

NOTE: To access the interactive functions of this PDF, please make sure you have downloaded the free version of Adobe Acrobat Reader here: <https://get.adobe.com/reader/>

Practice Test 5

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

AP[®] United States History Exam

SECTION I, PART A: Multiple Choice

At a Glance

Time

55 minutes

Number of Questions

55

Percent of Total Score

40%

DISCLAIMER: The official AP U.S. History Exam will be digital. Instructions for the digital exam may differ from this practice test.

Instructions

Section I, Part A has 55 multiple-choice questions and lasts 55 minutes.

Each question in this part is followed by four suggested answers. Select the best answer to each question.

Indicate all of your answers to the multiple-choice questions on the answer sheet. Give only one answer to each question.

Use your time effectively, working as quickly as you can without losing accuracy. Do not spend too much time on any one question. Go on to other questions and come back to the ones you have not answered if you have time.

Your total score on the multiple-choice section is based only on the number of questions answered correctly. Points are not deducted for incorrect answers or unanswered questions.

BACK

NEXT

UNITED STATES HISTORY

SECTION I, Part A

Time—55 minutes

55 Questions

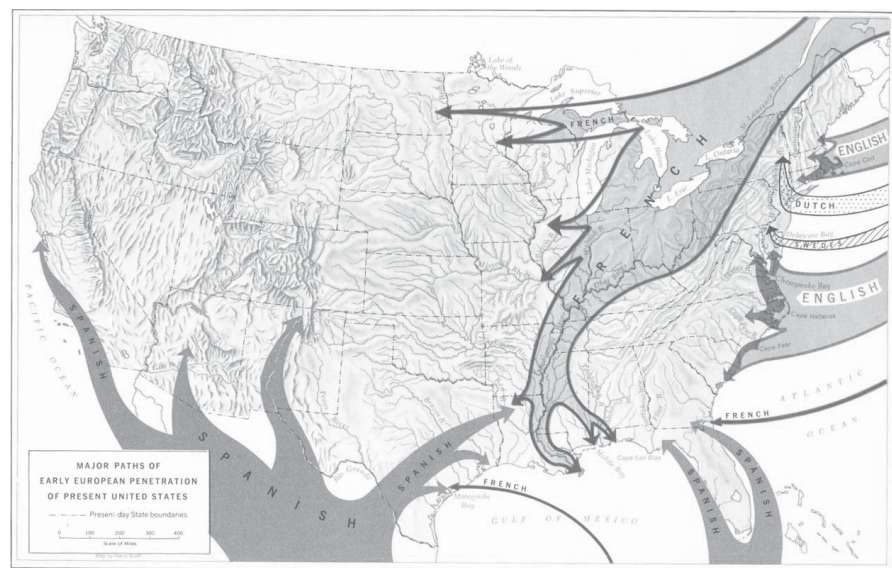

Directions: Each of the questions or incomplete statements below is followed by four suggested answers or completions. Select the one that is best in each case and then blacken the corresponding space on the answer sheet.

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 1 through 4 refer to the following.

1 Mark for Review

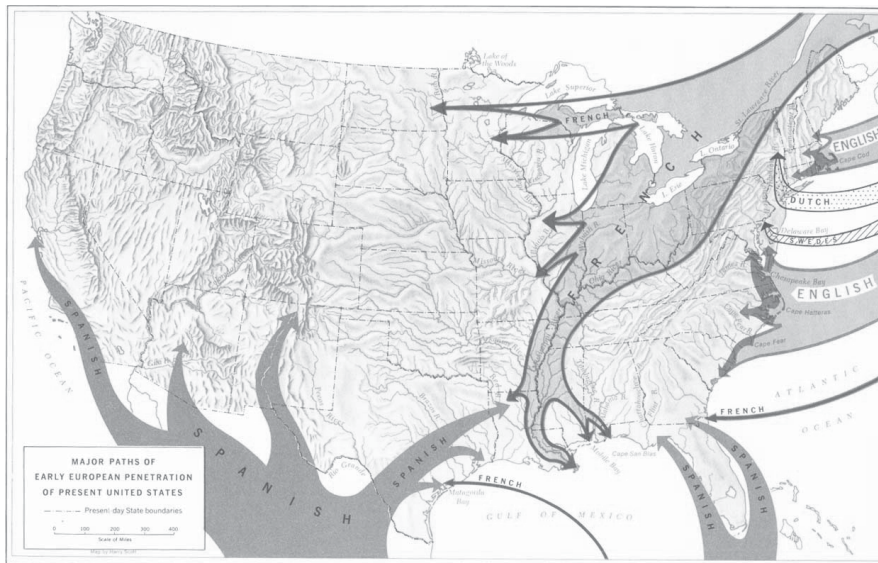

The initial settlements on the Western region of the map were primarily created to accomplish which of the following?

- ☐ (A) To create successful military outposts
- ☐ (B) To establish religious missions
- ☐ (C) To guarantee access to fur trade outposts
- ☐ (D) To secure access to gold mines

BACK

NEXT

Questions 1 through 4 refer to the following.

2

Mark for Review

Which of the following best describes the impact of cash crop agriculture on the Eastern part of the map in the 1600s?

☐

(A) Settlement slowed down due to the lack of employment opportunities in the Virginia Colony.

☐

(B) It kept slavery out of the Chesapeake region for decades.

☐

(C) Potential settlers were discouraged by the indentured servitude opportunities and failed to arrive in the numbers anticipated by colonists.

☐

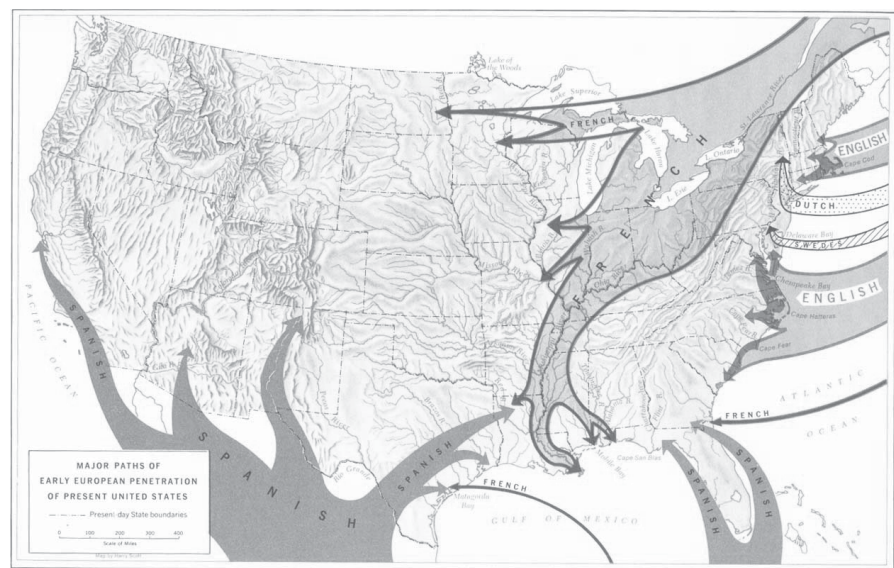

(D) The Virginia Company felt compelled to offer land to new settlers as a way to fill labor shortages.

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 1 through 4 refer to the following.

3 Mark for Review

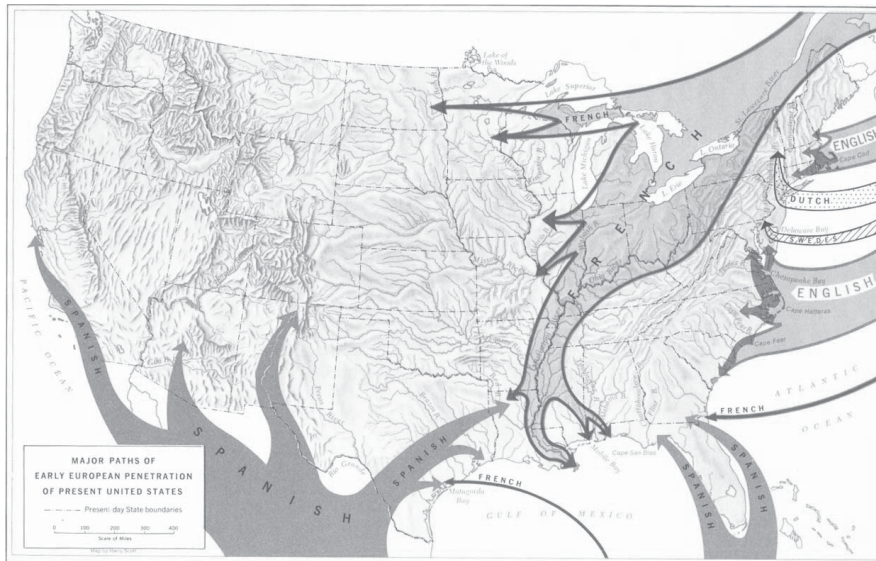

In which of the following regions of the map would settlers be most likely to live separately from Native Americans to develop lives mostly focused upon agriculture in the 1600s?

