not at stake. Ethiopian warriors asked only for means to defend themselves. On many occasions I have asked for financial assistance for the purchase of arms. That assistance has been constantly refused me. What, then, in practice, is the meaning of Article 16 and of collective security?

Apart from the Kingdom of the Lord there is not on this earth any nation that is superior to any other. Should it happen that a strong government finds it may, with impunity, destroy a weak people, then the hour strikes for that weak people to appeal to the League of Nations to give us its judgment in all freedom. God and history will remember your judgment...

Representatives of the world, I have come to discharge in your midst the most painful of the duties of the head of a state. What reply shall I have to take back to my people?”

Source: Haile Selassie, Emperor of Ethiopia, Speech to the League of Nations, June 30, 1936 C.E.

43

Mark for Review

Selassie’s request for assistance is best understood in the context of which of the following?

(A) Decolonization

(B) The Industrial Revolution

(C) The Scramble for Africa

(D) Fascist expansionism

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 42 through 45 refer to the following.

“The Ethiopian government never expected other governments to shed their soldiers’ blood to defend the Covenant when their own personal interests were not at stake. Ethiopian warriors asked only for means to defend themselves. On many occasions I have asked for financial assistance for the purchase of arms. That assistance has been constantly refused me. What, then, in practice, is the meaning of Article 16 and of collective security?

Apart from the Kingdom of the Lord there is not on this earth any nation that is superior to any other. Should it happen that a strong government finds it may, with impunity, destroy a weak people, then the hour strikes for that weak people to appeal to the League of Nations to give us its judgment in all freedom. God and history will remember your judgment...

Representatives of the world, I have come to discharge in your midst the most painful of the duties of the head of a state. What reply shall I have to take back to my people?”

Source: Haile Selassie, Emperor of Ethiopia, Speech to the League of Nations, June 30, 1936 C.E.

44

Mark for Review

Selassie’s request for assistance most directly reflects the influence of which of the following?

(A) A belief in nationalism and the existence of nation-states

(B) A belief in imperialism and the acquisition of colonies

(C) A belief in socialism and the renunciation of war

(D) A belief in democracy and the will of the people

BACK

NEXT

Questions 42 through 45 refer to the following.

“The Ethiopian government never expected other governments to shed their soldiers’ blood to defend the Covenant when their own personal interests were not at stake. Ethiopian warriors asked only for means to defend themselves. On many occasions I have asked for financial assistance for the purchase of arms. That assistance has been constantly refused me. What, then, in practice, is the meaning of Article 16 and of collective security?

Apart from the Kingdom of the Lord there is not on this earth any nation that is superior to any other. Should it happen that a strong government finds it may, with impunity, destroy a weak people, then the hour strikes for that weak people to appeal to the League of Nations to give us its judgment in all freedom. God and history will remember your judgment...

Representatives of the world, I have come to discharge in your midst the most painful of the duties of the head of a state. What reply shall I have to take back to my people?”

Source: Haile Selassie, Emperor of Ethiopia, Speech to the League of Nations, June 30, 1936 C.E.

45

Mark for Review

The lack of assistance alluded to in the speech contributed directly to which of the following historical developments?

(A) The successful industrialization of Africa

(B) The outbreak of war in Europe

(C) The withdrawal of Europe from African colonies

(D) The Cold War

BACKNEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 46 through 49 refer to the following.

“Among the most useful things that this great province in these kingdoms has produced and among the most beneficial to the service of God and of Your Majesty, it has seemed worthy to me to praise the wit, curiosity, and great ability of my legitimate son, Don Felipe Guaman Poma de Ayala, who is the capac (which means prince), head governor, and lord of the Indians and other caciques and nobles, the administrator of all their common property, and the general deputy corregidor of your province of the Lucanas in the kingdom of Peru.

For the past twenty years or so, he has been writing the histories of our ancestors and grandparents, my forefathers, and the kings from before the Inca and after...based on reports and eyewitness testimony that he has taken from the four sectors of these kingdoms...

Beyond the service to Your Majesty that will result from publishing this history, it will be the first to celebrate and immortalize the memory and name of the former great lords who were our ancestors as their great deeds deserve.

