

NOTE: To access the interactive functions of this PDF, please make sure you have downloaded the free version of Adobe Acrobat Reader here: <https://get.adobe.com/reader/>

Practice Test 4

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

AP[®] United States History Exam

SECTION I, PART A: Multiple Choice

At a Glance

Time

55 minutes

Number of Questions

55

Percent of Total Score

40%

DISCLAIMER: The official AP U.S. History Exam will be digital. Instructions for the digital exam may differ from this practice test.

Instructions

Section I, Part A has 55 multiple-choice questions and lasts 55 minutes.

Each question in this part is followed by four suggested answers. Select the best answer to each question.

Indicate all of your answers to the multiple-choice questions on the answer sheet. Give only one answer to each question.

Use your time effectively, working as quickly as you can without losing accuracy. Do not spend too much time on any one question. Go on to other questions and come back to the ones you have not answered if you have time.

Your total score on the multiple-choice section is based only on the number of questions answered correctly. Points are not deducted for incorrect answers or unanswered questions.

BACK

NEXT

Questions 1 through 3 refer to the following.

“From the large body of poor drifters, many of them diseased, feckless, or given to crime, came a great part of the labor supply of the rich sugar islands and the American mainland. From the London of Pepys and then of Hogarth, as well as from many lesser ports and inland towns, the English poor, lured, seduced, or forced into the emigrant stream, kept coming to America for the better part of two centuries. It is safe to guess that few of them, and indeed few persons from the other sources of emigration, knew very much about what they were doing when they committed themselves to life in America.”

Source: Richard Hofstadter, historian, America at 1750: A Social Portrait, 1971

1

Mark for Review

The people described in the quote were most likely

☐

(A) enslaved people

☐

(B) indentured servants

☐

(C) inmates in a penal colony

☐

(D) fugitives seeking religious freedom

BACKNEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 1 through 3 refer to the following.

“From the large body of poor drifters, many of them diseased, feckless, or given to crime, came a great part of the labor supply of the rich sugar islands and the American mainland. From the London of Pepys and then of Hogarth, as well as from many lesser ports and inland towns, the English poor, lured, seduced, or forced into the emigrant stream, kept coming to America for the better part of two centuries. It is safe to guess that few of them, and indeed few persons from the other sources of emigration, knew very much about what they were doing when they committed themselves to life in America.”

Source: Richard Hofstadter, historian, America at 1750: A Social Portrait, 1971

2

Mark for Review

The American demand for people like those described in the excerpt in 1750 was most directly the result of

(A) the cultivation of tobacco

(B) expansion of northern manufacturing

(C) the invention of the cotton gin

(D) the decline of slavery after Bacon's Rebellion

BACK

NEXT

Questions 1 through 3 refer to the following.

“From the large body of poor drifters, many of them diseased, feckless, or given to crime, came a great part of the labor supply of the rich sugar islands and the American mainland. From the London of Pepys and then of Hogarth, as well as from many lesser ports and inland towns, the English poor, lured, seduced, or forced into the emigrant stream, kept coming to America for the better part of two centuries. It is safe to guess that few of them, and indeed few persons from the other sources of emigration, knew very much about what they were doing when they committed themselves to life in America.”

Source: Richard Hofstadter, historian, America at 1750: A Social Portrait, 1971

3

Mark for Review

The people described in the quote most likely emigrated to

(A) Northern New England

(B) New Amsterdam

(C) the Chesapeake

(D) Western Pennsylvania

BACKNEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 4 through 6 refer to the following.

“I think the authors of that notable instrument intended to include all men, but they did not mean to declare all men equal in all respects. They did not mean to say all men were equal in color, size, intellect, moral development, or social capacity. They defined with tolerable distinctness in what they did consider all men created equal—equal in ‘certain inalienable rights, among which are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.’ This they said, and this they meant. They did not mean to assert the obvious untruth that all were then actually enjoying that equality, or yet that they were about to confer it immediately upon them. In fact, they had no power to confer such a boon. They meant simply to declare the right, so that the enforcement of it might follow as fast as circumstances should permit.”

Source: Abraham Lincoln, October 15, 1858

4

Mark for Review

Which of the following best describes a claim made by the author in the excerpt?

☐

(A) The federal government lacks any power to regulate the issue of slavery.

☐

(B) The country’s founders were misguided in their assertion that all men are created equal.

☐

(C) The government’s enforcement of equality is part of an unfolding and gradual process.

☐

(D) Equality demands the immediate abolition of slavery.

BACK

NEXT

Questions 4 through 6 refer to the following.

“I think the authors of that notable instrument intended to include all men, but they did not mean to declare all men equal in all respects. They did not mean to say all men were equal in color, size, intellect, moral development, or social capacity. They defined with tolerable distinctness in what they did consider all men created equal—equal in ‘certain inalienable rights, among which are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.’ This they said, and this they meant. They did not mean to assert the obvious untruth that all were then actually enjoying that equality, or yet that they were about to confer it immediately upon them. In fact, they had no power to confer such a boon. They meant simply to declare the right, so that the enforcement of it might follow as fast as circumstances should permit.”

Source: Abraham Lincoln, October 15, 1858

5

Mark for Review

Which of the following would most likely agree with the sentiments expressed by Lincoln in the excerpt?

(A) A Northern Democrat

(B) A Free-Soiler

(C) An abolitionist

(D) A suffragette

BACKNEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 4 through 6 refer to the following.

“I think the authors of that notable instrument intended to include all men, but they did not mean to declare all men equal in all respects. They did not mean to say all men were equal in color, size, intellect, moral development, or social capacity. They defined with tolerable distinctness in what they did consider all men created equal—equal in ‘certain inalienable rights, among which are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.’ This they said, and this they meant. They did not mean to assert the obvious untruth that all were then actually enjoying that equality, or yet that they were about to confer it immediately upon them. In fact, they had no power to confer such a boon. They meant simply to declare the right, so that the enforcement of it might follow as fast as circumstances should permit.”

Source: Abraham Lincoln, October 15, 1858

6

Mark for Review

The excerpt best reflects which of the following?

(A) Disagreement over the application of the phrase “all men are created equal” to people of certain racial groups

(B) Fear that the United States would be split by a civil war

(C) Conflicts over how slavery could be contained to the southern states

(D) Beliefs that the secession of South Carolina was imminent

BACK

NEXT

Questions 7 through 10 refer to the following.

Source 1

“The United States hereby agrees and stipulates that the country north of the North Platte river and east of the summits of the Big Horn mountains [in South Dakota] shall be held and considered to be un-ceded Indian territory, and also stipulates and agrees that no white person or persons shall be permitted to settle upon or occupy any portion of the same; or without the consent of the Indians, first had and obtained, to pass through the same.”

Source: Treaty of Fort Laramie Article XVI, 1868

Source 2

“[General George A.] Custer’s journey began at Fort Abraham Lincoln on the Missouri River on July 2, 1874. By the end of that month they had reached the Black Hills [of South Dakota], and by mid-August had confirmed the presence of gold fields in that region. The discovery of gold was widely reported in newspapers across the country. Custer’s florid descriptions of the mineral and timber resources of the Black Hills, and the land’s suitability for grazing and cultivation...received wide circulation, and had the effect of creating an intense popular demand for the ‘opening’ of the Hills for settlement.”

Source: United States v. Sioux Nation of Indians, 1980

7

Mark for Review

Based on the wording of the Treaty of Fort Laramie, white settlement of the Black Hills in the 1870s

(A) was a violation of the terms of the treaty

(B) was justified, since gold prospecting was not mentioned in the treaty

(C) was a threat to Native American interests in the region, though not illegal

(D) was beneficial to the economic interests of both Native American tribes and white settlers in the region

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 7 through 10 refer to the following.

Source 1

“The United States hereby agrees and stipulates that the country north of the North Platte river and east of the summits of the Big Horn mountains [in South Dakota] shall be held and considered to be un-ceded Indian territory, and also stipulates and agrees that no white person or persons shall be permitted to settle upon or occupy any portion of the same; or without the consent of the Indians, first had and obtained, to pass through the same.”

Source: Treaty of Fort Laramie Article XVI, 1868

Source 2

“[General George A.] Custer’s journey began at Fort Abraham Lincoln on the Missouri River on July 2, 1874. By the end of that month they had reached the Black Hills [of South Dakota], and by mid-August had confirmed the presence of gold fields in that region. The discovery of gold was widely reported in newspapers across the country. Custer’s florid descriptions of the mineral and timber resources of the Black Hills, and the land’s suitability for grazing and cultivation...received wide circulation, and had the effect of creating an intense popular demand for the ‘opening’ of the Hills for settlement.”

Source: United States v. Sioux Nation of Indians, 1980

8

Mark for Review

Which of the following generalizations can be correctly inferred from the excerpts?

(A) Treaties such as Fort Laramie successfully controlled the incursion of white settlers into Sioux territories in the years following the Civil War.

(B) Treaties between the U.S. government and Native Americans after the Civil War generally encouraged the formation of strong, independent tribes.

(C) Treaties such as Fort Laramie were often short-lived, leading to future conflict between the U.S. government and the affected Native American tribes.

(D) The Treaty of Fort Laramie was in place for over one hundred years until the U.S. Supreme Court finally ruled it unconstitutional.

BACK

NEXT

Questions 7 through 10 refer to the following.

Source 1

“The United States hereby agrees and stipulates that the country north of the North Platte river and east of the summits of the Big Horn mountains [in South Dakota] shall be held and considered to be un-ceded Indian territory, and also stipulates and agrees that no white person or persons shall be permitted to settle upon or occupy any portion of the same; or without the consent of the Indians, first had and obtained, to pass through the same.”

Source: Treaty of Fort Laramie Article XVI, 1868

Source 2

“[General George A.] Custer’s journey began at Fort Abraham Lincoln on the Missouri River on July 2, 1874. By the end of that month they had reached the Black Hills [of South Dakota], and by mid-August had confirmed the presence of gold fields in that region. The discovery of gold was widely reported in newspapers across the country. Custer’s florid descriptions of the mineral and timber resources of the Black Hills, and the land’s suitability for grazing and cultivation...received wide circulation, and had the effect of creating an intense popular demand for the ‘opening’ of the Hills for settlement.”

Source: United States v. Sioux Nation of Indians, 1980

9

Mark for Review

Article 16 of the treaty most likely reflected which of the following sentiments?

(A) A desire by many Native Americans to peacefully share land with white settlers

(B) A desire by many in the U.S. government to peacefully share land with Native American tribes

(C) A desire by many Native Americans to legally establish claim to their native lands

(D) A desire by many Native Americans to forever ban white trespass onto their native lands

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 7 through 10 refer to the following.

Source 1

“The United States hereby agrees and stipulates that the country north of the North Platte river and east of the summits of the Big Horn mountains [in South Dakota] shall be held and considered to be un-ceded Indian territory, and also stipulates and agrees that no white person or persons shall be permitted to settle upon or occupy any portion of the same; or without the consent of the Indians, first had and obtained, to pass through the same.”