- ☐ (A) The Great Plains
- ☐ (B) The Mississippi River Valley
- ☐ (C) The Great Lakes Region
- ☐ (D) The Northeast New England Region

BACK

NEXT

Questions 1 through 4 refer to the following.

4

Mark for Review

According to the map, what impact did geography play in the French settlements?

(A) The French preferred coastal regions for the benefit of trans-Atlantic trade.

(B) The French followed major waterways such as the St. Lawrence River and the Mississippi River.

(C) The French preferred to settle in colder climates.

(D) The French were drawn exclusively to flat lands for the purpose of building small villages.

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 5 through 6 refer to the following.

“At last, when the ship we were in had got in all her cargo, they made ready with many fearful noises, and we were all put under deck, so that we could not see how they managed the vessel...The closeness of the place, and the heat of the climate, added to the number in the ship, which was so crowded that each had scarcely room to turn himself, almost suffocated us. This produced copious perspirations, so that the air soon became unfit for respiration, from a variety of loathsome smells, and brought on a sickness among the slaves, of which many died, thus falling victims to the improvident avarice, as I may call it, of their purchasers.”

Source: Olaudah Equiano, The Interesting Life of Olaudah Equiano, 1789

5

Mark for Review

The conditions described in the passage led most directly to which of the following after 1800?

☐

(A) Federal prohibition of the international slave trade

☐

(B) Efforts to repatriate slaves in the United States to Africa

☐

(C) Political parties aimed at preventing the spread of slavery to western territories

☐

(D) Compromise on how to count slaves for the purposes of representation in Congress

BACK

NEXT

Questions 5 through 6 refer to the following.

“At last, when the ship we were in had got in all her cargo, they made ready with many fearful noises, and we were all put under deck, so that we could not see how they managed the vessel...The closeness of the place, and the heat of the climate, added to the number in the ship, which was so crowded that each had scarcely room to turn himself, almost suffocated us. This produced copious perspirations, so that the air soon became unfit for respiration, from a variety of loathsome smells, and brought on a sickness among the slaves, of which many died, thus falling victims to the improvident avarice, as I may call it, of their purchasers.”

Source: Olaudah Equiano, The Interesting Life of Olaudah Equiano, 1789

6

Mark for Review

The “improvident avarice” mentioned in the passage refers to which of the following?

☐

(A) The transition of Southern aristocrats away from an agricultural economy.

☐

(B) The decrease in profitable rice plantations.

☐

(C) The treatment of Native Americans following the Revolutionary War.

☐

(D) The need for wealthy Americans to continue buying slaves.

BACKNEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 7 through 9 refer to the following.

“Sir, we have done everything that could be done to avert the storm which is now coming on. We have petitioned; we have remonstrated; we have supplicated; we have prostrated ourselves before the throne, and have implored its interposition to arrest the tyrannical hands of the ministry and Parliament. Our petitions have been slighted; our remonstrances have produced additional violence and insult; our supplications have been disregarded; and we have been spurned, with contempt, from the foot of the throne!”

Source: Patrick Henry, addressing the Second Virginia Convention at St. John’s Church in Richmond, Virginia, March 23, 1775.

7

Mark for Review

The excerpt could best be used to support which of the following historical claims?

(A) There remained considerable Loyalist opposition to revolutionary activity by 1775

(B) By 1775, independence had become a majority position among the colonists

(C) Legal mechanisms had failed to secure political concessions that opponents of British policies sought in the 1770s

(D) The English monarch agreed with the colonists that Parliament was acting tyrannically in the 1770s

BACK

NEXT

Questions 7 through 9 refer to the following.

“Sir, we have done everything that could be done to avert the storm which is now coming on. We have petitioned; we have remonstrated; we have supplicated; we have prostrated ourselves before the throne, and have implored its interposition to arrest the tyrannical hands of the ministry and Parliament. Our petitions have been slighted; our remonstrances have produced additional violence and insult; our supplications have been disregarded; and we have been spurned, with contempt, from the foot of the throne!”

Source: Patrick Henry, addressing the Second Virginia Convention at St. John’s Church in Richmond, Virginia, March 23, 1775.

8

Mark for Review

Which of the following primary sources would most likely support Patrick Henry’s argument in the excerpt?

(A) Diary entries outlining colonists’ frustrations with the British Parliament

(B) Rejected applications for colonial tax exemptions

(C) Speeches detailing the flaws of taxation without representation

(D) Records of purchases made without paying the necessary taxes

BACKNEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 7 through 9 refer to the following.

“Sir, we have done everything that could be done to avert the storm which is now coming on. We have petitioned; we have remonstrated; we have supplicated; we have prostrated ourselves before the throne, and have implored its interposition to arrest the tyrannical hands of the ministry and Parliament. Our petitions have been slighted; our remonstrances have produced additional violence and insult; our supplications have been disregarded; and we have been spurned, with contempt, from the foot of the throne!”

Source: Patrick Henry, addressing the Second Virginia Convention at St. John’s Church in Richmond, Virginia, March 23, 1775.

9

Mark for Review

Attitudes such as the one expressed most directly led to which of the following after American independence?

☐

(A) The maintenance of property qualifications for voting and citizenship in newly independent states

☐

(B) An influx of settlers moving to the Northwest Territory

☐

(C) The creation of a central government with limited power

☐

(D) Expanded roles for women to teach republican values within the family

BACK

NEXT

Questions 10 through 13 refer to the following.

“The tendency of a national bank is to increase public and private credit. The former gives power to the state for the protection of its rights and interests, and the latter facilitates and extends the operations of commerce among individuals. Industry is increased, commodities are multiplied, agriculture and manufactures flourish, and herein consist the true wealth and prosperity of a state.”

Source: Alexander Hamilton, letter to Robert Morris, 1781

10

Mark for Review

According to Hamilton, which of the following best describes the overarching goals of a national bank?

☐

(A) To pay off war debt

☐

(B) To regulate commerce

☐

(C) To allow government and business to function properly

☐

(D) To prevent economic downturns and recessions

BACKNEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 10 through 13 refer to the following.

“The tendency of a national bank is to increase public and private credit. The former gives power to the state for the protection of its rights and interests, and the latter facilitates and extends the operations of commerce among individuals. Industry is increased, commodities are multiplied, agriculture and manufactures flourish, and herein consist the true wealth and prosperity of a state.”

Source: Alexander Hamilton, letter to Robert Morris, 1781

11

Mark for Review

The ideas expressed in the passage would likely face strongest opposition from which of the following after 1800?

☐

(A) A supporter of Henry Clay’s American System in the 1820s

☐

(B) A supporter of the Democratic Party in the 1830s

☐

(C) A supporter of the Progressive movement in the 1900s

☐

(D) A supporter of the New Deal in the 1930s

BACK

NEXT

Questions 10 through 13 refer to the following.

“The tendency of a national bank is to increase public and private credit. The former gives power to the state for the protection of its rights and interests, and the latter facilitates and extends the operations of commerce among individuals. Industry is increased, commodities are multiplied, agriculture and manufactures flourish, and herein consist the true wealth and prosperity of a state.”

Source: Alexander Hamilton, letter to Robert Morris, 1781

12

Mark for Review

The proposal of a national bank during the Washington Administration spurred a debate about which of the following?

(A) The validity of the national debt

(B) Whether the Constitution should be viewed with a strict or a broad interpretation

(C) The meaning of the Commerce Clause of the Constitution

(D) The scope of the State Department’s powers

BACKNEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 10 through 13 refer to the following.

“The tendency of a national bank is to increase public and private credit. The former gives power to the state for the protection of its rights and interests, and the latter facilitates and extends the operations of commerce among individuals. Industry is increased, commodities are multiplied, agriculture and manufactures flourish, and herein consist the true wealth and prosperity of a state.”

Source: Alexander Hamilton, letter to Robert Morris, 1781

13  Mark for Review

Which of the following pieces of historical evidence could best be used to evaluate Hamilton’s claim about private credit?

- ☐ (A) Transcripts of the Senate debate over the establishment of a national bank
- ☐ (B) Hamilton’s early plans for paying off the federal debt
- ☐ (C) Bank statements from the wealthiest Americans in the last decade of the eighteenth century
- ☐ (D) Records of bank loans from the late eighteenth century that had been successfully paid back by businesses

BACK

NEXT

Questions 14 through 18 refer to the following.