In the hope that all this may be achieved, I humbly beseech Your Majesty be pleased to grant your favor to my son, Don Felipe de Ayala, and so help all my grandchildren by allowing his plans to move forward: this is what I hope to see. May Your Majesty, our lord, live and prosper for many happy years, and may you add many more kingdoms and dominions, as your most humble vassal desires.”

Source: Felipe Guaman Poma de Ayala, The First New Chronicle and Good Government, circa 1615–1616

46

Mark for Review

This letter is best understood in the context of which of the following?

(A) The construction of European trading empires in East Asia

(B) The expansion of European states into the New World

(C) The integration of Africa into Atlantic trade networks

(D) The expansion of Muslim Gunpowder Empires across Central Asia

BACK

NEXT

Questions 46 through 49 refer to the following.

“Among the most useful things that this great province in these kingdoms has produced and among the most beneficial to the service of God and of Your Majesty, it has seemed worthy to me to praise the wit, curiosity, and great ability of my legitimate son, Don Felipe Guaman Poma de Ayala, who is the capac (which means prince), head governor, and lord of the Indians and other caciques and nobles, the administrator of all their common property, and the general deputy corregidor of your province of the Lucanas in the kingdom of Peru.

For the past twenty years or so, he has been writing the histories of our ancestors and grandparents, my forefathers, and the kings from before the Inca and after...based on reports and eyewitness testimony that he has taken from the four sectors of these kingdoms...

Beyond the service to Your Majesty that will result from publishing this history, it will be the first to celebrate and immortalize the memory and name of the former great lords who were our ancestors as their great deeds deserve.

In the hope that all this may be achieved, I humbly beseech Your Majesty be pleased to grant your favor to my son, Don Felipe de Ayala, and so help all my grandchildren by allowing his plans to move forward: this is what I hope to see. May Your Majesty, our lord, live and prosper for many happy years, and may you add many more kingdoms and dominions, as your most humble vassal desires.”

Source: Felipe Guaman Poma de Ayala, The First New Chronicle and Good Government, circa 1615–1616

47

Mark for Review

Which of the following global processes best explains the list of titles of Don Felipe Guaman Poma de Ayala in the first paragraph?

(A) Cultural assimilation

(B) Centralization of political authority in states

(C) Religious conversion

(D) Social stratification

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 46 through 49 refer to the following.

“Among the most useful things that this great province in these kingdoms has produced and among the most beneficial to the service of God and of Your Majesty, it has seemed worthy to me to praise the wit, curiosity, and great ability of my legitimate son, Don Felipe Guaman Poma de Ayala, who is the capac (which means prince), head governor, and lord of the Indians and other caciques and nobles, the administrator of all their common property, and the general deputy corregidor of your province of the Lucanas in the kingdom of Peru.

For the past twenty years or so, he has been writing the histories of our ancestors and grandparents, my forefathers, and the kings from before the Inca and after...based on reports and eyewitness testimony that he has taken from the four sectors of these kingdoms...

Beyond the service to Your Majesty that will result from publishing this history, it will be the first to celebrate and immortalize the memory and name of the former great lords who were our ancestors as their great deeds deserve.

In the hope that all this may be achieved, I humbly beseech Your Majesty be pleased to grant your favor to my son, Don Felipe de Ayala, and so help all my grandchildren by allowing his plans to move forward: this is what I hope to see. May Your Majesty, our lord, live and prosper for many happy years, and may you add many more kingdoms and dominions, as your most humble vassal desires.”

Source: Felipe Guaman Poma de Ayala, The First New Chronicle and Good Government, circa 1615–1616

48

Mark for Review

Which of the following historical developments best explains the reference to various kings in the second paragraph?

(A) The Peruvian conquest of Mexico in the fourteenth century c.e.

(B) The longevity of civilization in the Andes region

(C) The Portuguese conquest of Brazil

(D) The conversion of the nobility of the Andes to Christianity

BACK

NEXT

Questions 46 through 49 refer to the following.