Source: Treaty of Fort Laramie Article XVI, 1868

Source 2

“[General George A.] Custer’s journey began at Fort Abraham Lincoln on the Missouri River on July 2, 1874. By the end of that month they had reached the Black Hills [of South Dakota], and by mid-August had confirmed the presence of gold fields in that region. The discovery of gold was widely reported in newspapers across the country. Custer’s florid descriptions of the mineral and timber resources of the Black Hills, and the land’s suitability for grazing and cultivation...received wide circulation, and had the effect of creating an intense popular demand for the ‘opening’ of the Hills for settlement.”

Source: United States v. Sioux Nation of Indians, 1980

10  Mark for Review

A change in federal Indian policy between the publication of the first and the second source is that in the mid-20th century,

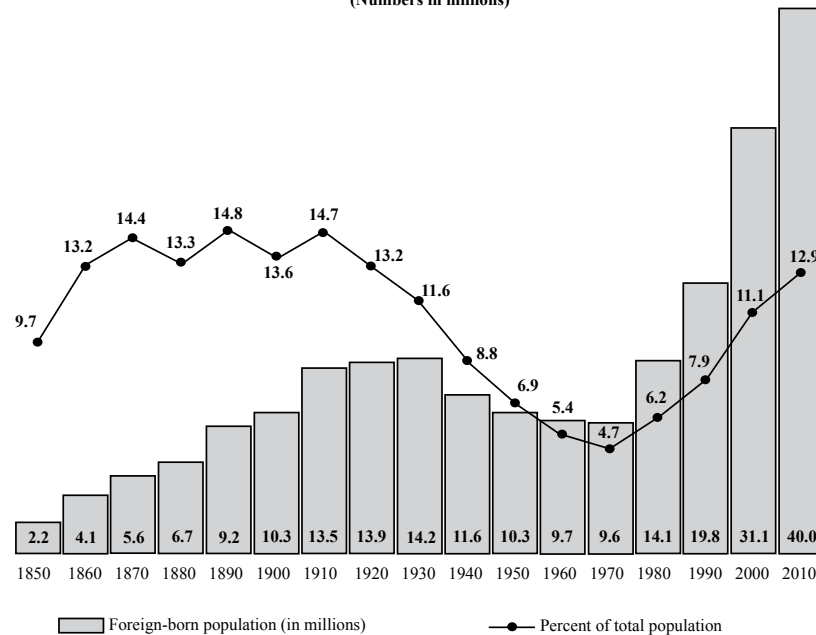

- ☐ Ⓐ the federal government began granting some degree of self-determination and local control to Native American tribes
- ☐ Ⓑ courts ruled that indigenous land had to be returned to native tribes en masse
- ☐ Ⓒ states enacted policies enforcing cultural assimilation of Native Americans
- ☐ Ⓓ federal agencies created reservations separate from Western settlers for Native groups

BACK

NEXT

Questions 11 through 14 refer to the following.

Foreign-Born Population and Percentage of Total Population
for the United States: 1850 to 2010
(Numbers in millions)

Source: U.S. Census Bureau

11

Mark for Review

Which of the following most directly contributed to the overall trend depicted in the table?

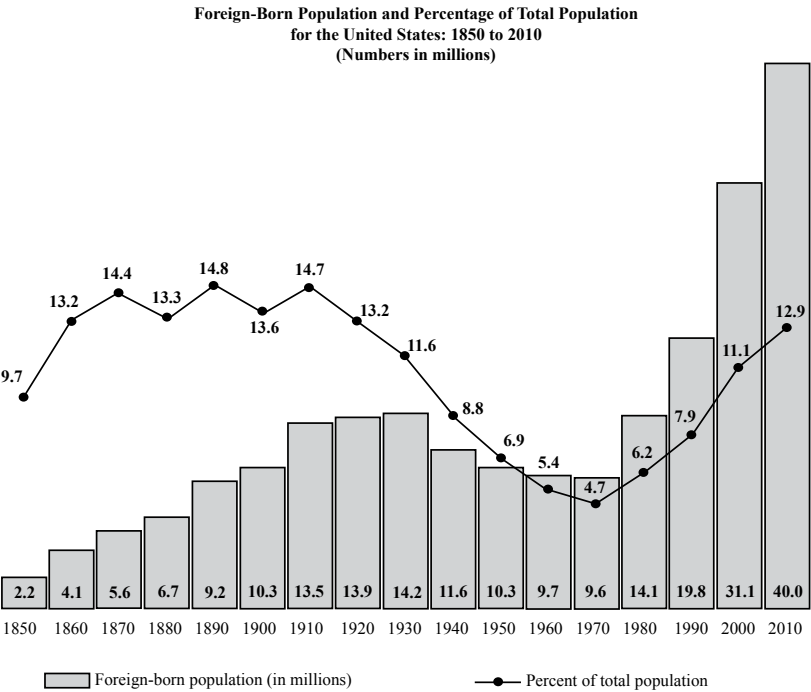

- ☐ Ⓐ Worldwide economic and banking crises
- ☐ Ⓑ The progressive industrialization of the United States after the Civil War
- ☐ Ⓒ The rise of the Populist Party
- ☐ Ⓓ A rise in refugees following major wars in Europe and Asia

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 11 through 14 refer to the following.

Source: U.S. Census Bureau

12 Mark for Review

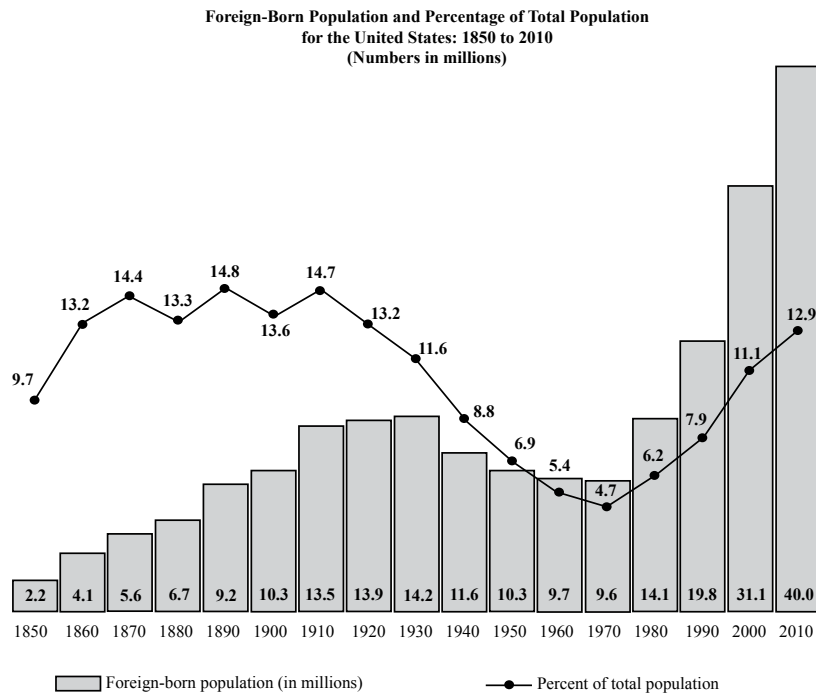

Which of the following best accounts for the trend in the graph shown from 1920 to 1970?

- ☐ (A) A decline in the need for agricultural labor
- ☐ (B) The internment of Japanese Americans during World War II
- ☐ (C) Immigration acts passed in the 1920s which limited the number of immigrants from certain countries
- ☐ (D) The Chinese Exclusion Act of 1882

BACK

NEXT

Questions 11 through 14 refer to the following.

Source: U.S. Census Bureau

13

Mark for Review

Nativist sentiment in the time periods depicted in the table manifested in all of the following ways EXCEPT

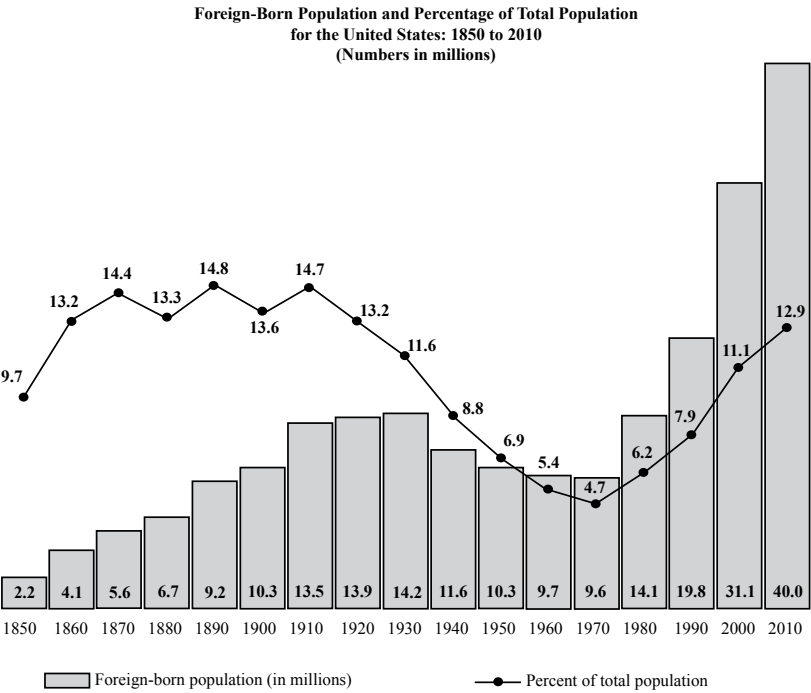

- ☐ (A) the establishment of settlement houses
- ☐ (B) mandatory literacy tests
- ☐ (C) the rise of the eugenics movement
- ☐ (D) increased membership in the Ku Klux Klan

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 11 through 14 refer to the following.

Source: U.S. Census Bureau

14 Mark for Review

The majority of immigrants who arrived in the United States between 1960 and 1990 settled in the

- ☐ (A) Northwest
- ☐ (B) Midwest
- ☐ (C) South
- ☐ (D) Southwest

BACK

NEXT

Questions 15 through 17 refer to the following.

“Under free trade the trader is the master and the producer the slave. Protection is but the law of nature, the law of self-preservation, of self-development, of securing the highest and best destiny of the race of man. [It is said] that protection is immoral.... Why, if protection builds up and elevates 63,000,000 [the U.S. population] of people, the influence of those 63,000,000 of people elevates the rest of the world. We cannot take a step in the pathway of progress without benefitting mankind everywhere. Well, they say, ‘Buy where you can buy the cheapest’.... Of course, that applies to labor as to everything else. Let me give you a maxim that is a thousand times better than that, and it is the protection maxim: ‘Buy where you can pay the easiest.’ And that spot of earth is where labor wins its highest rewards.”

Source: President William McKinley, 1892

15

Mark for Review

Protectionism, as defined by McKinley’s quote, is

(A) opposed to free trade

(B) supportive of free trade

(C) designed to lower prices on consumer goods

(D) harmful to organized labor unions

BACKNEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 15 through 17 refer to the following.

“Under free trade the trader is the master and the producer the slave. Protection is but the law of nature, the law of self-preservation, of self-development, of securing the highest and best destiny of the race of man. [It is said] that protection is immoral.... Why, if protection builds up and elevates 63,000,000 [the U.S. population] of people, the influence of those 63,000,000 of people elevates the rest of the world. We cannot take a step in the pathway of progress without benefitting mankind everywhere. Well, they say, ‘Buy where you can buy the cheapest’.... Of course, that applies to labor as to everything else. Let me give you a maxim that is a thousand times better than that, and it is the protection maxim: ‘Buy where you can pay the easiest.’ And that spot of earth is where labor wins its highest rewards.”