“To the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States: The communications now made, showing the great and increasing dangers with which our vessels, our seamen, and merchandise are threatened on the high seas and elsewhere, from the belligerent powers of Europe, and it being of great importance to keep in safety these essential resources, I deem it my duty to recommend the subject to the consideration of Congress, who will doubtless perceive all the advantages which may be expected from an inhibition of the departure of our vessels from the ports of the United States. Their wisdom will also see the necessity of making every preparation for whatever events may grow out of the present crisis.”

Source: Thomas Jefferson, address to Congress, December 18, 1807

14

Mark for Review

Which of the following contributed most directly to the policy change announced by Jefferson in the excerpt?

- ☐ (A) Retaliation by European powers for the Louisiana Purchase
- ☐ (B) European opposition to the announcement of the Monroe Doctrine
- ☐ (C) Blockades and attacks on American ships by Great Britain and France
- ☐ (D) Attacks by pirates against US ships on the Barbary Coast

BACKNEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 14 through 18 refer to the following.

“To the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States: The communications now made, showing the great and increasing dangers with which our vessels, our seamen, and merchandise are threatened on the high seas and elsewhere, from the belligerent powers of Europe, and it being of great importance to keep in safety these essential resources, I deem it my duty to recommend the subject to the consideration of Congress, who will doubtless perceive all the advantages which may be expected from an inhibition of the departure of our vessels from the ports of the United States. Their wisdom will also see the necessity of making every preparation for whatever events may grow out of the present crisis.”

Source: Thomas Jefferson, address to Congress, December 18, 1807

15

Mark for Review

All of the following represent continuity with the ideas expressed in the excerpt EXCEPT

(A) The formation of American-led collective security alliances after World War II

(B) American rejection of the principles of the Versailles Treaty after World War I

(C) The proclamation of the Monroe Doctrine

(D) The establishment of the Washington administration’s policy of neutrality

BACK

NEXT

Questions 14 through 18 refer to the following.

“To the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States: The communications now made, showing the great and increasing dangers with which our vessels, our seamen, and merchandise are threatened on the high seas and elsewhere, from the belligerent powers of Europe, and it being of great importance to keep in safety these essential resources, I deem it my duty to recommend the subject to the consideration of Congress, who will doubtless perceive all the advantages which may be expected from an inhibition of the departure of our vessels from the ports of the United States. Their wisdom will also see the necessity of making every preparation for whatever events may grow out of the present crisis.”

Source: Thomas Jefferson, address to Congress, December 18, 1807

16

Mark for Review

Which of the following describes the author’s most likely purpose in writing the associated passage?

(A) To support the creation of a draft in case the United States were to go to war

(B) To communicate preferred support for the French government in opposition to monarchical British rule

(C) To encourage Congress to create an embargo suspending foreign American trade

(D) To suggest a tax increase to help pay for a larger standing navy and protect American ships

BACKNEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 14 through 18 refer to the following.

“To the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States: The communications now made, showing the great and increasing dangers with which our vessels, our seamen, and merchandise are threatened on the high seas and elsewhere, from the belligerent powers of Europe, and it being of great importance to keep in safety these essential resources, I deem it my duty to recommend the subject to the consideration of Congress, who will doubtless perceive all the advantages which may be expected from an inhibition of the departure of our vessels from the ports of the United States. Their wisdom will also see the necessity of making every preparation for whatever events may grow out of the present crisis.”

Source: Thomas Jefferson, address to Congress, December 18, 1807

17

Mark for Review

Which of the following statements best explains a consequence of Jefferson's recommendation?

☐

(A) Urban immigrants fully supported the plan, leading to Jefferson's reelection.

☐

(B) Rural farmers largely benefitted from the legislation.

☐

(C) New England businesses were harmed by the policy and sought ways to defy it.

☐

(D) Southern plantation owners were the most affected by Jefferson's law.

BACK

NEXT

Questions 14 through 18 refer to the following.

“To the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States: The communications now made, showing the great and increasing dangers with which our vessels, our seamen, and merchandise are threatened on the high seas and elsewhere, from the belligerent powers of Europe, and it being of great importance to keep in safety these essential resources, I deem it my duty to recommend the subject to the consideration of Congress, who will doubtless perceive all the advantages which may be expected from an inhibition of the departure of our vessels from the ports of the United States. Their wisdom will also see the necessity of making every preparation for whatever events may grow out of the present crisis.”

Source: Thomas Jefferson, address to Congress, December 18, 1807

18

Mark for Review

Jefferson’s policy shift most directly contributed to which of the following outcomes?

(A) The strengthening of the Federalist party

(B) Improved relations with European powers

(C) A decrease in American manufacturing

(D) A declaration of war

BACKNEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 19 through 21 refer to the following.

“View of Erie Canal” by John William Hill, 1829

19  Mark for Review

All of the following helped promote the growth of commerce in places such as those pictured in the early 1800s EXCEPT

- ☐ (A) Judicial decisions that supported the protection of private property rights
- ☐ (B) Subsidies from the federal government for the development of transportation networks
- ☐ (C) Innovations including the steam engine that increased the efficiency of transportation
- ☐ (D) The growth of textile manufacturing centers the Northeast

BACK

NEXT

Questions 19 through 21 refer to the following.

“View of Erie Canal” by John William Hill, 1829

20

Mark for Review

Canals such as the one pictured linked the East Coast of the United States most directly with which of the following regions?

☐

(A) The Pacific Coast

☐

(B) The Southeast

☐

(C) The Midwest

☐

(D) The Southwest

BACKNEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 19 through 21 refer to the following.

“View of Erie Canal” by John William Hill, 1829

21  Mark for Review

The painting best reflects which of the following artistic and cultural trends in the United States?

- ☐ (A) Increasing interest in art that celebrated patriotic ideals and national identity
- ☐ (B) A focus on depictions of the American landscape and the influence of European Romanticism
- ☐ (C) Art and literature that expressed ethnic and regional identities
- ☐ (D) The growth of a mass culture and increasing social homogeneity

BACK

NEXT

Questions 22 through 25 refer to the following.

“In Park-street Church, on the Fourth of July, 1829, in an address on slavery, I unreflectingly assented to the popular but pernicious doctrine of gradual abolition. I seize this opportunity to make a full and unequivocal recantation, and thus publicly to ask pardon of my God, of my country, and of my brethren the poor slaves, for having uttered a sentiment so full of timidity, injustice and absurdity...

“I am aware, that many object to the severity of my language; but is there not cause for severity? I will be as harsh as truth, and as uncompromising as justice. On this subject, I do not wish to think, or speak, or write, with moderation.”

Source: William Lloyd Garrison, letter entitled “To the Public” in the inaugural issue of The Liberator, January 1, 1831

22

Mark for Review

Publications such as the one referenced in the source would most likely be intended for which of the following audiences from 1800 to 1848?

(A) A slave owner living in Virginia

(B) An Irish immigrant living in New York

(C) A slave living on a plantation in Alabama

(D) A white abolitionist living in Boston

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 22 through 25 refer to the following.

“In Park-street Church, on the Fourth of July, 1829, in an address on slavery, I unreflectingly assented to the popular but pernicious doctrine of gradual abolition. I seize this opportunity to make a full and unequivocal recantation, and thus publicly to ask pardon of my God, of my country, and of my brethren the poor slaves, for having uttered a sentiment so full of timidity, injustice and absurdity...

“I am aware, that many object to the severity of my language; but is there not cause for severity? I will be as harsh as truth, and as uncompromising as justice. On this subject, I do not wish to think, or speak, or write, with moderation.”

Source: William Lloyd Garrison, letter entitled “To the Public” in the inaugural issue of The Liberator, January 1, 1831

23  Mark for Review

Which of the following describes the most specific effect on government policy that publications like the one cited had?

- ☐ (A) Congress almost immediately began a robust debate about slavery.
- ☐ (B) Congress banned the expansion of slavery into the western territories.
- ☐ (C) Congress petitioned the president to take a stance on the slavery question.
- ☐ (D) Congress issued a gag rule to prevent debate on the issue of slavery.

BACK

NEXT

Questions 22 through 25 refer to the following.

“In Park-street Church, on the Fourth of July, 1829, in an address on slavery, I unreflectingly assented to the popular but pernicious doctrine of gradual abolition. I seize this opportunity to make a full and unequivocal recantation, and thus publicly to ask pardon of my God, of my country, and of my brethren the poor slaves, for having uttered a sentiment so full of timidity, injustice and absurdity...

“I am aware, that many object to the severity of my language; but is there not cause for severity? I will be as harsh as truth, and as uncompromising as justice. On this subject, I do not wish to think, or speak, or write, with moderation.”