“Among the most useful things that this great province in these kingdoms has produced and among the most beneficial to the service of God and of Your Majesty, it has seemed worthy to me to praise the wit, curiosity, and great ability of my legitimate son, Don Felipe Guaman Poma de Ayala, who is the capac (which means prince), head governor, and lord of the Indians and other caciques and nobles, the administrator of all their common property, and the general deputy corregidor of your province of the Lucanas in the kingdom of Peru.

For the past twenty years or so, he has been writing the histories of our ancestors and grandparents, my forefathers, and the kings from before the Inca and after...based on reports and eyewitness testimony that he has taken from the four sectors of these kingdoms...

Beyond the service to Your Majesty that will result from publishing this history, it will be the first to celebrate and immortalize the memory and name of the former great lords who were our ancestors as their great deeds deserve.

In the hope that all this may be achieved, I humbly beseech Your Majesty be pleased to grant your favor to my son, Don Felipe de Ayala, and so help all my grandchildren by allowing his plans to move forward: this is what I hope to see. May Your Majesty, our lord, live and prosper for many happy years, and may you add many more kingdoms and dominions, as your most humble vassal desires.”

Source: Felipe Guaman Poma de Ayala, The First New Chronicle and Good Government, circa 1615–1616

49

Mark for Review

Which of the following historical developments most undermines the hopes expressed for the advantage of the king in the fourth paragraph?

(A) The expansion of European states into Asia

(B) The union of Portugal and Spain under the Hapsburg Dynasty

(C) The spread of Enlightenment philosophies into Latin America

(D) The importation of New World silver into the European economy

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 50 through 52 refer to the following.

“When I compare the Difference between their Soldiers and ours, I stand amazed to think what will be the Event; for certainly their Soldiers must conquer, and ours must be vanquished; both cannot stand prosperously together: For on their side, there is a mighty, strong and wealthy Empire, great Armies, Experience in War, a veteran Soldiery, a long Series of Victories, Patience in Toil, Concord, Order, Discipline, Frugality, and Vigilance. On our side, there is public Want, private Luxury, Strength weakened, Minds Discouraged, an unaccustomedness to Labour or Arms, Soldiers refractory, Commanders covetous, a Contempt of Discipline, Licentiousness, Rashness, Drunkenness, Gluttony; and, what is worst of all, they are accustomed to conquer, we to be conquered. Can any Man doubt, in this case, what the Event will be? ‘Tis only the Persian standing between us and Ruin. The Turks would fain be upon us, but only the Persian keeps him back; the Turk’s War with the Persian affords us only a Respite, not a Deliverance: when the Turk makes a Peace with the Persian, the Turk will bring all the Power of the East upon us, and how ready we are to receive him, I am afraid to speak.”

Source: Ogier Ghiselin de Busbecq, Austrian Ambassador to the Court of Suleiman the Magnificent, The Turkish Letters, circa 1581

50

Mark for Review

Busbecq’s opinion of Western forces in the passage is most directly supported by which of the following historical events?

☐

(A) The wars of the Protestant Reformation

☐

(B) The Reconquista of Spain

☐

(C) The Dutch occupation of Indonesia

☐

(D) The wars of the French Revolution

BACK

NEXT

Questions 50 through 52 refer to the following.

“When I compare the Difference between their Soldiers and ours, I stand amazed to think what will be the Event; for certainly their Soldiers must conquer, and ours must be vanquished; both cannot stand prosperously together: For on their side, there is a mighty, strong and wealthy Empire, great Armies, Experience in War, a veteran Soldiery, a long Series of Victories, Patience in Toil, Concord, Order, Discipline, Frugality, and Vigilance. On our side, there is public Want, private Luxury, Strength weakened, Minds Discouraged, an unaccustomedness to Labour or Arms, Soldiers refractory, Commanders covetous, a Contempt of Discipline, Licentiousness, Rashness, Drunkenness, Gluttony; and, what is worst of all, they are accustomed to conquer, we to be conquered. Can any Man doubt, in this case, what the Event will be? ‘Tis only the Persian standing between us and Ruin. The Turks would fain be upon us, but only the Persian keeps him back; the Turk’s War with the Persian affords us only a Respite, not a Deliverance: when the Turk makes a Peace with the Persian, the Turk will bring all the Power of the East upon us, and how ready we are to receive him, I am afraid to speak.”