Source: President William McKinley, 1892

16  Mark for Review

Which political party would have opposed McKinley’s argument in this excerpt?

☐

(A) Republicans

☐

(B) Democrats

☐

(C) Know-Nothings

☐

(D) Whigs

BACK

NEXT

Questions 15 through 17 refer to the following.

“Under free trade the trader is the master and the producer the slave. Protection is but the law of nature, the law of self-preservation, of self-development, of securing the highest and best destiny of the race of man. [It is said] that protection is immoral.... Why, if protection builds up and elevates 63,000,000 [the U.S. population] of people, the influence of those 63,000,000 of people elevates the rest of the world. We cannot take a step in the pathway of progress without benefitting mankind everywhere. Well, they say, ‘Buy where you can buy the cheapest’.... Of course, that applies to labor as to everything else. Let me give you a maxim that is a thousand times better than that, and it is the protection maxim: ‘Buy where you can pay the easiest.’ And that spot of earth is where labor wins its highest rewards.”

Source: President William McKinley, 1892

17

Mark for Review

In order to achieve his goals, President McKinley would be most likely to support

(A) raising tariffs on imported goods

(B) raising taxes on American corporations

(C) raising prices on retail goods

(D) lowering tariffs on imported goods

BACKNEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 18 through 20 refer to the following.

“At the end of its war for independence, the United States comprised thirteen separate provinces on the coast of North America. Nearly all of 3.9 million people made their living through agriculture while a small merchant class traded tobacco, timber, and foodstuffs for tropical goods, useful manufactures, and luxuries in the Atlantic community. By the time of the civil war, eight decades later, the United States sprawled across the North American continent. Nearly 32 million people labored not just on farms, but in shops and factories making iron and steel products, boots and shoes, textiles, paper, packaged foodstuffs, firearms, farm machinery, furniture, tools, and all sorts of housewares. Civil War–era Americans borrowed money from banks; bought insurance against fire, theft, shipwreck, commercial losses, and even premature death; traveled on steamboats and in railway carriages; and produced 2 to 3 billion of goods and services, including exports of 400 million. This dramatic transformation is what some historians of the U.S. call the market revolution.”

Source: John Lauritz Larson, historian, The Market Revolution in America, 2009

18  Mark for Review

Before the Civil War, which of the following resulted most directly from the trends described in the excerpt?

- ☐ Ⓐ A decline in sectional tensions between the North and South
- ☐ Ⓑ A strengthening of traditional gender roles
- ☐ Ⓒ Greater equality among wealthy and poorer classes
- ☐ Ⓓ An increased need for slavery in the South

BACK

NEXT

Questions 18 through 20 refer to the following.

“At the end of its war for independence, the United States comprised thirteen separate provinces on the coast of North America. Nearly all of 3.9 million people made their living through agriculture while a small merchant class traded tobacco, timber, and foodstuffs for tropical goods, useful manufactures, and luxuries in the Atlantic community. By the time of the civil war, eight decades later, the United States sprawled across the North American continent. Nearly 32 million people labored not just on farms, but in shops and factories making iron and steel products, boots and shoes, textiles, paper, packaged foodstuffs, firearms, farm machinery, furniture, tools, and all sorts of housewares. Civil War–era Americans borrowed money from banks; bought insurance against fire, theft, shipwreck, commercial losses, and even premature death; traveled on steamboats and in railway carriages; and produced 2 to 3 billion of goods and services, including exports of 400 million. This dramatic transformation is what some historians of the U.S. call the market revolution.”

Source: John Lauritz Larson, historian, The Market Revolution in America, 2009

19

Mark for Review

Which time period of American economic history is most analogous to that described in the passage?

(A) The Revolutionary War Era

(B) The Gilded Age

(C) The Progressive Era

(D) The Great Depression

BACKNEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 18 through 20 refer to the following.

“At the end of its war for independence, the United States comprised thirteen separate provinces on the coast of North America. Nearly all of 3.9 million people made their living through agriculture while a small merchant class traded tobacco, timber, and foodstuffs for tropical goods, useful manufactures, and luxuries in the Atlantic community. By the time of the civil war, eight decades later, the United States sprawled across the North American continent. Nearly 32 million people labored not just on farms, but in shops and factories making iron and steel products, boots and shoes, textiles, paper, packaged foodstuffs, firearms, farm machinery, furniture, tools, and all sorts of housewares. Civil War–era Americans borrowed money from banks; bought insurance against fire, theft, shipwreck, commercial losses, and even premature death; traveled on steamboats and in railway carriages; and produced 2 to 3 billion of goods and services, including exports of 400 million. This dramatic transformation is what some historians of the U.S. call the market revolution.”

Source: John Lauritz Larson, historian, The Market Revolution in America, 2009

20

Mark for Review

Which of the following contributed most directly to the Market Revolution?

(A) Improvements in transportation

(B) Increased immigration

(C) The rise of the abolition movement

(D) An increase in federal tariffs on imported goods

BACK

NEXT

Questions 21 through 23 refer to the following.

“Real obstructions of the law, giving real aid and comfort to the enemy, I should have been glad to see punished more summarily and severely than they sometimes were. But I think that our intention to put out all our powers in aid of success in war should not hurry us into intolerance of opinions and speech that could not be imagined to do harm, although opposed to our own. It is better for those who have unquestioned and almost unlimited power in their hands to err on the side of freedom.”

Source: Supreme Court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes,
dissenting opinion in Baltzer v. United States, 1919

21

Mark for Review

Ideas which correlate with the sentiments of Justice Holmes in the excerpt quoted are mostly found in

(A) the Declaration of Independence

(B) the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution

(C) the beginning of American manufacturing

(D) the Civil Rights Act of 1964

BACKNEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 21 through 23 refer to the following.

“Real obstructions of the law, giving real aid and comfort to the enemy, I should have been glad to see punished more summarily and severely than they sometimes were. But I think that our intention to put out all our powers in aid of success in war should not hurry us into intolerance of opinions and speech that could not be imagined to do harm, although opposed to our own. It is better for those who have unquestioned and almost unlimited power in their hands to err on the side of freedom.”

Source: Supreme Court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes,
dissenting opinion in Baltzer v. United States, 1919

22  Mark for Review

Justice Holmes’s statement in the excerpt was most likely a reaction to

- ☐ (A) the Wilson administration’s prosecution of antiwar protestors during World War I
- ☐ (B) the Great Migration of African Americans from the South to the North
- ☐ (C) the successes of the women’s suffrage movement
- ☐ (D) nativism after World War I

BACK

NEXT

Questions 21 through 23 refer to the following.

“Real obstructions of the law, giving real aid and comfort to the enemy, I should have been glad to see punished more summarily and severely than they sometimes were. But I think that our intention to put out all our powers in aid of success in war should not hurry us into intolerance of opinions and speech that could not be imagined to do harm, although opposed to our own. It is better for those who have unquestioned and almost unlimited power in their hands to err on the side of freedom.”

Source: Supreme Court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes,
dissenting opinion in Baltzer v. United States, 1919

23

Mark for Review

Which of the following actions is most directly opposed to the values expressed in the excerpt?

(A) Efforts to detect communists in the federal government during the 1950s

(B) Antiwar protests during the early 1970s

(C) Nuclear disarmament treaties during the 1980s

(D) Military interventions in the Middle East after September 2001

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 24 through 25 refer to the following.

“Actual or potential resistance was a main factor in the development of Britain’s southern strategy. Influenced in part by slaves’ combative and aggressive behavior, British military leaders and Crown officials seized upon the idea of intimidating independence-minded white southerners with the threat of a slave rising without, however, actually inciting one. In the end the British strategy of manipulating conflict between the races became a rallying cry for white southern unity and impelled the South toward independence. The need to weaken slaves’ zeal for service with the British, which threatened to expose the moral absurdity of a society of slaveholders proclaiming the concepts of natural rights, equality, and liberty, formed part of the complex interaction of events that constituted the revolutionary war in the South. To that extent, the American Revolution in the South was a war about slavery, if not a war over slavery.”

Source: Sylvia R. Frey, historian, Water from the Rock: Black Resistance in a Revolutionary Age, 1991

24  Mark for Review

Which of the following primary sources would most likely support Frey’s argument in the excerpt?

- ☐ (A) Statistics measuring the growth of the enslaved-person population in the South throughout the 18th century
- ☐ (B) The number of slave uprisings in the late 18th century
- ☐ (C) 18th-century purchase and sales records of enslaved people by the largest plantations in the South
- ☐ (D) An 18th-century slaveholder’s diary documenting daily life on a plantation

BACK

NEXT

Questions 24 through 25 refer to the following.

“Actual or potential resistance was a main factor in the development of Britain’s southern strategy. Influenced in part by slaves’ combative and aggressive behavior, British military leaders and Crown officials seized upon the idea of intimidating independence-minded white southerners with the threat of a slave rising without, however, actually inciting one. In the end the British strategy of manipulating conflict between the races became a rallying cry for white southern unity and impelled the South toward independence. The need to weaken slaves’ zeal for service with the British, which threatened to expose the moral absurdity of a society of slaveholders proclaiming the concepts of natural rights, equality, and liberty, formed part of the complex interaction of events that constituted the revolutionary war in the South. To that extent, the American Revolution in the South was a war about slavery, if not a war over slavery.”

Source: Sylvia R. Frey, historian, Water from the Rock: Black Resistance in a Revolutionary Age, 1991

25

Mark for Review

Which of the following contributed most to the increased use of slave labor in the South during the 18th century?

☐

(A) The Spanish Mission system’s promotion of Catholicism

☐

(B) Sustained cultivation and demand for tobacco and cotton

☐

(C) The spread of ideas associated with European Enlightenment

☐

(D) The policy of “salutary neglect” practiced by British monarchs

BACKNEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 26 through 28 refer to the following.

“Even after Emancipation, courts and legislatures struggled to determine what the end of slavery meant. Clearly African-Americans could no longer be treated as property, to be bought and sold. But, in 1865, it was not clear what rights ex-slaves would have.... Sadly, within half a century of the end of the Civil War most blacks in the United States, ninety percent of whom still lived in the former slave states, had been segregated, reduced to dire poverty, and denied access to the nation’s political institutions. It would take [time] to fulfill some of these promises laid out in the Thirteenth Amendment of the United States Constitution.”

Source: Paul Finkelman, historian, “Slavery in the United States: Persons or Property?” from The Legal Understanding of Slavery: From the Historical to the Contemporary, 2012

26  Mark for Review

The excerpt most strongly supports which of the following statements?

- ☐ (A) The Thirteenth Amendment guaranteed full human rights to emancipated enslaved people.
- ☐ (B) After the Civil War, African Americans continued to be treated as property.
- ☐ (C) The Thirteenth Amendment abolished the institution of slavery.
- ☐ (D) Most African Americans in the United States continue to live in dire poverty.

BACK

NEXT

Questions 26 through 28 refer to the following.