Source: William Lloyd Garrison, letter entitled “To the Public” in the inaugural issue of The Liberator, January 1, 1831

24

Mark for Review

Supporters of the point of view expressed in the passage did all of the following to combat slavery in the decades before the Civil War EXCEPT

(A) Working alongside women’s suffrage activists to advance common political interests

(B) Assisting slaves in escaping from the South and evading slave catchers in the North

(C) Endorsing and using violence against slave owners

(D) Introducing resolutions in government to prevent the spread of slavery to western territories

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 22 through 25 refer to the following.

“In Park-street Church, on the Fourth of July, 1829, in an address on slavery, I unreflectingly assented to the popular but pernicious doctrine of gradual abolition. I seize this opportunity to make a full and unequivocal recantation, and thus publicly to ask pardon of my God, of my country, and of my brethren the poor slaves, for having uttered a sentiment so full of timidity, injustice and absurdity...

“I am aware, that many object to the severity of my language; but is there not cause for severity? I will be as harsh as truth, and as uncompromising as justice. On this subject, I do not wish to think, or speak, or write, with moderation.”

Source: William Lloyd Garrison, letter entitled “To the Public” in the inaugural issue of The Liberator, January 1, 1831

25  Mark for Review

The excerpt best reflects which of the following features of reform movements from 1800 to 1848?

- ☐ (A) Uncertainty over the growth of wage labor in the wake of the Market Revolution
- ☐ (B) The influence of the Second Great Awakening on moral and social reforms
- ☐ (C) A new focus on voluntary organizations aimed at changing individual behaviors
- ☐ (D) The increased political power of non-landowning white men

BACK

NEXT

Questions 26 through 30 refer to the following.

“And I do further proclaim, declare, and make known that whenever, in any of the States of Arkansas, Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, Florida, South Carolina, and North Carolina, a number of persons, not less than one tenth in number of the votes cast in such state at the presidential election of the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty, each having taken the oath...and not having since violated it, and being a qualified voter by the election law of the state existing immediately before the so-called act of secession, and excluding all others, shall reestablish a state government which shall be republican, and in nowise contravening said oath, such shall be recognized as the true government of the state, and the state shall receive thereunder the benefits of the [Constitution]...”

Source: Abraham Lincoln, “The Proclamation of Amnesty and Reconstruction,”
December 8, 1863

26

Mark for Review

Lincoln’s stance in the excerpt is most directly a response to which of the following controversies from the mid-nineteenth century?

- ☐ (A) What to do with the states that declared war against the U.S. government
- ☐ (B) How to ensure a Confederate surrender
- ☐ (C) Whether western territories will be free or allow slavery
- ☐ (D) Whether the U.S. should let the rebel states leave the union or fight to retain them

BACKNEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 26 through 30 refer to the following.

“And I do further proclaim, declare, and make known that whenever, in any of the States of Arkansas, Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, Florida, South Carolina, and North Carolina, a number of persons, not less than one tenth in number of the votes cast in such state at the presidential election of the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty, each having taken the oath...and not having since violated it, and being a qualified voter by the election law of the state existing immediately before the so-called act of secession, and excluding all others, shall reestablish a state government which shall be republican, and in nowise contravening said oath, such shall be recognized as the true government of the state, and the state shall receive thereunder the benefits of the [Constitution]...”

Source: Abraham Lincoln, “The Proclamation of Amnesty and Reconstruction,”
December 8, 1863

27

Mark for Review

The excerpt best reflects which of the following historical contexts during Reconstruction?

☐

(A) The ending of slavery as a condition for readmission into the Union

☐

(B) The division in the women’s rights movement over the proposed 14th and 15th amendments to the Constitution

☐

(C) The opening up of leadership roles to formerly enslaved persons

☐

(D) The altered relationship between the states and the federal government

BACK

NEXT

Questions 26 through 30 refer to the following.

“And I do further proclaim, declare, and make known that whenever, in any of the States of Arkansas, Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, Florida, South Carolina, and North Carolina, a number of persons, not less than one tenth in number of the votes cast in such state at the presidential election of the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty, each having taken the oath...and not having since violated it, and being a qualified voter by the election law of the state existing immediately before the so-called act of secession, and excluding all others, shall reestablish a state government which shall be republican, and in nowise contravening said oath, such shall be recognized as the true government of the state, and the state shall receive thereunder the benefits of the [Constitution]...”

Source: Abraham Lincoln, “The Proclamation of Amnesty and Reconstruction,”
December 8, 1863

28

Mark for Review

Which of the following disagreements between Congress and the White House emerged due to the proclamation offered by Lincoln?

(A) The extent to which the former Confederate states should be punished

(B) Whether slavery should be abolished

(C) How much money to allocate toward funding Reconstruction

(D) Whether voting rights should be extended to Freedmen

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 26 through 30 refer to the following.

“And I do further proclaim, declare, and make known that whenever, in any of the States of Arkansas, Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, Florida, South Carolina, and North Carolina, a number of persons, not less than one tenth in number of the votes cast in such state at the presidential election of the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty, each having taken the oath...and not having since violated it, and being a qualified voter by the election law of the state existing immediately before the so-called act of secession, and excluding all others, shall reestablish a state government which shall be republican, and in nowise contravening said oath, such shall be recognized as the true government of the state, and the state shall receive thereunder the benefits of the [Constitution]...”

Source: Abraham Lincoln, “The Proclamation of Amnesty and Reconstruction,”
December 8, 1863

29  Mark for Review

The ideas in the excerpt diverge most strongly from which of the following political texts from 1754 to 1800?

- ☐ (A) The Declaration of Independence
- ☐ (B) The Articles of Confederation
- ☐ (C) The Constitution
- ☐ (D) The Federalist Papers

BACK

NEXT

Questions 26 through 30 refer to the following.

“And I do further proclaim, declare, and make known that whenever, in any of the States of Arkansas, Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, Florida, South Carolina, and North Carolina, a number of persons, not less than one tenth in number of the votes cast in such state at the presidential election of the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty, each having taken the oath...and not having since violated it, and being a qualified voter by the election law of the state existing immediately before the so-called act of secession, and excluding all others, shall reestablish a state government which shall be republican, and in nowise contravening said oath, such shall be recognized as the true government of the state, and the state shall receive thereunder the benefits of the [Constitution]...”

Source: Abraham Lincoln, “The Proclamation of Amnesty and Reconstruction,”
December 8, 1863

30

Mark for Review

All of the following would likely disagree with the policy articulated in the excerpt EXCEPT

(A) A member of Congress from a border state

(B) A Southern plantation owner

(C) A Radical Republican in Congress

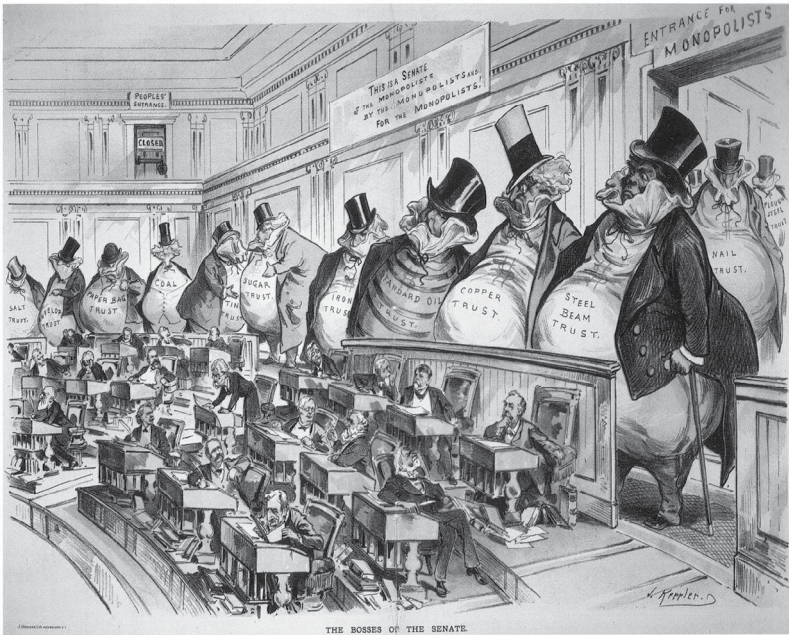

(D) A Confederate officer

BACKNEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 31 through 33 refer to the following.

“Bosses of the Senate”

Puck magazine, January 23, 1889

31

Mark for Review

The image most closely reflects which of the following developments in American business?