Source: Ogier Ghiselin de Busbecq, Austrian Ambassador to the Court of Suleiman the Magnificent, The Turkish Letters, circa 1581

51

Mark for Review

Which of the following statements about the period 1450 C.E.–1750 C.E. is most directly supported by the passage?

- ☐ Ⓐ The implementation of gunpowder-based weapons on a large scale allowed the creation and consolidation of large, powerful empires.
- ☐ Ⓑ The religious divisions of Christianity allowed the expansion of the Ottoman Empire in Europe.
- ☐ Ⓒ Professional armies were the hallmark of successful empires during the period.
- ☐ Ⓓ Greater interconnectedness of the world fostered economic exchange and growth.

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 50 through 52 refer to the following.

“When I compare the Difference between their Soldiers and ours, I stand amazed to think what will be the Event; for certainly their Soldiers must conquer, and ours must be vanquished; both cannot stand prosperously together: For on their side, there is a mighty, strong and wealthy Empire, great Armies, Experience in War, a veteran Soldiery, a long Series of Victories, Patience in Toil, Concord, Order, Discipline, Frugality, and Vigilance. On our side, there is public Want, private Luxury, Strength weakened, Minds Discouraged, an unaccustomedness to Labour or Arms, Soldiers refractory, Commanders covetous, a Contempt of Discipline, Licentiousness, Rashness, Drunkenness, Gluttony; and, what is worst of all, they are accustomed to conquer, we to be conquered. Can any Man doubt, in this case, what the Event will be? ‘Tis only the Persian standing between us and Ruin. The Turks would fain be upon us, but only the Persian keeps him back; the Turk’s War with the Persian affords us only a Respite, not a Deliverance: when the Turk makes a Peace with the Persian, the Turk will bring all the Power of the East upon us, and how ready we are to receive him, I am afraid to speak.”

Source: Ogier Ghiselin de Busbecq, Austrian Ambassador to the Court of Suleiman the Magnificent, The Turkish Letters, circa 1581

52

Mark for Review

Which of the following historical events most directly supports Busbecq’s assessment of Persia in the passage?

(A) Shah Ismail’s insistence upon the conversion of Christian minority populations of Persia to Shia Islam

(B) Shah Abbas I’s alliance with the British East India Company

(C) Portuguese and Spanish occupation of strategic ports in the Persian Gulf

(D) Russian invasions of northern Persia in the early eighteenth century

BACK

NEXT

Questions 53 through 55 refer to the following.

© The Trustees of the British Museum

Source: Ming Dynasty paper currency issued during the reign of the Hongwu Emperor, circa 1375 C.E.

53

Mark for Review

Which of the following explains the significance of paper currency to pre-modern civilizations?

☐

(A) It served as an excellent store of value.

☐

(B) It allowed commercial exchanges to be made more rapidly.

☐

(C) It allowed governments to collect taxes much more easily.

☐

(D) It allowed peasants greater economic opportunity.

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 53 through 55 refer to the following.

© The Trustees of the British Museum

Source: Ming Dynasty paper currency issued during the reign of the Hongwu Emperor, circa 1375 C.E.

54  Mark for Review

Which of the following best explains the harsh terms ascribed to counterfeiters on the currency note?

- ☐ (A) The Ming government treated criminals of all crimes equally harshly.
- ☐ (B) The Ming government wanted to punish those who sympathized with the economic policies of the Yuan Dynasty.
- ☐ (C) The Ming government licensed specific private organizations to print paper currency.
- ☐ (D) The Ming government was concerned about the threat to the economy that a lack of confidence in paper issuances would provide.

BACK

NEXT

Questions 53 through 55 refer to the following.

© The Trustees of the British Museum

Source: Ming Dynasty paper currency issued during the reign of the Hongwu Emperor, circa 1375 C.E.

55

Mark for Review

Which of the following historical developments reduced the need for the Ming Dynasty to use paper currency such as the one in the image?