“Even after Emancipation, courts and legislatures struggled to determine what the end of slavery meant. Clearly African-Americans could no longer be treated as property, to be bought and sold. But, in 1865, it was not clear what rights ex-slaves would have.... Sadly, within half a century of the end of the Civil War most blacks in the United States, ninety percent of whom still lived in the former slave states, had been segregated, reduced to dire poverty, and denied access to the nation’s political institutions. It would take [time] to fulfill some of these promises laid out in the Thirteenth Amendment of the United States Constitution.”

Source: Paul Finkelman, historian, “Slavery in the United States: Persons or Property?” from The Legal Understanding of Slavery: From the Historical to the Contemporary, 2012

27

Mark for Review

Which of the following factors most directly fulfilled “some of the promises laid out in the Thirteenth Amendment” as mentioned in the excerpt?

☐

(A) The success of the Populist Party in the late 19th century

☐

(B) A rise in Progressive reform movements in the early 20th century

☐

(C) The resurgence of the Ku Klux Klan in the early 20th century

☐

(D) The civil rights movement of the mid-20th century

BACKNEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 26 through 28 refer to the following.

“Even after Emancipation, courts and legislatures struggled to determine what the end of slavery meant. Clearly African-Americans could no longer be treated as property, to be bought and sold. But, in 1865, it was not clear what rights ex-slaves would have.... Sadly, within half a century of the end of the Civil War most blacks in the United States, ninety percent of whom still lived in the former slave states, had been segregated, reduced to dire poverty, and denied access to the nation’s political institutions. It would take [time] to fulfill some of these promises laid out in the Thirteenth Amendment of the United States Constitution.”

Source: Paul Finkelman, historian, “Slavery in the United States: Persons or Property?” from The Legal Understanding of Slavery: From the Historical to the Contemporary, 2012

28

Mark for Review

Which of the following statements best explains the uncertainty regarding the legal status of former enslaved people after the Civil War?

(A) The American Constitution did not mention slavery until the adoption of the Thirteenth Amendment.

(B) Widespread racism prevented the Supreme Court from ruling favorably on the issue of African American civil rights.

(C) The Three-Fifths Compromise had previously established the idea that enslaved people possess only a fraction of the rights of non-enslaved people.

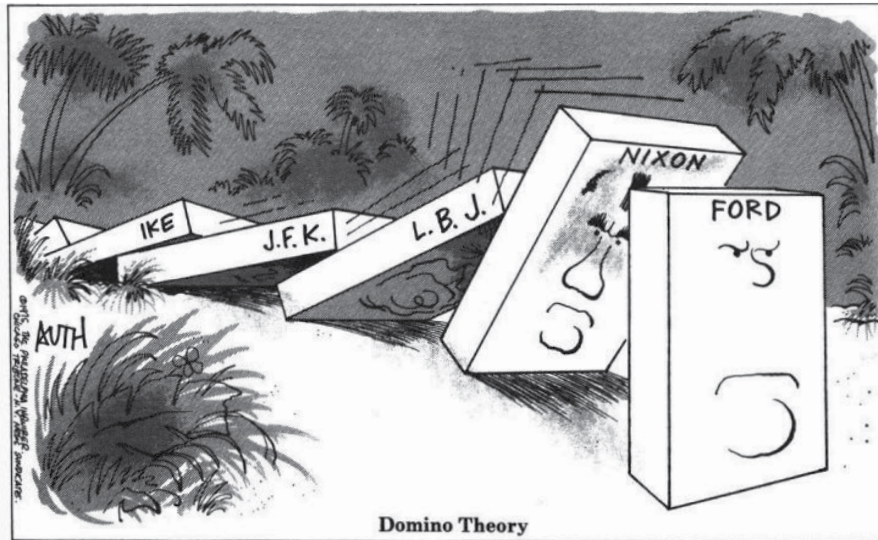

(D) The Emancipation Proclamation merely freed enslaved people but did not bestow upon them any specific rights or freedoms.

BACK

NEXT

Questions 29 through 32 refer to the following.

Source: Tony Auth, "Domino Theory," The Philadelphia Inquirer, ©1976

29  Mark for Review

The image most closely reflects the political results of which of the following trends in U.S. political and foreign policy in the 20th century?

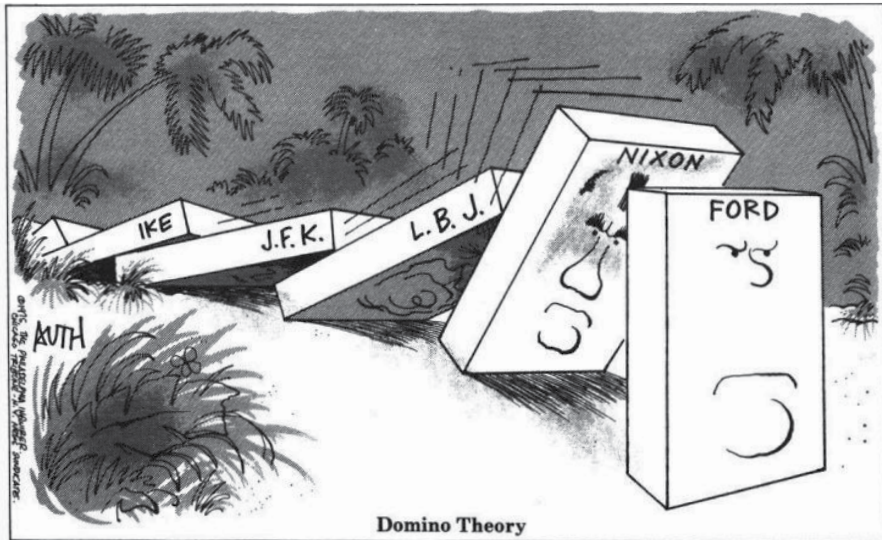

- ☐ Ⓐ A decline in public support for the Korean War
- ☐ Ⓑ An increase in public support for the Vietnam War
- ☐ Ⓒ The inability to achieve a clear victory during World War II
- ☐ Ⓓ The desire to contain communism in developing parts of the world

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 29 through 32 refer to the following.

Source: Tony Auth, "Domino Theory," The Philadelphia Inquirer, ©1976

30  Mark for Review

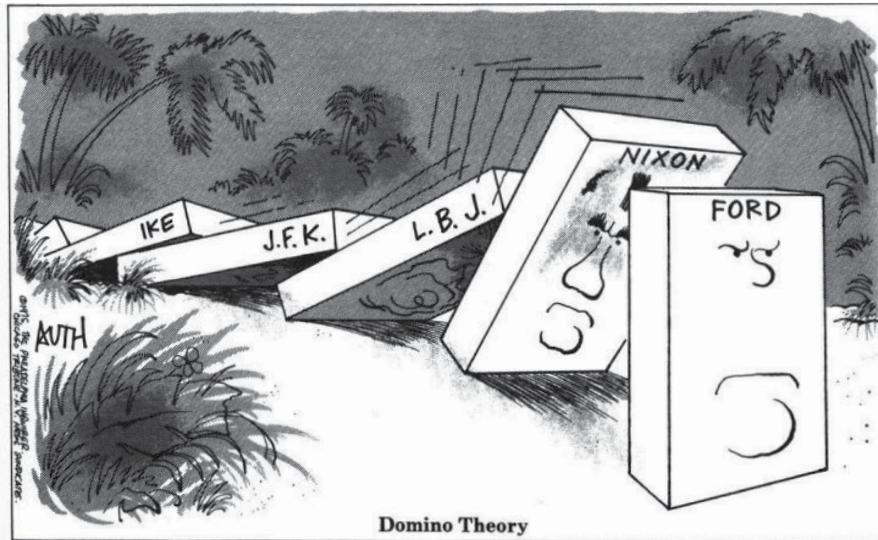

The image most directly supports the idea that U.S. foreign policy during the 20th century emphasized

- ☐ (A) stopping the spread of communism in Asia
- ☐ (B) a Cold War arms race with the Soviet Union
- ☐ (C) the desire to defend human rights in developing nations
- ☐ (D) supporting the Non-Aligned Movement in Asia

BACK

NEXT

Questions 29 through 32 refer to the following.

Source: Tony Auth, "Domino Theory," The Philadelphia Inquirer, ©1976

31  Mark for Review

Which of the following most strongly reflects the influence of the point of view expressed in the cartoon?

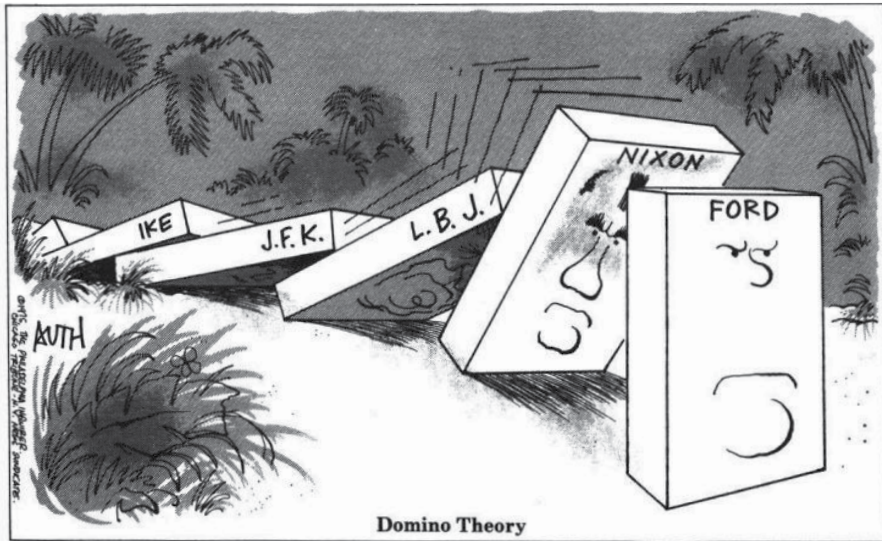

- ☐ (A) President Ford pursued nuclear disarmament treaties with the Soviet Union in the mid-1970s.
- ☐ (B) U.S. involvement in World War II brought an end to military conflict in Europe.
- ☐ (C) Because of the unpopularity of the Vietnam War, there was widespread public resistance to the passage of the War Powers Resolution of 1973.
- ☐ (D) President Ford officially ended U.S. involvement in the Vietnam War.

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 29 through 32 refer to the following.

Source: Tony Auth, "Domino Theory," The Philadelphia Inquirer, ©1976

32  Mark for Review

Of the following, the most analogous historical example of the policy mentioned in the cartoon is

- ☐ Ⓐ the Revolutionary War, since it motivated other countries to push for independence and political reform
- ☐ Ⓑ the Civil War, since the Confederate states left the Union in quick succession
- ☐ Ⓒ World War II, since multiple countries around the world ultimately joined the conflict
- ☐ Ⓓ the Korean War, since it involved the attempt to contain communism

BACK

NEXT

Questions 33 through 36 refer to the following.

Source 1

“The wisest among my race understand that the agitation of questions of social equality is the extremest folly, and that progress in the enjoyment of all the privileges that will come to us must be the result of severe and constant struggle rather than of artificial forcing. No race that has anything to contribute to the markets of the world is long in any degree ostracized. It is important and right that all privileges of the law be ours, but it is vastly more important that we be prepared for the exercise of these privileges. The opportunity to earn a dollar in a factory just now is worth infinitely more than the opportunity to spend a dollar in an opera-house.”