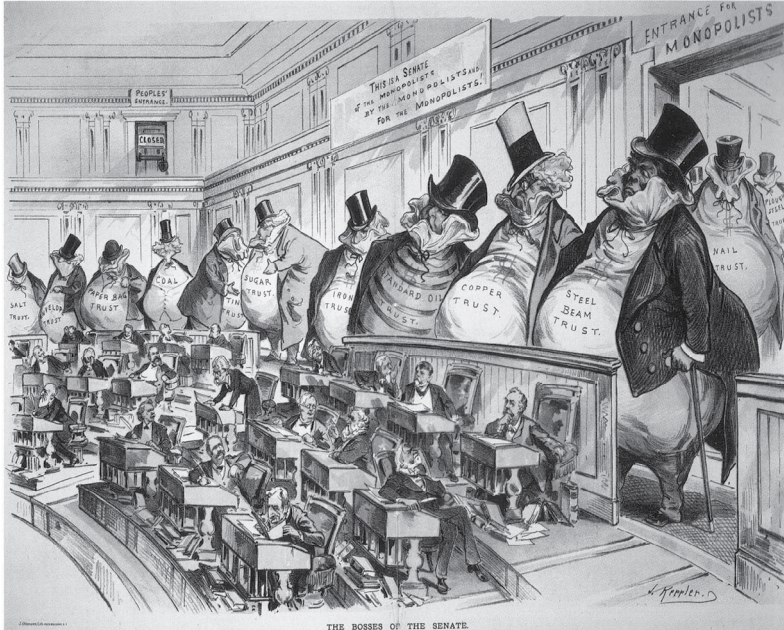

- ☐ (A) The federal government holding power over industry
- ☐ (B) Senate campaigns launched by captains of industry
- ☐ (C) The creation of monopolies in the American economy
- ☐ (D) Successful attempts by Congress to reign in the power of the business community

BACK

NEXT

Questions 31 through 33 refer to the following.

“Bosses of the Senate”

Puck magazine, January 23, 1889

32 Mark for Review

A supporter of the point of view expressed in the cartoon would most likely be in favor of which of the following policies?

- ☐ (A) A graduated income tax
- ☐ (B) Restrictions on the ability of labor unions to organize
- ☐ (C) Laissez-faire economic policies
- ☐ (D) Increased limits on legal immigration into the country

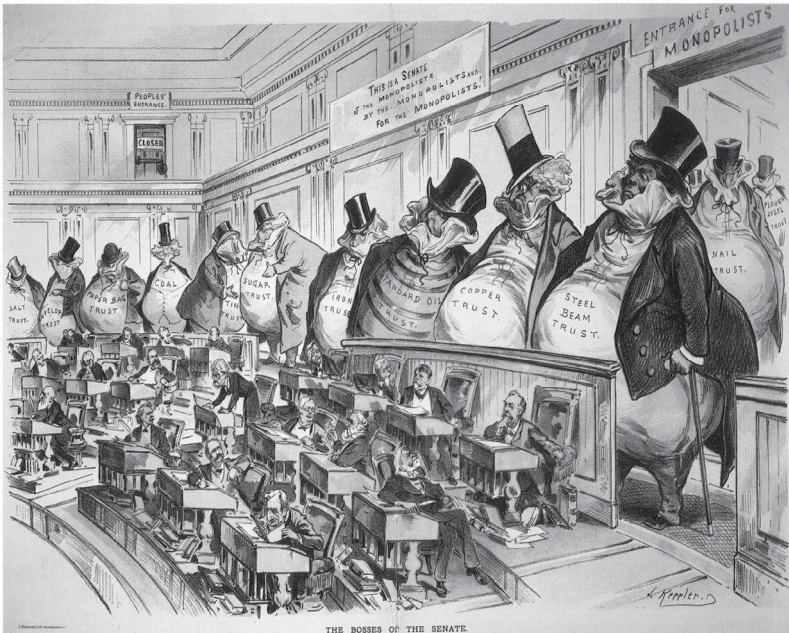

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 31 through 33 refer to the following.

“Bosses of the Senate”

Puck magazine, January 23, 1889

33

Mark for Review

The political situation alluded to in the cartoon is most different from which of the following?

- ☐ (A) The Roaring 20s
- ☐ (B) The Great Depression
- ☐ (C) The Reagan Revolution
- ☐ (D) The Clinton presidency

Questions 34 through 36 refer to the following.

“Any fool can destroy trees. They cannot run away; and if they could, they would still be destroyed—chased and hunted down as long as fun or a dollar could be got out of their bark hides, branching horns, or magnificent bole backbones. Few that fell trees plant them; nor would planting avail much towards getting back anything like the noble primeval forests.... It took more than three thousand years to make some of the trees in these Western woods—trees that are still standing in perfect strength and beauty, waving and singing in the mighty forests of the Sierra. Through all the wonderful, eventful centuries.... God has cared for these trees, saved them from drought, disease, avalanches, and a thousand straining, leveling tempests and floods; but he cannot save them from fools—only Uncle Sam can do that.”

Source: John Muir, Our National Parks, 1901

34

Mark for Review

According to the passage, the author believes that the nation's forest could best be protected by

(A) local government(B) the business community(C) non-profit organizations such as the Sierra Club(D) the federal governmentBACK*NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 34 through 36 refer to the following.

“Any fool can destroy trees. They cannot run away; and if they could, they would still be destroyed—chased and hunted down as long as fun or a dollar could be got out of their bark hides, branching horns, or magnificent bole backbones. Few that fell trees plant them; nor would planting avail much towards getting back anything like the noble primeval forests.... It took more than three thousand years to make some of the trees in these Western woods—trees that are still standing in perfect strength and beauty, waving and singing in the mighty forests of the Sierra. Through all the wonderful, eventful centuries.... God has cared for these trees, saved them from drought, disease, avalanches, and a thousand straining, leveling tempests and floods; but he cannot save them from fools—only Uncle Sam can do that.”

Source: John Muir, Our National Parks, 1901

35

Mark for Review

Which of the following best describes an outcome of the advocacy of authors such as this in the early 1900s?

☐

(A) The end of the Progressive movement’s influence

☐

(B) An increase in the amount of land protected by the United States government

☐

(C) The pursuit of “green” energy sources

☐

(D) A renewed interest in the industrial use of western natural resources

BACK

NEXT

Questions 34 through 36 refer to the following.

“Any fool can destroy trees. They cannot run away; and if they could, they would still be destroyed—chased and hunted down as long as fun or a dollar could be got out of their bark hides, branching horns, or magnificent bole backbones. Few that fell trees plant them; nor would planting avail much towards getting back anything like the noble primeval forests.... It took more than three thousand years to make some of the trees in these Western woods—trees that are still standing in perfect strength and beauty, waving and singing in the mighty forests of the Sierra. Through all the wonderful, eventful centuries.... God has cared for these trees, saved them from drought, disease, avalanches, and a thousand straining, leveling tempests and floods; but he cannot save them from fools—only Uncle Sam can do that.”

Source: John Muir, Our National Parks, 1901

36

Mark for Review

A supporter of the argument in the passage would likely agree with all of the following policies after 1960 EXCEPT

(A) The creation of the Environmental Protection Agency

(B) The signing of the Clean Air Act

(C) The deregulation of the natural gas industry

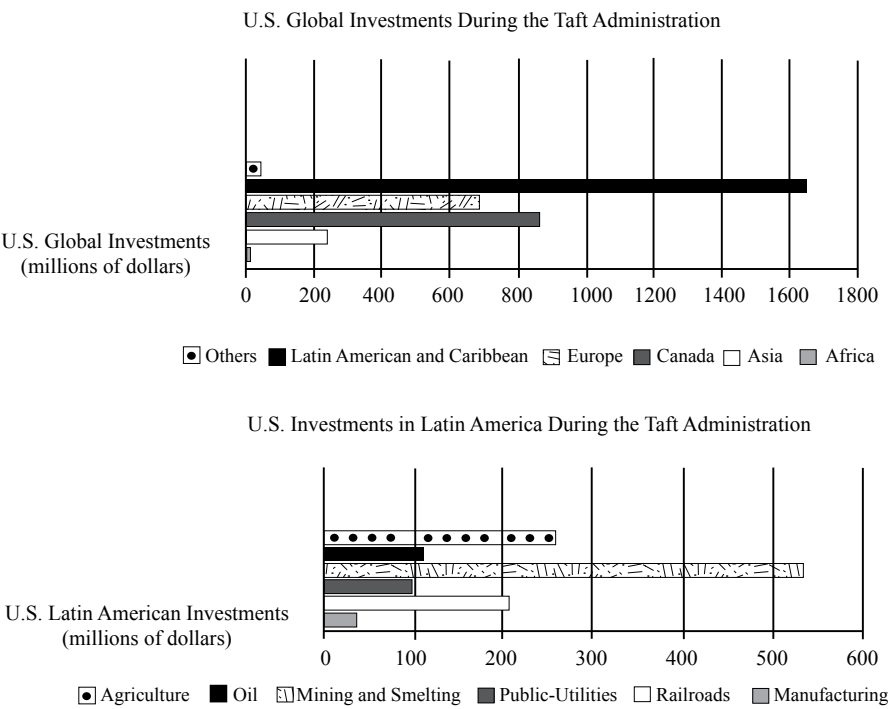

(D) The organizing of the Department of Energy into the presidential cabinet

BACKNEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 37 through 39 refer to the following

37 Mark for Review

The graphs most strongly support which of the following arguments about United States foreign investments in the early 1900s?