- ☐ (A) The expansion of global trade routes connected China by sea to the Western Hemisphere.
- ☐ (B) The conquest of Japan by the Ming gave China enough silver to run its internal economy.
- ☐ (C) The expansion of the Grand Canal to more southerly regions of China allowed exploitation of further silver deposits.
- ☐ (D) The voyages of Zheng He inspired regular commercial contact with East Africa and India.

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Short Answer

AP WORLD HISTORY: MODERN

SECTION I, Part B

Time—40 minutes

Directions: Answer Question 1 and Question 2. Answer either Question 3 or Question 4.

Use complete sentences; an outline or bulleted list alone is not acceptable. On test day, you will be able to plan your answers on scratch paper, but only your responses in the corresponding boxes on the free-response screen will be scored.

BACK

NEXT

Question 1 refers to the following.

Source 1

“The decline of the Ottoman Empire was inevitable. Such an expansive state, with a history of warfare on all its frontiers, made lifelong enemies of its most powerful neighbors. Its battles with the Habsburg Empire in Europe especially highlighted the existential struggle of Muslim vs. Christian, essentially a continuation of the centuries old crusades, demonstrated how the fortunes of the Ottoman state hinged on a single battle, for after the Ottoman defeat outside Vienna in 1683, the Ottomans would never regain their old vigor and would be pieced apart by their rivals over the succeeding centuries.”

Source: Alice M. Munday, 1683: The Destiny of Empires, 1967

Source 2

“Some scholars believe that the Ottoman state was destroyed from the outside as greedy enemies parceled out significant chunks of the empire until there was nothing left but its Anatolian heartland. But this view is being convincingly challenged by scholars of late who place the decline of the Ottomans more squarely on internal division and stagnation than on external threats since, even after the Ottoman defeat at Vienna in 1683, the Ottoman Empire still controlled vast regions and commanded awesome resources, both of which could have been levied more effectively to prevent any further dismemberment of the empire.”

Source: Dr. Solomon Banks, The “Inevitable” Force of History: Rethinking Ottoman Decline, 1993

1

Mark for Review

Using the two passages, respond to parts A, B, and C.

- A. Evaluate ONE difference between the historical interpretations of Munday and Banks on the decline of the Ottoman Empire.
- B. Identify and explain ONE piece of historical evidence that would support Munday’s interpretation.
- C. Identify and explain ONE piece of historical evidence that would support Banks’s interpretation.

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Short Answer

Question 2 refers to the following.

Source: Photograph of the Court of the Lions, a portion of the Alhambra, a palace and fortress complex built in the mid-fourteenth century in Granada, Spain

2  Mark for Review

Use the image, respond to parts A, B, and C.

- A. Identify and explain ONE cultural factor that inspired the architecture depicted in the photograph before 1450.
- B. Identify and explain ONE way in which the architecture in the photograph compares to architecture from ANOTHER culture or civilization in the period 1200 to 1450 C.E.
- C. Identify and explain ONE factor which caused the architecture or artistic style depicted in the photograph to fall out of use in Spain in the period 1450 to 1750 C.E.

BACK

NEXT

Question 3 or 4

Directions: Answer either Question 3 or Question 4.

3. Respond to parts A, B, and C.

- A. Identify and explain ONE way in which the Byzantine Empire interacted economically with other states in Afro Eurasia before 1450 C.E.
- B. Identify and explain ONE way in which European trade and commerce CHANGED between 1450 C.E. and 1750 C.E. as compared to 1200 to 1450.
- C. Identify and explain ONE CONTINUITY in European trade and commerce between 1450 and 1750 C.E. as compared to 1200 to 1450.

4. Respond to parts A, B, and C.

- A. Identify and explain ONE way in which global economic integration increased between 1900 and the present.
- B. Identify and explain ONE way in which the global economy has CHANGED since 1900.
- C. Identify and explain ONE CONTINUITY in the global economy since 1900.

3-4

Mark for Review

Choose a question to answer before you start typing.

Answer Question 3

Answer Question 4

BACK

NEXT

AP[®] World History: Modern Exam

SECTION II: Free Response

DO NOT OPEN THIS BOOKLET UNTIL YOU ARE TOLD TO DO SO.