Source: Booker T. Washington, “Atlanta Compromise” speech, 1895

Source 2

“This group of men honor Mr. Washington for his attitude of conciliation toward the white South; they accept the “Atlanta Compromise” in its broadest interpretation.... But, nevertheless, they insist that the way to truth and right lies in straightforward honesty, not in indiscriminate flattery; in praising those of the South who do well and criticizing uncompromisingly those who do ill; in taking advantage of the opportunities at hand and urging their fellows to do the same, but at the same time in remembering that only a firm adherence to their higher ideals and aspirations will ever keep those ideals within the realm of possibility. They do not expect that the free right to vote, to enjoy civic rights, and to be educated, will come in a moment...but they are absolutely certain that the way for a people to gain their reasonable rights is [to]...insist continually... that voting is necessary to modern manhood, that color discrimination is barbarism....”

Source: W. E. B. Du Bois, “Of Mr. Booker T. Washington and Others,” 1903

33

Mark for Review

Which of the following actions by people living in the late 19th century would be an example of “artificial forcing” as mentioned in the Booker T. Washington excerpt?

(A) An African American buys property from a white landowner and starts a successful business.

(B) An African American runs for state elected office.

(C) A group of African Americans organizes politically to challenge Jim Crow laws.

(D) African Americans in the South start a school for poor children in their community.

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 33 through 36 refer to the following.

Source 1

“The wisest among my race understand that the agitation of questions of social equality is the extremest folly, and that progress in the enjoyment of all the privileges that will come to us must be the result of severe and constant struggle rather than of artificial forcing. No race that has anything to contribute to the markets of the world is long in any degree ostracized. It is important and right that all privileges of the law be ours, but it is vastly more important that we be prepared for the exercise of these privileges. The opportunity to earn a dollar in a factory just now is worth infinitely more than the opportunity to spend a dollar in an opera-house.”

Source: Booker T. Washington, “Atlanta Compromise” speech, 1895

Source 2

“This group of men honor Mr. Washington for his attitude of conciliation toward the white South; they accept the “Atlanta Compromise” in its broadest interpretation.... But, nevertheless, they insist that the way to truth and right lies in straightforward honesty, not in indiscriminate flattery; in praising those of the South who do well and criticizing uncompromisingly those who do ill; in taking advantage of the opportunities at hand and urging their fellows to do the same, but at the same time in remembering that only a firm adherence to their higher ideals and aspirations will ever keep those ideals within the realm of possibility. They do not expect that the free right to vote, to enjoy civic rights, and to be educated, will come in a moment...but they are absolutely certain that the way for a people to gain their reasonable rights is [to]...insist continually... that voting is necessary to modern manhood, that color discrimination is barbarism....”

Source: W. E. B. Du Bois, “Of Mr. Booker T. Washington and Others,” 1903

34  Mark for Review

Booker T. Washington and W. E. B. Du Bois most disagreed on whether

- ☐ (A) confrontation of the white majority was the most effective means of creating social change
- ☐ (B) the most desirable goal was equal rights for African Americans
- ☐ (C) inequalities in wealth had their roots in slavery
- ☐ (D) African Americans had opportunities for bettering their social standing

BACK

NEXT

Questions 33 through 36 refer to the following.

Source 1

“The wisest among my race understand that the agitation of questions of social equality is the extremest folly, and that progress in the enjoyment of all the privileges that will come to us must be the result of severe and constant struggle rather than of artificial forcing. No race that has anything to contribute to the markets of the world is long in any degree ostracized. It is important and right that all privileges of the law be ours, but it is vastly more important that we be prepared for the exercise of these privileges. The opportunity to earn a dollar in a factory just now is worth infinitely more than the opportunity to spend a dollar in an opera-house.”

Source: Booker T. Washington, “Atlanta Compromise” speech, 1895

Source 2

“This group of men honor Mr. Washington for his attitude of conciliation toward the white South; they accept the “Atlanta Compromise” in its broadest interpretation.... But, nevertheless, they insist that the way to truth and right lies in straightforward honesty, not in indiscriminate flattery; in praising those of the South who do well and criticizing uncompromisingly those who do ill; in taking advantage of the opportunities at hand and urging their fellows to do the same, but at the same time in remembering that only a firm adherence to their higher ideals and aspirations will ever keep those ideals within the realm of possibility. They do not expect that the free right to vote, to enjoy civic rights, and to be educated, will come in a moment...but they are absolutely certain that the way for a people to gain their reasonable rights is [to]...insist continually... that voting is necessary to modern manhood, that color discrimination is barbarism....”

Source: W. E. B. Du Bois, “Of Mr. Booker T. Washington and Others,” 1903

35

Mark for Review

It can be demonstrated from the excerpts that Booker T. Washington and W. E. B. Du Bois shared the view that

- ☐ Ⓐ the movement for advancement of African Americans was part of a broader effort for social change in other segments of society
- ☐ Ⓑ desegregation of schools was a desirable goal
- ☐ Ⓒ violence was a necessary part of any movement for social change
- ☐ Ⓓ African Americans should enjoy greater rights and social privileges than they had previously been given

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 33 through 36 refer to the following.

Source 1

“The wisest among my race understand that the agitation of questions of social equality is the extremest folly, and that progress in the enjoyment of all the privileges that will come to us must be the result of severe and constant struggle rather than of artificial forcing. No race that has anything to contribute to the markets of the world is long in any degree ostracized. It is important and right that all privileges of the law be ours, but it is vastly more important that we be prepared for the exercise of these privileges. The opportunity to earn a dollar in a factory just now is worth infinitely more than the opportunity to spend a dollar in an opera-house.”

Source: Booker T. Washington, “Atlanta Compromise” speech, 1895

Source 2

“This group of men honor Mr. Washington for his attitude of conciliation toward the white South; they accept the “Atlanta Compromise” in its broadest interpretation.... But, nevertheless, they insist that the way to truth and right lies in straightforward honesty, not in indiscriminate flattery; in praising those of the South who do well and criticizing uncompromisingly those who do ill; in taking advantage of the opportunities at hand and urging their fellows to do the same, but at the same time in remembering that only a firm adherence to their higher ideals and aspirations will ever keep those ideals within the realm of possibility. They do not expect that the free right to vote, to enjoy civic rights, and to be educated, will come in a moment...but they are absolutely certain that the way for a people to gain their reasonable rights is [to]...insist continually... that voting is necessary to modern manhood, that color discrimination is barbarism....”

Source: W. E. B. Du Bois, “Of Mr. Booker T. Washington and Others,” 1903

36  Mark for Review

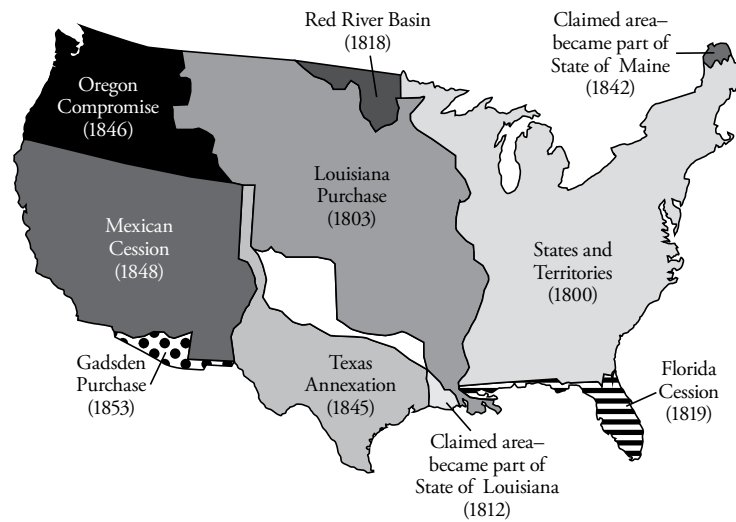

W. E. B. Du Bois’s statements suggest that he most disagreed with

- ☐ (A) the sentiments expressed in the Atlanta Compromise
- ☐ (B) the notion that expanded rights and privileges for African Americans would happen slowly over time
- ☐ (C) the idea that expanded rights and privileges for African Americans would happen naturally without direct political action
- ☐ (D) the folly of agitation regarding questions of social equality

BACK

NEXT

Questions 37 through 39 refer to the following.

37 Mark for Review

The territorial acquisitions shown in the southwestern region of the map most directly resulted from

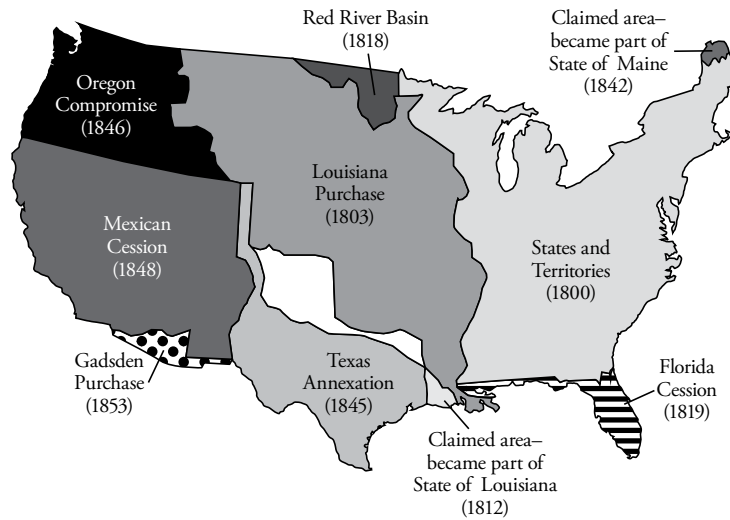

- ☐ (A) treaties made with Native American tribes
- ☐ (B) the Louisiana Purchase
- ☐ (C) the Mexican–American War
- ☐ (D) the Spanish–American War

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 37 through 39 refer to the following.

38  Mark for Review

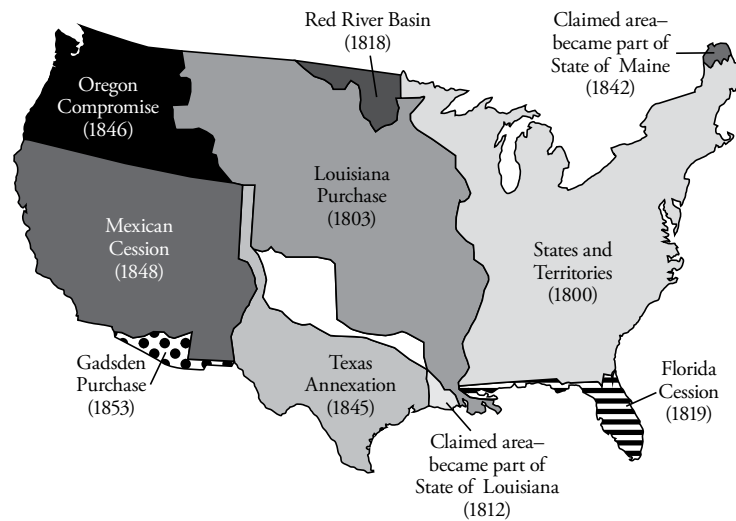

Which of the following provided the philosophical basis for the acquisition of land in the West during the time periods reflected on the map?