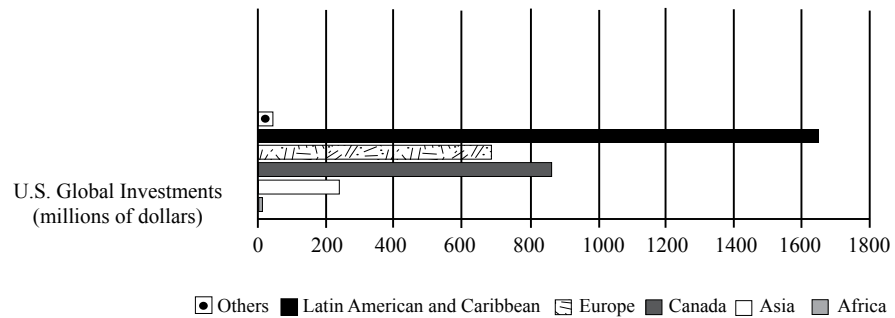

- ☐ (A) The United States' worldwide investment in mining and smelting was higher than any other investment.
- ☐ (B) The United States had little interest in oil.
- ☐ (C) Asian investments were insignificant to the United States.
- ☐ (D) The United States used its financial resources abroad most strongly to attempt to influence Latin American countries.

BACK

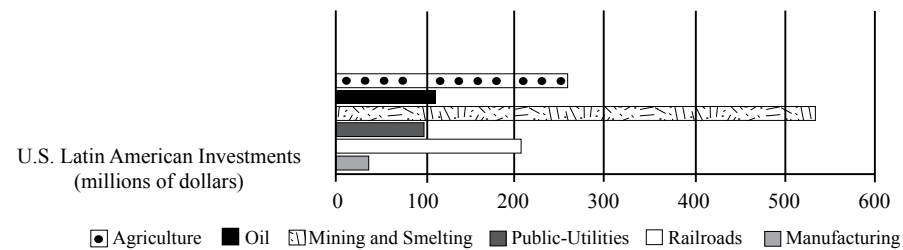

NEXT

Questions 37 through 39 refer to the following

U.S. Global Investments During the Taft Administration

U.S. Investments in Latin America During the Taft Administration

38

Mark for Review

Which of the following best describes a historical reason for the situation shown by the first graph?

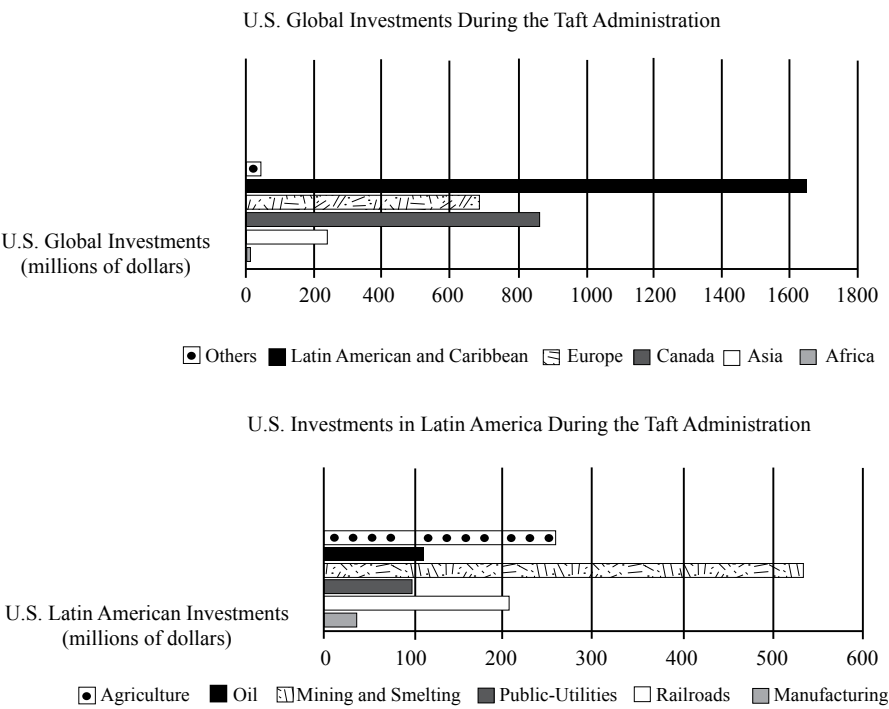

- ☐ (A) The United States invested heavily in supporting allied countries to contain the influence of Soviet Communism
- ☐ (B) The United States supported American businesses in extending their operations to the Global South in hopes of extracting valuable natural resources
- ☐ (C) The United States sought to use foreign investment to rebuild nations that had suffered heavily due to global war
- ☐ (D) The United States sought to build an overseas empire with enough colonies to rival the size of Europe's

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 37 through 39 refer to the following

39 Mark for Review

Which of the following conclusions can be drawn from the data in the second graph?

- ☐ (A) Public utilities in Latin America were not as high of a priority as the establishment of manufacturing facilities.
- ☐ (B) The United States saw Latin American oil resources as more valuable than its agricultural resources.
- ☐ (C) Railroad investments increased due to the large investments in manufacturing.
- ☐ (D) For the most part, United States businesses domestically manufactured products using natural resources obtained from Latin America.

BACK

NEXT

Questions 40 through 44 refer to the following.

1919 political cartoon depicting Henry Cabot Lodge escorting a “peace treaty” from the operating room labeled “Senate Committee on Foreign Relations”

40

Mark for Review

The cartoon best highlights which of the following political controversies from the early 20th century?

- ☐ (A) Whether the United States should return to a more isolationist foreign policy
- ☐ (B) Whether the United States government should be able to institute a peacetime draft for civilians
- ☐ (C) Whether United States citizens should have the right to criticize their government
- ☐ (D) Whether the United States should join the United Nations

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 40 through 44 refer to the following.

1919 political cartoon depicting Henry Cabot Lodge escorting a “peace treaty” from the operating room labeled “Senate Committee on Foreign Relations”

41

Mark for Review

The conflict referenced in the cartoon had all of the following effects in the early 1900s EXCEPT

- ☐ (A) The United States reduced immigration restrictions to meet draft quotas to support the war
- ☐ (B) The United States government took on additional powers to encourage industrial production of war material
- ☐ (C) African Americans moved from the South to cities in the North and West in search of job opportunities
- ☐ (D) Increased anxiety about political radicalism led to a Red Scare and attacks on labor activism

BACK

NEXT

Questions 40 through 44 refer to the following.

1919 political cartoon depicting Henry Cabot Lodge escorting a “peace treaty” from the operating room labeled “Senate Committee on Foreign Relations”

42

Mark for Review

Which of the following developments is the most direct effect of the situation portrayed in the image?

☐

(A) President Wilson managed to get the European powers to join the United States in agreeing to the treaty.

☐

(B) The United States failed to sign onto the Treaty of Versailles.

☐

(C) The war dragged on for two more years until a new treaty could be agreed upon.

☐

(D) Lodge persuaded Great Britain to agree to his version of the treaty.

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 40 through 44 refer to the following.

1919 political cartoon depicting Henry Cabot Lodge escorting a “peace treaty” from the operating room labeled “Senate Committee on Foreign Relations”

43 Mark for Review

Opponents of the senator portrayed in the image would most likely support a foreign policy based on

- ☐ (A) Efforts to maintain largely neutral ties with rival states
- ☐ (B) Mercantilist goals of maximizing economic exports
- ☐ (C) Imperial expansion through colonial conquest
- ☐ (D) Collective security and international aid

BACK

NEXT

Questions 40 through 44 refer to the following.

1919 political cartoon depicting Henry Cabot Lodge escorting a “peace treaty” from the operating room labeled “Senate Committee on Foreign Relations”

44 Mark for Review

Which of the following was a key difference between the conclusion of World War I and the conclusion of World War II?