At a Glance

Total Time

1 hour, 40 minutes

Number of Questions

2

Percent of Total Score

40%

Question 1 (DBQ):
Mandatory*Suggested Reading and Writing Time

60 minutes

Reading Period

15 minutes. Use this time to read Question 1 and plan your answer. You may begin writing your response before the reading period is over.

Suggested Writing Time

45 minutes

Percent of Total Score

25%

Question 2, 3, or 4:
Choose One Question

Answer Question 2, Question 3, or Question 4

Suggested Writing Time

40 minutes

Percent of Total Score

15%

DISCLAIMER: The official AP World History: Modern Exam will be administered digitally. Instructions for the digital exam may differ from this practice test.

Instructions

Section II has 1 document-based question (DBQ) and 1 long essay question, and lasts 1 hour and 40 minutes.

In this section, answer Question 1 (the DBQ) and either Question 2 or Question 3 or Question 4. After reviewing Questions 2, 3, and 4, choose the question that you are best prepared to answer. This section of the exam requires answers in essay form. Use complete sentences; an outline or bulleted list alone is not acceptable.

You may pace yourself as you answer the questions in this section, or you may use these optional timing recommendations:

For Question 1 (DBQ), it is suggested that you spend approximately 15 minutes reading the question and planning your answer, and then 45 minutes writing your essay. The suggested writing time for the long essay question is 40 minutes.

For this practice test, use scratch paper for notes and planning as well as writing your responses.

BACK

NEXT

AP WORLD HISTORY: MODERN

SECTION II

Total Time—1 hour, 40 minutes

Question 1 (Document-Based Question)

Suggested reading and writing time: 1 hour

It is suggested that you spend 15 minutes reading the documents and 45 minutes writing your response. Note: You may begin writing your response before the reading period is over.

Directions: Question 1 is based on the accompanying documents. The documents have been edited for the purpose of this exercise.

In your response you should do the following.

- Respond to the prompt with a historically defensible thesis or claim that establishes a line of reasoning.
- Describe a broader historical context relevant to the prompt.
- Support an argument in response to the prompt using at least four documents.
- Use at least one additional piece of specific historical evidence (beyond that found in the documents) relevant to an argument about the prompt.
- For at least two documents, explain how or why the document's point of view, purpose, historical situation, and/or audience is relevant to an argument.
- Demonstrate a complex understanding of a historical development related to the prompt through sophisticated argumentation and/or effective use of evidence.

BACKNEXT

Section II: Free Response

Document 1

Source: Jorge Juan and Antonio de Ulloa, Spanish mathematicians and scientists, published this account of their travels in 1748 (excerpt)

At Lima, as at Quito, and all Spanish America, some of the eminent families have been long since settled there, whilst the prosperity of others is of a later date; for being the center of the whole commerce of Peru, a greater number of Europeans resort to it, than to any other city; some for trade, and others, from being invested in Spain with considerable employments:

The Negroes, Mulattoes, and their descendants, form the greater number of the inhabitants; and of these are the greatest part of the mechanics...

The third, and last class of inhabitants are the Indians and Mestizos, but these are very small in proportion to the largeness of the city, and the multitudes of the second class. They are employed in agriculture, in making earthen ware, and bringing all kinds of provisions to market, domestic services being performed by Negroes and Mulattoes, either slaves or free, though generally by the former.

1

Mark for Review

Using the documents and your knowledge of world history, explain how European nations' relationships with their colonial holdings changed over time between 1600 and 2000.

BACK

NEXT

Document 2

Source: Mohandas Gandhi, address to the All India Congress Committee. Bombay, India, August 8 1942.

Then, there is the question of your attitude towards the British. I have noticed that there is hatred towards the British among the people. The people say they are disgusted with their behaviour. The people make no distinction between British imperialism and the British people. To them, the two are one. This hatred would even make them welcome the Japanese. It is most dangerous. It means that they will exchange one slavery for another. We must get rid of this feeling. Our quarrel is not with the British people, we fight their imperialism.

BACKNEXT

Section II: Free Response

Document 3

Source: "The Rhodes Colossus: Ch," Punch magazine, 1892.

BACK

NEXT

Document 4

Source: Patrice Lumumba, first prime minister of the Democratic Republic of Congo, letter to his wife, 1960.