- ☐ (A) The abolition movement
- ☐ (B) The belief in Manifest Destiny
- ☐ (C) Popular sovereignty implemented under the Kansas-Nebraska Act
- ☐ (D) The policy of containment

BACK

NEXT

Questions 37 through 39 refer to the following.

39

Mark for Review

The acquisition of territory in the time periods shown in the map exacerbated debates regarding

☐

(A) the Homestead Act

☐

(B) the sharing of mineral rights with Native American tribes

☐

(C) the extension of citizenship rights to Native Americans

☐

(D) the expansion of slavery in newly acquired territories

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 40 through 41 refer to the following.

Source 1

“Under a government which imprisons any unjustly, the true place for a just man is also a prison.... Cast your whole vote, not a strip of paper merely, but your whole influence. A minority is powerless while it conforms to the majority; it is not even a minority then; but it is irresistible when it clogs by its whole weight. If the alternative is to keep all just men in prison, or give up war and slavery, the State will not hesitate which to choose. If a thousand men were not to pay their tax bills this year, that would...be...the definition of a peaceable revolution, if any such is possible.”

Source: Henry David Thoreau, “Resistance to Civil Government,” 1849

Source 2

“[I] heard Thoreau’s lecture before the Lyceum on the relation of the individual to the State—an admirable statement of the rights of the individual to self-government, and an attentive audience. His allusions to the Mexican War, to Mr. Hoar’s expulsion from Carolina, his own imprisonment in Concord Jail for refusal to pay his tax, Mr. Hoar’s payment of mine when taken to prison for a similar refusal, were all pertinent, well considered, and reasoned. I took great pleasure in this deed of Thoreau’s.”

Source: Bronson Alcott, Journals, 1848

40

Mark for Review

The point of view expressed by Thoreau is most likely in response to American government policy over

(A) gag rules preventing congressional debate over slavery

(B) forced removal of indigenous tribes to reservations

(C) American expansionism and efforts to acquire western territories

(D) a lack of voting rights for women

BACK

NEXT

Questions 40 through 41 refer to the following.

Source 1

“Under a government which imprisons any unjustly, the true place for a just man is also a prison.... Cast your whole vote, not a strip of paper merely, but your whole influence. A minority is powerless while it conforms to the majority; it is not even a minority then; but it is irresistible when it clogs by its whole weight. If the alternative is to keep all just men in prison, or give up war and slavery, the State will not hesitate which to choose. If a thousand men were not to pay their tax bills this year, that would...be...the definition of a peaceable revolution, if any such is possible.”

Source: Henry David Thoreau, “Resistance to Civil Government,” 1849

Source 2

“[I] heard Thoreau’s lecture before the Lyceum on the relation of the individual to the State—an admirable statement of the rights of the individual to self-government, and an attentive audience. His allusions to the Mexican War, to Mr. Hoar’s expulsion from Carolina, his own imprisonment in Concord Jail for refusal to pay his tax, Mr. Hoar’s payment of mine when taken to prison for a similar refusal, were all pertinent, well considered, and reasoned. I took great pleasure in this deed of Thoreau’s.”

Source: Bronson Alcott, Journals, 1848

41

Mark for Review

The ideas expressed by Thoreau are reflected in all of the following 20th century movements EXCEPT

(A) the American civil rights movement

(B) the Reagan Revolution’s repudiation of the New Deal

(C) the movement against American involvement in World War I

(D) protests against the Vietnam War

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 42 through 43 refer to the following.

“The only proper basis for the protection of...all animals is an economic one, and must be based upon carefully constructed and properly enforced laws for the conservation of all species for the benefit of future generations of our citizens, rather than based on local opinion.... This expenditure for the protection of fish and game is clearly a wise economy, tending to prevent the annihilation of birds and other animals valuable to mankind which might otherwise become extinct.”

Source: Massachusetts Commission on Economy and Efficiency, 1912

42

Mark for Review

Which of the following developments may have contributed most directly to the opinions reflected in the excerpt?

☐

(A) A decrease in numbers of commercial fish in coastal and inland waters of the United States

☐

(B) The erosion of agricultural soil during the Dust Bowl

☐

(C) The growth of suburban housing in land previously held as wilderness

☐

(D) The near extinction of the buffalo

BACK

NEXT

Questions 42 through 43 refer to the following.

“The only proper basis for the protection of...all animals is an economic one, and must be based upon carefully constructed and properly enforced laws for the conservation of all species for the benefit of future generations of our citizens, rather than based on local opinion.... This expenditure for the protection of fish and game is clearly a wise economy, tending to prevent the annihilation of birds and other animals valuable to mankind which might otherwise become extinct.”

Source: Massachusetts Commission on Economy and Efficiency, 1912

43

Mark for Review

The ideas expressed are most associated with

☐(A) Progressivism☐(B) Populism☐(C) Taylorism☐(D) SocialismBACK*NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 44 through 46 refer to the following.

“Unlike its apparent strength in current times, conservatism not so long ago was a decidedly unpopular and much-derided philosophy. As recently as the late 1970s, conservatism was seen as a permanent minority philosophy in America; in fact, it was so much in the minority that there was a question as to whether the conservative cause would even survive. Within mainstream political culture, conservative ideals had been marginalized for half a century, since the late 1920s. Thus, for conservatives, the story of that long hiatus from popular embrace, which reached its peak in the 1960s, is a story of dogged perseverance—a story of unrelenting commitment to a set of ideals rooted in three centuries of American history.”

Source: Patrick M. Garry, historian,
“A Turning Point for Modern Conservatism,” 2007

44

Mark for Review

All of the following could support Garry’s assertions about conservatism EXCEPT

(A) the defeat of Barry Goldwater in the Election of 1964

(B) the continued expansion of Great Society programs from the 1960s onward

(C) the election of Ronald Reagan in 1980

(D) the fall of the Berlin Wall in 1989

BACK

NEXT

Questions 44 through 46 refer to the following.

“Unlike its apparent strength in current times, conservatism not so long ago was a decidedly unpopular and much-derided philosophy. As recently as the late 1970s, conservatism was seen as a permanent minority philosophy in America; in fact, it was so much in the minority that there was a question as to whether the conservative cause would even survive. Within mainstream political culture, conservative ideals had been marginalized for half a century, since the late 1920s. Thus, for conservatives, the story of that long hiatus from popular embrace, which reached its peak in the 1960s, is a story of dogged perseverance—a story of unrelenting commitment to a set of ideals rooted in three centuries of American history.”

Source: Patrick M. Garry, historian,
“A Turning Point for Modern Conservatism,” 2007

45

Mark for Review

In the 1970s and 1980s, conservatives as described by Garry tended to claim that

(A) liberalism threatens traditional family values

(B) liberals tend to engage in futile military interventions abroad

(C) liberals ignore the concerns of minority racial groups

(D) liberals devote too little money to social programs for the poor

BACKNEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 44 through 46 refer to the following.

“Unlike its apparent strength in current times, conservatism not so long ago was a decidedly unpopular and much-derided philosophy. As recently as the late 1970s, conservatism was seen as a permanent minority philosophy in America; in fact, it was so much in the minority that there was a question as to whether the conservative cause would even survive. Within mainstream political culture, conservative ideals had been marginalized for half a century, since the late 1920s. Thus, for conservatives, the story of that long hiatus from popular embrace, which reached its peak in the 1960s, is a story of dogged perseverance—a story of unrelenting commitment to a set of ideals rooted in three centuries of American history.”

Source: Patrick M. Garry, historian,
“A Turning Point for Modern Conservatism,” 2007

46  Mark for Review

Christian evangelicals in the late 20th century would be most likely to oppose

- ☐ (A) spending on social welfare programs
- ☐ (B) federal tax cuts
- ☐ (C) the Persian Gulf War
- ☐ (D) national abortion rights

BACK

NEXT

Questions 47 through 49 refer to the following.

Source 1

“I have at length the pleasure to enclose you the favorable result of the Convention at Boston. The amendments are a blemish, but are in the least Offensive form.... The Convention of New Hampshire is now sitting. There seems to be no question that the issue there will add a seventh pillar, as the phrase now is, to the Federal Temple.”

Source: James Madison, letter to George Washington, 1788

Source 2

“The adjournment of New Hampshire, the small majority of Massachusetts, a certainty of rejection in Rhode Island, the formidable opposition in the state of New York, the convulsions and committee meetings in Pennsylvania, and above all the antipathy of Virginia to the system, operating together, I am apprehensive will prevent the noble fabric from being enacted.”

Source: Cyrus Griffin, letter to James Madison, 1788

47

Mark for Review

The “pillar,” “temple,” and “noble fabric” mentioned in these excerpts most closely refer to

(A) the rise of sectionalism in the early Republic

(B) unity of the states in the ratification of the U.S. Constitution

(C) the proliferation of political parties in the early Republic

(D) the victory of George Washington in early presidential elections

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 47 through 49 refer to the following.

Source 1

“I have at length the pleasure to enclose you the favorable result of the Convention at Boston. The amendments are a blemish, but are in the least Offensive form.... The Convention of New Hampshire is now sitting. There seems to be no question that the issue there will add a seventh pillar, as the phrase now is, to the Federal Temple.”

Source: James Madison, letter to George Washington, 1788

Source 2

“The adjournment of New Hampshire, the small majority of Massachusetts, a certainty of rejection in Rhode Island, the formidable opposition in the state of New York, the convulsions and committee meetings in Pennsylvania, and above all the antipathy of Virginia to the system, operating together, I am apprehensive will prevent the noble fabric from being enacted.”

Source: Cyrus Griffin, letter to James Madison, 1788

48

Mark for Review

The sources reflect strong disagreement over which of the following?

☐

(A) Balance of power between the states and federal government

☐

(B) Abolition of slavery

☐

(C) Westward expansion

☐

(D) The election of George Washington

BACK

NEXT

Questions 47 through 49 refer to the following.

Source 1

“I have at length the pleasure to enclose you the favorable result of the Convention at Boston. The amendments are a blemish, but are in the least Offensive form.... The Convention of New Hampshire is now sitting. There seems to be no question that the issue there will add a seventh pillar, as the phrase now is, to the Federal Temple.”

Source: James Madison, letter to George Washington, 1788

Source 2

“The adjournment of New Hampshire, the small majority of Massachusetts, a certainty of rejection in Rhode Island, the formidable opposition in the state of New York, the convulsions and committee meetings in Pennsylvania, and above all the antipathy of Virginia to the system, operating together, I am apprehensive will prevent the noble fabric from being enacted.”

Source: Cyrus Griffin, letter to James Madison, 1788

49

Mark for Review

The groups referenced by Griffin would most likely have supported which of the following political parties in the years after 1800?

(A) Federalists

(B) Democratic-Republicans

(C) Whigs

(D) Populists

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 50 through 52 refer to the following.

“Whereas it is expedient that new provisions and regulations should be established for improving the revenue of this kingdom, and for extending and securing the navigation and commerce between Great Britain and your Majesty’s dominions in America, which, by the peace, have been so happily enlarged: and whereas it is just and necessary, that a revenue be raised, in your Majesty’s said dominions in America, for defraying the expenses of defending, protecting, and securing the same; we, your Majesty’s most dutiful and loyal subjects, the commons of Great Britain, in parliament assembled, being desirous to make some provision, in this present session of parliament, towards raising the said revenue in America, have resolved to give and grant unto your Majesty the several rates and duties herein after-mentioned....”