- ☐ (A) The United States participated in the creation of a treaty to end the Second World War, but did not participate in such a process following the First World War.
- ☐ (B) The United States was not invited to the peace conference following World War II, though hosted the peace conference following World War I.
- ☐ (C) The United States joined a worldwide community focused on maintaining peace following World War II, while it rejected such an opportunity following World War I.
- ☐ (D) At the close of World War II, the United States had a strong allegiance with France, yet following World War I, the relationship was far more adversarial.

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 45 through 49 refer to the following.

Source 1

“...As several of us sat around an open camp fire one evening, one of the shanty dwellers remarked that “we must have a name for this place; we can’t call it any old thing.” One man spoke up with “this is the era of Hoover prosperity; let’s call this place Hooverville.

“...Hooverville is a colony of industrious men, the most of whom are busy trying to hold their heads up and be self-supporting and respectable. A lot of work is required in order to stay here, consequently, the lazy man does not tarry long in this place.”

Source: Jesse Jackson, “The Story of Hooverville, In Seattle,” 1935

Source 2

“No matter what improvement there may be in our economic situation during the fall, we shall unquestionably have considerable continuance of destitution over the winter. I am wondering if it would not be advisable for us to get the machinery of the country into earlier action than last year in order that there may be provision for funds substantially made before the winter arrives.”

Source: President Herbert Hoover, letter to Illinois Governor Louis Emmerson, July 10, 1931

45  Mark for Review

The second source best illustrates which of the following continuities in American history before the 1930s?

- ☐ Ⓐ American industrialization created cheaper consumer goods and raised wages of members of all socioeconomic classes
- ☐ Ⓑ Labor unions enjoyed strong protections in order to protect the wages of the working class
- ☐ Ⓒ Foreign policymakers increasingly looked outside US borders in an effort to gain greater control over natural resources
- ☐ Ⓓ American policymakers often assumed that laissez-faire policies promoted economic growth in the long run and tended to oppose government intervention during economic downturns

BACK

NEXT

Questions 45 through 49 refer to the following.

Source 1

“...As several of us sat around an open camp fire one evening, one of the shanty dwellers remarked that “we must have a name for this place; we can’t call it any old thing.” One man spoke up with “this is the era of Hoover prosperity; let’s call this place Hooverville.

“...Hooverville is a colony of industrious men, the most of whom are busy trying to hold their heads up and be self-supporting and respectable. A lot of work is required in order to stay here, consequently, the lazy man does not tarry long in this place.”

Source: Jesse Jackson, “The Story of Hooverville, In Seattle,” 1935

Source 2

“No matter what improvement there may be in our economic situation during the fall, we shall unquestionably have considerable continuance of destitution over the winter. I am wondering if it would not be advisable for us to get the machinery of the country into earlier action than last year in order that there may be provision for funds substantially made before the winter arrives.”

Source: President Herbert Hoover, letter to Illinois Governor Louis Emmerson,
July 10, 1931

46

Mark for Review

The situation referenced in both sources was most directly caused by which of the following?

(A) Unprecedented levels of defense spending in the face of foreign threats

(B) Prohibitively high tax levels for the country’s wealthiest earners

(C) Credit and market instability leading to massive bank closures

(D) Major spikes in food prices leading to mass famine

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 45 through 49 refer to the following.

Source 1

“...As several of us sat around an open camp fire one evening, one of the shanty dwellers remarked that “we must have a name for this place; we can’t call it any old thing.” One man spoke up with “this is the era of Hoover prosperity; let’s call this place Hooverville.

“...Hooverville is a colony of industrious men, the most of whom are busy trying to hold their heads up and be self-supporting and respectable. A lot of work is required in order to stay here, consequently, the lazy man does not tarry long in this place.”

Source: Jesse Jackson, “The Story of Hooverville, In Seattle,” 1935

Source 2

“No matter what improvement there may be in our economic situation during the fall, we shall unquestionably have considerable continuance of destitution over the winter. I am wondering if it would not be advisable for us to get the machinery of the country into earlier action than last year in order that there may be provision for funds substantially made before the winter arrives.”

Source: President Herbert Hoover, letter to Illinois Governor Louis Emmerson, July 10, 1931

47

Mark for Review

The author of the first passage would likely respond to Hoover’s letter by

(A) disagreeing about the utility of government assistance

(B) offering support for the work Hoover has done thus far

(C) agreeing that aid should be offered as soon as possible

(D) echoing Hoover’s sentiments that the economic situation had recently improved

BACK

NEXT

Questions 45 through 49 refer to the following.

Source 1

“...As several of us sat around an open camp fire one evening, one of the shanty dwellers remarked that “we must have a name for this place; we can’t call it any old thing.” One man spoke up with “this is the era of Hoover prosperity; let’s call this place Hooverville.

“...Hooverville is a colony of industrious men, the most of whom are busy trying to hold their heads up and be self-supporting and respectable. A lot of work is required in order to stay here, consequently, the lazy man does not tarry long in this place.”

Source: Jesse Jackson, “The Story of Hooverville, In Seattle,” 1935

Source 2

“No matter what improvement there may be in our economic situation during the fall, we shall unquestionably have considerable continuance of destitution over the winter. I am wondering if it would not be advisable for us to get the machinery of the country into earlier action than last year in order that there may be provision for funds substantially made before the winter arrives.”

Source: President Herbert Hoover, letter to Illinois Governor Louis Emmerson,
July 10, 1931

48

Mark for Review

Efforts to expand the government’s power to respond to the economic situation referenced in both sources were most challenged by which of the following in the 1930s?

- ☐ (A) Conservatives on the Supreme Court who argued that strong government intervention in the economy was unconstitutional
- ☐ (B) Labor activists who argued that government relief programs were not generous enough
- ☐ (C) Liberal members of Congress who sought to design programs to reform the American economy
- ☐ (D) Foreign adversaries whose declaration of war against the US plunged the country deeper into recession

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 45 through 49 refer to the following.

Source 1

“...As several of us sat around an open camp fire one evening, one of the shanty dwellers remarked that “we must have a name for this place; we can’t call it any old thing.” One man spoke up with “this is the era of Hoover prosperity; let’s call this place Hooverville.

“...Hooverville is a colony of industrious men, the most of whom are busy trying to hold their heads up and be self-supporting and respectable. A lot of work is required in order to stay here, consequently, the lazy man does not tarry long in this place.”

Source: Jesse Jackson, “The Story of Hooverville, In Seattle,” 1935

Source 2

“No matter what improvement there may be in our economic situation during the fall, we shall unquestionably have considerable continuance of destitution over the winter. I am wondering if it would not be advisable for us to get the machinery of the country into earlier action than last year in order that there may be provision for funds substantially made before the winter arrives.”

Source: President Herbert Hoover, letter to Illinois Governor Louis Emmerson, July 10, 1931

49

Mark for Review

Both Jackson and Hoover would agree that

☐

(A) Government investments in Hoovervilles would benefit the larger economy

☐

(B) The immediate economic outlook appeared bleak

☐

(C) The upcoming winter would mean the end of Hoovervilles

☐

(D) The economy should improve by the end of the winter

BACK

NEXT

Questions 50 through 53 refer to the following.

“To those who have said, ‘Be patient and wait,’ we have long said that we cannot be patient. We do not want our freedom gradually, but we want to be free now! We are tired. We are tired of being beaten by policemen. We are tired of seeing our people locked up in jail over and over again. And then you holler, ‘Be patient.’ How long can we be patient? We want our freedom and we want it now. We do not want to go to jail. But we will go to jail if this is the price we must pay for love, brotherhood, and true peace.”

Source: John Lewis, chairman of the SNCC, speech at the March on Washington for Jobs and Freedom, August 28, 1963

50

Mark for Review

In noting that “we have long said that we cannot be patient,” John Lewis was most likely arguing against

(A) politicians who threw their support behind the Civil Rights Movement

(B) white Americans who claimed that African Americans should wait for their civil rights and avoid civil disobedience

(C) Civil Rights advocates who argued that more consideration should be given to the timing and execution of direct action

(D) African American activists critical of how slow the Civil Rights movement was progressing

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 50 through 53 refer to the following.

“To those who have said, ‘Be patient and wait,’ we have long said that we cannot be patient. We do not want our freedom gradually, but we want to be free now! We are tired. We are tired of being beaten by policemen. We are tired of seeing our people locked up in jail over and over again. And then you holler, ‘Be patient.’ How long can we be patient? We want our freedom and we want it now. We do not want to go to jail. But we will go to jail if this is the price we must pay for love, brotherhood, and true peace.”

Source: John Lewis, chairman of the SNCC, speech at the March on Washington for Jobs and Freedom, August 28, 1963

51  Mark for Review

The speech best represents which of the following changes in the Civil Rights movement between the 1950s and the 1960s?