Throughout my struggle for the independence of my country, I have never doubted for a single instant that the sacred cause to which my comrades and I have dedicated our entire lives would triumph in the end. But what we wanted for our country — its right to an honorable life, to perfect dignity, to independence with no restrictions — was never wanted by Belgian colonialism and its Western allies, who found direct and indirect, intentional and unintentional support among certain high officials of the United Nations, that body in which we placed all our trust when we called on it for help.

They have corrupted some of our countrymen; they have bought others; they have done their part to distort the truth and defile our independence

From Lumumba Speaks by Patrice Lumumba, copyright © 1972. Reprinted by permission of Little, Brown, an imprint of Hachette Book Group, Inc.

BACKNEXT

Section II: Free Response

Document 5

Source: Fraser, Sir Andrew H. L. Among Indian Rajahs and Ryots; A Civil Servant's Recollections and Impressions of Thirty-Seven Years of Work and Sport in the Central Provinces and Bengal. 1911.

I went to India in 1871 with a good deal of British enthusiasm for the work which lay before me; but I confess that my feelings of love to the country and its peoples, and my pride and pleasure in my work, have intensified year by year. I know more of the country probably than most men. I have not only served for many years in one Province, and for five years in another; but I have also visited every Province in India twice, on Government Commissions, and seen almost every important Native State. I cannot tell of the depth of interest with which I have studied the manners and customs of the people, the various forms of their faith and practice, and the characteristics of their life in town and country. I have had experiences which are practically impossible for any man outside of India: experiences sometimes of difficulty, sometimes of anxiety, and even distress, but almost always experiences such as ought to tend to elevate the mind, to strengthen the character, and to enlarge the belief in human nature. I have found among the people of India multitudes who have elicited my kindest feelings, and who have shown the kindest feeling towards myself, and I have found not a few whom I value as among the worthiest of my friends.

BACK

NEXT

Document 6

Source: Simón Bolívar, South American revolutionary and leading figure in Gran Colombia, address, Angostura (present-day Ciudad Bolívar, Venezuela), 1819.

We are not Europeans; we are not Indians; we are but a mixed species of aborigines and Spaniards. Americans by birth and Europeans by law, we find ourselves engaged in a dual conflict: we are disputing with the natives for titles of ownership, and at the same time we are struggling to maintain ourselves in the country that gave us birth against the opposition of the invaders. Thus our position is most extraordinary and complicated. But there is more. As our role has always been strictly passive and political existence nil, we find that our quest for liberty is now even more difficult of accomplishment; for we, having been placed in a state lower than slavery, had been robbed not only of our freedom but also of the right to exercise an active domestic tyranny.

BACKNEXT

Section II: Free Response

Document 7

Source: A propaganda leaflet designed for distribution in West Africa, early 1940s

END OF DOCUMENTS FOR QUESTION 1

BACK

NEXT

Question 2, 3, or 4 (Long Essay)

Suggested writing time: 40 minutes

Directions: Answer Question 2 or Question 3 or Question 4.

In your response you should do the following.

- Respond to the prompt with a historically defensible thesis or claim that establishes a line of reasoning.
 - Describe a broader historical context relevant to the prompt.
 - Support an argument in response to the prompt using at least two pieces of specific and relevant evidence.
 - Use historical reasoning (e.g., comparison, causation, continuity, or change over time) to frame or structure an argument that addresses the prompt.
 - Demonstrate a complex understanding of a historical development related to the prompt through sophisticated argumentation and/or effective use of evidence.
2. Evaluate the extent to which the government of the Ottoman Empire differed from that of the Ming Empire between 1450 and 1600 C.E.
 3. Evaluate the extent to which the British Empire differed from the Mughal Empire from 1450 to 1750 C.E.
 4. Evaluate the extent to which China's interactions with the West differed from those of Japan from 1750 to 1900 C.E.

2-4

Mark for Review

Choose a question to answer before you start typing.

Answer Question 2

Answer Question 3

Answer Question 4

END OF EXAM

Copyright © 2025 by TPR Education IP Holdings, LLC. All rights reserved.

BACK