Source: English Parliament, Sugar Act, 1764

50

Mark for Review

According to the excerpt, the Sugar Act was passed for which of the following reasons?

☐

(A) To promote the interests of colonial manufacturers

☐

(B) To raise money for the kingdom of Great Britain

☐

(C) To establish an economic system based on mercantilism

☐

(D) To promote peace with neighboring European colonies

BACK

NEXT

Questions 50 through 52 refer to the following.

“Whereas it is expedient that new provisions and regulations should be established for improving the revenue of this kingdom, and for extending and securing the navigation and commerce between Great Britain and your Majesty’s dominions in America, which, by the peace, have been so happily enlarged: and whereas it is just and necessary, that a revenue be raised, in your Majesty’s said dominions in America, for defraying the expenses of defending, protecting, and securing the same; we, your Majesty’s most dutiful and loyal subjects, the commons of Great Britain, in parliament assembled, being desirous to make some provision, in this present session of parliament, towards raising the said revenue in America, have resolved to give and grant unto your Majesty the several rates and duties herein after-mentioned...”

Source: English Parliament, Sugar Act, 1764

51

Mark for Review

One eventual effect of the Sugar Act was that it

- ☐ (A) was never enforced due to widespread colonial smuggling
- ☐ (B) contributed to colonial unrest, thus fostering a move toward independence
- ☐ (C) created tensions with France
- ☐ (D) led to the Boston Tea Party

BACKNEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 50 through 52 refer to the following.

“Whereas it is expedient that new provisions and regulations should be established for improving the revenue of this kingdom, and for extending and securing the navigation and commerce between Great Britain and your Majesty’s dominions in America, which, by the peace, have been so happily enlarged: and whereas it is just and necessary, that a revenue be raised, in your Majesty’s said dominions in America, for defraying the expenses of defending, protecting, and securing the same; we, your Majesty’s most dutiful and loyal subjects, the commons of Great Britain, in parliament assembled, being desirous to make some provision, in this present session of parliament, towards raising the said revenue in America, have resolved to give and grant unto your Majesty the several rates and duties herein after-mentioned...”

Source: English Parliament, Sugar Act, 1764

52

Mark for Review

Which historical event prompted the need for the Sugar Act?

☐

(A) The Seven Years’ War (French and Indian War)

☐

(B) The Boston Tea Party

☐

(C) The Boston Massacre

☐

(D) The Proclamation of 1763

BACK

NEXT

Questions 53 through 55 refer to the following.

“Income inequality, moreover, had declined since the 1930s and was historically modest as of 1965 for a variety of reasons. Corporate salaries, while enabling a very comfortable lifestyle for those near the top, were far less remunerative than in later years.... To be sure, the United States was by no means an egalitarian society: in 1964, 34.6 million people (more than 17 percent of the population) lived below the government’s official poverty lines. For a family of four, this was $3,130 a year. America’s social safety net, having expanded only slowly since World War II, remained more porous than those in northern European nations. Labor unions, which had grown substantially since the 1930s, were starting to weaken. Still, income inequality was as low in early 1965 as it ever had been in the modern history of the country.”

Source: James T. Patterson, historian, The Eve of Destruction: How 1965 Transformed America, 2012

53

Mark for Review

All of the following 20th-century policies contributed to the historical situation in 1965 as described by Patterson EXCEPT

(A) the creation of a national minimum wage

(B) the desegregation of the military

(C) the creation of the Securities and Exchange Commission

(D) the creation of the Federal Housing Authority

BACKNEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 53 through 55 refer to the following.

“Income inequality, moreover, had declined since the 1930s and was historically modest as of 1965 for a variety of reasons. Corporate salaries, while enabling a very comfortable lifestyle for those near the top, were far less remunerative than in later years.... To be sure, the United States was by no means an egalitarian society: in 1964, 34.6 million people (more than 17 percent of the population) lived below the government’s official poverty lines. For a family of four, this was $3,130 a year. America’s social safety net, having expanded only slowly since World War II, remained more porous than those in northern European nations. Labor unions, which had grown substantially since the 1930s, were starting to weaken. Still, income inequality was as low in early 1965 as it ever had been in the modern history of the country.”

Source: James T. Patterson, historian, The Eve of Destruction: How 1965 Transformed America, 2012

54

Mark for Review

One significant result of the economic trend described in the excerpt was the

☐

(A) weakening of the civil rights movement

☐

(B) decrease in the number of immigrants seeking entry to the United States

☐

(C) increase in the number of Americans living in suburban areas

☐

(D) decrease in the number of women in the workforce

BACK

NEXT

Questions 53 through 55 refer to the following.

“Income inequality, moreover, had declined since the 1930s and was historically modest as of 1965 for a variety of reasons. Corporate salaries, while enabling a very comfortable lifestyle for those near the top, were far less remunerative than in later years.... To be sure, the United States was by no means an egalitarian society: in 1964, 34.6 million people (more than 17 percent of the population) lived below the government’s official poverty lines. For a family of four, this was $3,130 a year. America’s social safety net, having expanded only slowly since World War II, remained more porous than those in northern European nations. Labor unions, which had grown substantially since the 1930s, were starting to weaken. Still, income inequality was as low in early 1965 as it ever had been in the modern history of the country.”

Source: James T. Patterson, historian, The Eve of Destruction: How 1965 Transformed America, 2012

55

Mark for Review

President Lyndon Johnson’s Great Society initiatives passed in the 1960s were designed to address which of the following issues mentioned in the excerpt?

- ☐ Ⓐ Growing affluence had exaggerated the effects of racial discrimination.
- ☐ Ⓑ Pockets of poverty persisted despite overall affluence.
- ☐ Ⓒ A rising standard of living encouraged increased union membership among the working class.
- ☐ Ⓓ Private industry boomed in spite of a corporate tax rate.

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Short Answer

SECTION I, PART B: Short Answer

At a Glance

Time
40 minutes
Number of Questions
3
Percent of Total Score
20%
Questions 1 and 2
Mandatory
Question 3 or 4
Choose one question

Instructions

Section I, Part B has 3 short-answer questions and lasts 40 minutes.

In this part, answer Question 1 and Question 2 and either Question 3 or Question 4.

In your responses, be sure to address all parts of the questions you answer. Use complete sentences; an outline or bulleted list alone is not acceptable.

You may pace yourself as you answer the questions in this part, or you may use these optional timing recommendations:

It is suggested that you spend an equal amount of time, approximately 13 minutes, on each question.

For this practice test, use scratch paper for notes and planning as well as writing your responses.

BACK

NEXT

Question 1 is based on the following.

Source 1

“John Brown’s effort was peculiar. It was not a slave insurrection. It was an attempt by white men to get up a revolt among slaves, in which the slaves refused to participate. In fact, it was so absurd that the slaves, with all their ignorance, saw plainly enough it could not succeed. That affair, in its philosophy, corresponds with the many attempts, related in history, at the assassination of kings and emperors. An enthusiast broods over the oppression of a people till he fancies himself commissioned by Heaven to liberate them. He ventures the attempt, which ends in little else than his own execution.”

Source: Abraham Lincoln, speech given in 1860

Source 2

“I said John Brown was an idealist. He believed in his ideas to that extent that he existed to put them all into action; he said ‘he did not believe in moral suasion, he believed in putting the thing through.’ He saw how deceptive the forms are. We fancy, in Massachusetts, that we are free; yet it seems the government is quite unreliable. Great wealth, great population, men of talent in the executive, on the bench—all the forms right,—and yet, life and freedom are not safe. Why? Because the judges rely on the forms, and do not, like John Brown, use their eyes to see the fact behind the forms.”

Source: Ralph Waldo Emerson, “Remarks At a Meeting for the Relief of the Family of John Brown, at Tremont Temple, Boston,” 1859

1

Mark for Review

Using the excerpts, respond to parts A, B, and C.

- A. Briefly explain one major historical difference between Lincoln’s and Emerson’s interpretations of the actions of John Brown.
- B. Briefly explain one other specific historical event or development that is not explicitly mentioned in the excerpts that could be used to support Lincoln’s interpretation.
- C. Briefly explain one other specific historical event or development that is not explicitly mentioned in the excerpts that could be used to support Emerson’s interpretation.

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Short Answer

Question 2 is based on the following.

Source 1

“Family in room in tenement house,” Jessie Tarbox Beals, 1910

Source 2

“Cornelia Stewart’s Bedroom,” late 1800s Cornelia Stewart was the wife of A.T. Stewart of Stewart’s department store

2

Mark for Review

Using the image, respond to parts A, B, and C.

- A. Identify and explain one piece of evidence from 1865 to 1920 that could contextualize Source 1.
- B. Identify and explain one piece of evidence from 1865 to 1920 that could contextualize Source 2.
- C. Identify and explain one political development from 1865 to 1940 that occurred in reaction to the relationship between the images.

BACK

NEXT

Question 3 or 4

Directions: Answer either Question 3 or Question 4.

3

Mark for Review

Respond to parts A, B, and C.

- A. Briefly explain one of the historical developments that led to the creation of the Compromise of 1850.
- B. Briefly explain one of the components of the Compromise of 1850.
- C. Briefly explain one outcome of the Compromise of 1850.

4

Mark for Review

Respond to parts A, B, and C.

- A. Briefly explain one important way in which the Vietnam War (1955–1975) marked a change in the relationship between the United States and the rest of the world.
- B. Briefly explain one important way in which the Vietnam War transformed United States society.
- C. Briefly explain another important way in which the Vietnam War transformed United States society.

Choose a question to answer before you start typing. If you change your selection, any work you've done will be saved.

Answer Question 3

Answer Question 4

BACKNEXT

AP[®] United States History Exam

SECTION II: Free Response

At a Glance

Total Time
1 hour, 40 minutes

Number of Questions
2

Percent of Total Score
40%

Question 1 (DBQ): Mandatory

Suggested Reading and Writing Time
60 minutes

Percent of Total Score
25%

Question 2, 3, or 4 (Long Essay): Choose ONE Question

Answer either Question 2, 3, or 4

Suggested Time
40 minutes

Percent of Total Score
15%

DISCLAIMER: The official AP U.S. History Exam will be digital. Instructions for the official exam may differ from this practice test.

Instructions

Section II has 1 document-based question (DBQ) and 1 long essay question, and lasts 1 hour and 40 minutes.

In this section, answer Question 1 (the DBQ) and either Question 2 or Question 3 or Question 4. After reviewing Questions 2, 3, and 4, choose the question that you are best prepared to answer. This section of the exam requires answers in essay form. Use complete sentences; an outline or bulleted list alone is not acceptable.

You may pace yourself as you answer the questions in this section, or you may use these optional timing recommendations:

For Question 1 (DBQ), it is suggested that you spend approximately 15 minutes reading the question and planning your answer, and then 45 minutes writing your essay. The suggested writing time for the long essay question is 40 minutes.

For this practice test, use scratch paper for notes and planning as well as writing your responses.

BACK

NEXT

Question 1 (Document-Based Question)
Suggested reading and writing time: 1 hour

It is suggested that you spend 15 minutes reading the documents and 45 minutes writing your response.

Note: You may begin writing your response before the reading period is over.

Directions: Question 1 is based on the accompanying documents. The documents have been edited for the purpose of this exercise.

In your response you should do the following.

- Respond to the prompt with a historically defensible thesis or claim that establishes a line of reasoning.
- Describe a broader historical context relevant to the prompt.
- Support an argument in response to the prompt using at least four documents.
- Use at least one additional piece of specific historical evidence (beyond that found in the documents) relevant to an argument about the prompt.
- For at least two documents, explain how or why the document's point of view, purpose, historical situation, and/or audience is relevant to an argument.
- Demonstrate a complex understanding of a historical development related to the prompt through sophisticated argumentation and/or effective use of evidence.

BACK

NEXT

Section II: Free Response

Document 1

Source: The Promised Land: The Great Black Migration and How it Changed America, by Nicholas Lemann, 1991

[The Great Migration] was one of the largest and most rapid mass internal movements in history—perhaps the greatest not caused by the immediate threat of execution or starvation. In sheer numbers it outranks the migration of any other ethnic group—Italians or Irish or Jews or Poles—to [the United States]. For blacks, the migration meant leaving what had always been their economic and social base in America, and finding a new one.

1  Mark for Review

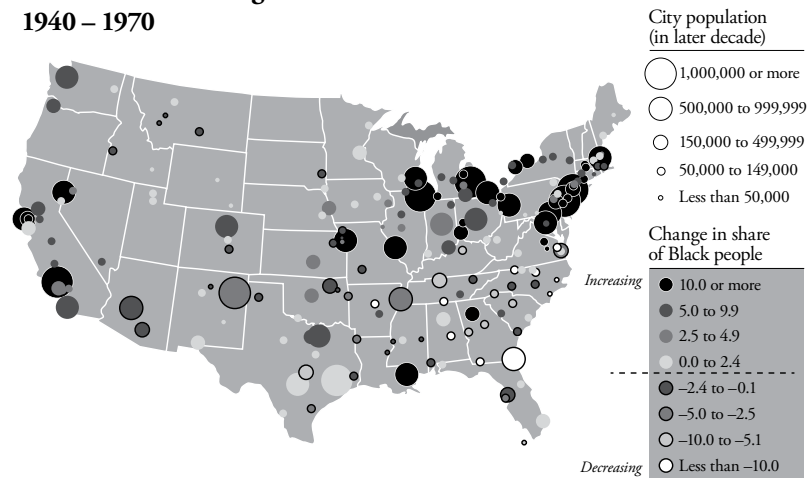

Analyze the extent to which the migration of African Americans out of the South transformed American society from 1920 to 1970.

BACK

NEXT

Document 2

Source: U.S. Census

The Second Great Migration
1940 – 1970

BACK

NEXT

Section II: Free Response

Document 3

Source: A sign outside the Sojourner Truth housing project in Detroit, 1942

BACK

NEXT

Document 4

Source: Table 14. Illinois—Race and Hispanic Origin for Selected Large Cities and Other Places: Earliest Census to 1990, United States Census Bureau

	Race
Census year	Total population		White		Black		American Indian, Eskimo, and Aleut		Asian and Pacific Islander		Other race		Hispanic origin (of any race)		White, not of Hispanic origin
(national rank through 100, state rank through 3) ¹	Number	Percent	Number	Percent	Number	Percent	Number	Percent	Number	Percent	Number	Percent	Number	Percent	Number	Percent
Chicago
1990 (3, 1)	2 783 726	100.0	1 263 524	45.4	1 087 711	39.1	7 064	0.3	104 118	3.7	321 309	11.5	545 852	19.6	1 056 048	37.9
Sample.....	2 783 726	100.0	1 265 953	45.5	1 086 389	39.0	6 761	0.2	104 141	3.7	320 482	11.5	535 315	19.2	1 063 281	38.2
1980 (2, 1)	3 005 072	100.0	1 490 216	49.6	1 197 000	39.8	6 072	0.2	69 191	2.3	242 593	8.1	422 063	14.0	1 299 557	43.2
Sample.....	3 005 078	100.0	1 512 411	50.3	1 197 174	39.8	6 804	0.2	73 745	2.5	214 944	7.2	423 357	14.1	1 311 808	43.7
1970 (2, 1)	3 366 957	100.0	2 207 767	65.6	1 102 820	32.7	6 575	0.2	29 687	0.9	20 308	0.6	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)
15% sample.....	3 362 947	100.0	2 219 145	66.0	1 098 824	32.7			44 978	1.3			247 343	7.4	1 985 295	59.0
5% sample.....	3 366 805	100.0	2 217 712	65.9	1 102 457	32.7			46 636	1.4			247 857	7.4	1 992 024	59.2
1960 (2, 1)	3 550 404	100.0	2 712 748	76.4	812 637	22.9	3 394	0.1	19 182	0.5	2 443	0.1	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)
Sample.....	3 620 962	100.0	3 111 525	85.9	492 265	13.6	775	-	14 163	0.4	2 234	0.1	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)
1940 (2, 1)	3 396 808	100.0	3 114 564	91.7	277 731	8.2	274	-	4 239	0.1	(X)	(X)	16 438	0.5	3 098 126	91.2
5% sample.....	(NA)	100.0	3 118 680	91.8	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)	(X)	(X)	16 460	0.5	3 102 220	91.3
1930	3 376 438	100.0	3 137 093	92.9	233 903	6.9	246	-	5 196	0.2	(X)	(X)	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)
"Mexican" in Other race	3 376 438	100.0	3 117 731	92.3	233 903	6.9	246	-	5 196	0.2	19 362	0.6	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)
1920 (2, 1)	2 701 705	100.0	2 589 169	95.8	109 458	4.1	94	-	2 984	0.1	(X)	(X)	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)
1910 (2, 1)	2 185 283	100.0	2 139 057	97.9	44 103	2.0	108	-	2 015	0.1	(X)	(X)	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)
1900 (2, 1)	1 698 576	100.0	1 667 140	98.1	30 150	1.8	8	-	1 277	0.1	(X)	(X)	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)
1890 (2, 1)	1 099 850	100.0	1 084 998	98.6	14 271	1.3	14	-	567	0.1	(X)	(X)	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)
1880 (4, 1)	503 185	100.0	496 495	98.7	6 480	1.3	37	-	173	-			Black
1870 (5, 1)	298 977	100.0	295 281	98.8	3 691	1.2	5	-	-	-	Total		Free		Slave
1860 (9, 1)	112 172	100.0	111 214	99.1	958	0.9	-	-	-	-	955	100.0	955	100.0	-	-
1850 (24, 1)	29 963	100.0	29 640	98.9	323	1.1	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)	323	100.0	323	100.0	-	-
1840 (92, 1)	4 470	100.0	4 417	98.8	53	1.2	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)	(NA)	53	100.0	53	100.0	-	-

BACK

NEXT

Section II: Free Response

Document 5

Source: “The New Great Migration: Black Americans’ Return to the South, 1965–2000,” by William H. Frey

The list of metro areas that experienced the largest net losses of black migrants changed most abruptly between the late 1960s and late 1970s...with the exception of Pittsburgh, the 10 largest net losses at the metropolitan level between 1965 and 1970 occurred in the South, and mostly in Deep South areas, including three each in Alabama (Birmingham, Mobile, and Montgomery) and Louisiana (New Orleans, Lafayette, and Shreveport). But in the late 1970s, industrial shake-outs in the Northeast and Midwest fueled a new migration of blacks out of several metropolitan areas that were their major destinations in earlier decades.... In fact, only New Orleans—a metro that continues to lose black migrants today—represents the South on the “bottom 10” list in the late 1970s....

Now, more educated blacks are migrating to Southern destinations at higher rates than those with lower educational levels ... [this] pattern is mirrored in white migration to the South during the same period. As with the black population, the South gained whites at all education levels, though net gains were larger for higher-educated whites.

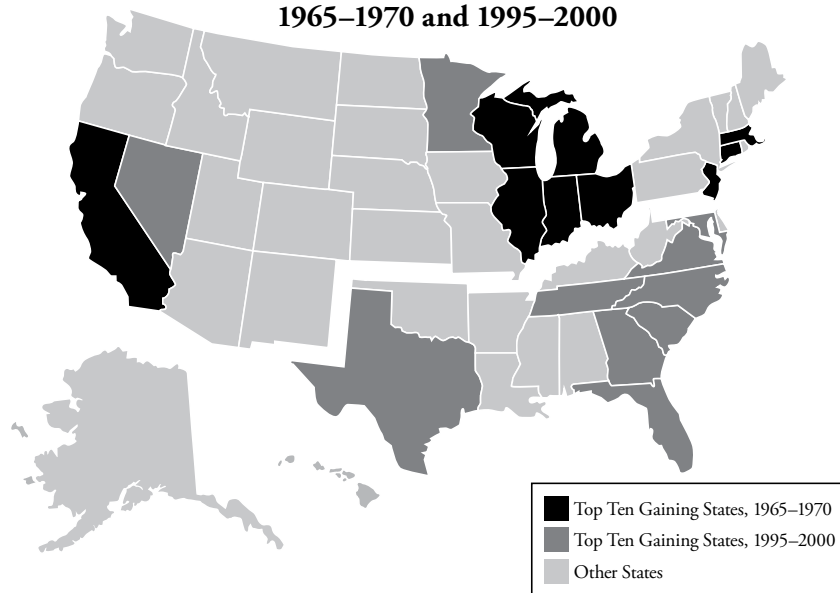

BACK

NEXT

Document 6

Source: “The New Great Migration: Black Americans’ Return to the South, 1965–2000,” by William H. Frey

Top 10 States for Black Net Migration Gains, 1965–1970 and 1995–2000

BACK

NEXT

Section II: Free Response

Document 7

Source: Library of Congress, Distribution of Negro Population by County 1950: Showing each County with 500 or more Negro Population, by Samuel Fitzsimmons

END OF DOCUMENTS FOR QUESTION 1

Analyze the extent to which the migration of African Americans out of the South transformed American society from 1920 to 1970.

BACK

NEXT

Question 2, 3, or 4 (Long Essay)

Suggested writing time: 40 minutes

Directions: Answer Question 2 or Question 3 or Question 4.

In your response, you should do the following:

- Respond to the prompt with a historically defensible thesis or claim that establishes a line of reasoning.
- Describe a broader historical context relevant to the prompt.
- Support an argument in response to the prompt using at least two pieces of specific and relevant evidence.
- Use historical reasoning (e.g., comparison, causation, continuity or change) to frame or structure an argument that addresses the prompt.
- Demonstrate a complex understanding of a historical development related to the prompt through sophisticated argumentation and/or effective use of evidence.

2

Mark for Review

Evaluate the extent to which the Seven Years' War caused the American Revolution in the time period 1754 to 1776.

3

Mark for Review

Evaluate the extent to which the Mexican–American War led to the American Civil War in the time period 1840 to 1860.

4

Mark for Review

Evaluate the extent to which World War I led to the Red Scare in the time period 1914 to 1929.

BACKNEXT

Section II: Free Response

Choose a question to answer before you start typing. If you change your selection, any work you've done will be saved.

- ☐ Answer Question 2
- ☐ Answer Question 3
- ☐ Answer Question 4

END OF EXAM

Copyright © 2026 by TPR Education IP Holdings, LLC. All rights reserved.

BACK