- ☐ Ⓐ A shift from nonviolent protest to violent forms of confrontation to advance political goals
- ☐ Ⓑ A shift from racial integration to Black nationalism and separatism as an end goal
- ☐ Ⓒ A shift from battling against racial segregation through the courts and legal system to a campaign of direct action
- ☐ Ⓓ A shift from fighting racial segregation to challenging structural economic inequality and American foreign policy

BACK

NEXT

Questions 50 through 53 refer to the following.

“To those who have said, ‘Be patient and wait,’ we have long said that we cannot be patient. We do not want our freedom gradually, but we want to be free now! We are tired. We are tired of being beaten by policemen. We are tired of seeing our people locked up in jail over and over again. And then you holler, ‘Be patient.’ How long can we be patient? We want our freedom and we want it now. We do not want to go to jail. But we will go to jail if this is the price we must pay for love, brotherhood, and true peace.”

Source: John Lewis, chairman of the SNCC, speech at the March on Washington for Jobs and Freedom, August 28, 1963

52

Mark for Review

Protests such as the one excerpted most directly led to which of the following in the 1960s?

(A) The introduction of laws designed to combat discrimination in employment and public facilities

(B) The liberalization of the country’s immigration restrictions

(C) Federal support for a national program of affirmative action policies

(D) The expansion of social insurance programs such as subsidized healthcare for the elderly to combat poverty

BACKNEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 50 through 53 refer to the following.

“To those who have said, ‘Be patient and wait,’ we have long said that we cannot be patient. We do not want our freedom gradually, but we want to be free now! We are tired. We are tired of being beaten by policemen. We are tired of seeing our people locked up in jail over and over again. And then you holler, ‘Be patient.’ How long can we be patient? We want our freedom and we want it now. We do not want to go to jail. But we will go to jail if this is the price we must pay for love, brotherhood, and true peace.”

Source: John Lewis, chairman of the SNCC, speech at the March on Washington for Jobs and Freedom, August 28, 1963

53

Mark for Review

Which of the following best describes a change in political strategies of the group to which the speaker was connected after 1965?

(A) A change from direct action to nonviolent resistance

(B) A change from support for legislative change to a focus on litigation

(C) A change from a push for integration to support for Black power

(D) A change from mobilizing young people to church leaders

BACK

NEXT

Questions 54 through 55 refer to the following.

“This is our time, to put our people back to work and open doors of opportunity for our kids; to restore prosperity and promote the cause of peace; to reclaim the American dream and reaffirm that fundamental truth, that, out of many, we are one; that while we breathe, we hope. And where we are met with cynicism and doubts and those who tell us that we can’t, we will respond with that timeless creed that sums up the spirit of a people: Yes, we can.”

Source: Barack Obama, election victory speech, November 4, 2008

54

Mark for Review

The excerpt is best understood in the context of all of the following after 1980 EXCEPT

(A) In the 21st century, real wages stagnated for the working and middle class amid growing economic inequality

(B) A newly ascendant conservative movement continued to strongly influence public discourse

(C) International migration from Latin America and Asia increased dramatically, leading to a changing demographic face of the country

(D) Debates persisted over the appropriate use of American power in the world

BACKNEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Questions 54 through 55 refer to the following.

“This is our time, to put our people back to work and open doors of opportunity for our kids; to restore prosperity and promote the cause of peace; to reclaim the American dream and reaffirm that fundamental truth, that, out of many, we are one; that while we breathe, we hope. And where we are met with cynicism and doubts and those who tell us that we can’t, we will respond with that timeless creed that sums up the spirit of a people: Yes, we can.”

Source: Barack Obama, election victory speech, November 4, 2008

55  Mark for Review

The economic context for the election of the speaker in the excerpt is most similar to which of the following?

☐

(A) The 1920s

☐

(B) The 1930s

☐

(C) The 1960s

☐

(D) The 1990s

BACK

NEXT

SECTION I, PART B: Short Answer

At a GlanceTime

40 minutes

Number of Questions

3

Percent of Total Score

20%

Questions 1 and 2

Mandatory

Question 3 or 4

Choose one question

Instructions

Section I, Part B has 3 short-answer questions and lasts 40 minutes.

In this part, answer Question 1 and Question 2 and either Question 3 or Question 4.

In your responses, be sure to address all parts of the questions you answer. Use complete sentences; an outline or bulleted list alone is not acceptable.

You may pace yourself as you answer the questions in this part, or you may use these optional timing recommendations:

It is suggested that you spend an equal amount of time, approximately 13 minutes, on each question.

For this practice test, use scratch paper for notes and planning as well as writing your responses.

BACKNEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Question 1 is based on the following.

Source 1

“Our own direct interests were great, because of the Cuban tobacco and sugar, and especially because of Cuba’s relation to the projected Isthmian [Panama] Canal. But even greater were our interests from the standpoint of humanity. ... It was our duty, even more from the standpoint of National honor than from the standpoint of National interest, to stop the devastation and destruction. Because of these considerations I favored war.”

Source: President Theodore Roosevelt, Theodore Roosevelt: An Autobiography, 1913

Source 2

“The Spanish-American War was fomented on outright lies and trumped up accusations against the intended enemy. ... War fever in the general population never reached a critical temperature until the accidental sinking of the USS Maine was deliberately, and falsely, attributed to Spanish villainy. ... In a cryptic message ... Senator Lodge wrote that ‘There may be an explosion any day in Cuba which would settle a great many things. We have got a battleship in the harbor of Havana, and our fleet, which overmatches anything the Spanish have, is masked at the Dry Tortugas.’”

Source: Paul Atwood, historian, War and Empire, 2010

1

Mark for Review

Using the excerpts, respond to parts A, B, and C.

- A. Briefly explain ONE major difference between Roosevelt’s and Atwood’s historical interpretations of the United States’ involvement in the Spanish-American War.
- B. Briefly explain how ONE historical event or development in the relevant time period could be used to support Roosevelt’s interpretation.
- C. Briefly explain how ONE historical event or development in the relevant time period could be used to support Atwood’s interpretation.

BACK

NEXT

Question 2 is based on the following.

Source: Political cartoon by Frederick Burr Opper, published in Puck magazine, 1893

2

Mark for Review

Using the image, respond to parts A, B, and C.

- A. Briefly explain ONE characteristic of urban politics in the late 19th century as portrayed in the image.
- B. Briefly explain ONE reaction or historical change to urban politics of the late 19th century.
- C. Briefly explain ANOTHER reaction or historical change to urban politics of the late 19th century.

BACK

NEXT

Section I: Multiple Choice

Question 3 or 4

Directions: Answer either Question 3 or Question 4.

3

Mark for Review

Respond to parts A, B, and C.

- A. Briefly explain how ONE historical development led to the creation of the Bill of Rights.
- B. Briefly explain ONE specific argument supporters of the Bill of Rights used in the 1780s to promote its inclusion in the Constitution.
- C. Briefly explain ONE specific argument opponents of the Bill of Rights used in the 1780s to prevent its inclusion in the Constitution.

4

Mark for Review

Respond to parts A, B, and C.

- A. Briefly describe ONE way that the New Deal fostered political change in America.
- B. Briefly describe ONE way that the New Deal did not foster political change in America.
- C. Briefly explain ONE way that conservatives challenged New Deal policies after 1970.

Choose a question to answer before you start typing. If you change your selection, any work you've done will be saved.

Answer Question 3

Answer Question 4

BACK

NEXT

AP[®] United States History Exam

SECTION II: Free Response

At a Glance

Total Time

1 hour, 40 minutes

Number of Questions

2

Percent of Total Score

40%

Question 1 (DBQ):Mandatory*Suggested Reading and*Writing Time

60 minutes

Percent of Total Score

25%

Question 2, 3, or 4 (Long Essay): Choose ONE Question

Answer either Question 2, 3, or 4

Suggested Time

40 minutes

Percent of Total Score

15%

DISCLAIMER: The official AP U.S. History Exam will be digital. Instructions for the official exam may differ from this practice test.

Instructions

Section II has 1 document-based question (DBQ) and 1 long essay question, and lasts 1 hour and 40 minutes.

In this section, answer Question 1 (the DBQ) and either Question 2 or Question 3 or Question 4. After reviewing Questions 2, 3, and 4, choose the question that you are best prepared to answer. This section of the exam requires answers in essay form. Use complete sentences; an outline or bulleted list alone is not acceptable.

You may pace yourself as you answer the questions in this section, or you may use these optional timing recommendations:

For Question 1 (DBQ), it is suggested that you spend approximately 15 minutes reading the question and planning your answer, and then 45 minutes writing your essay. The suggested writing time for the long essay question is 40 minutes.

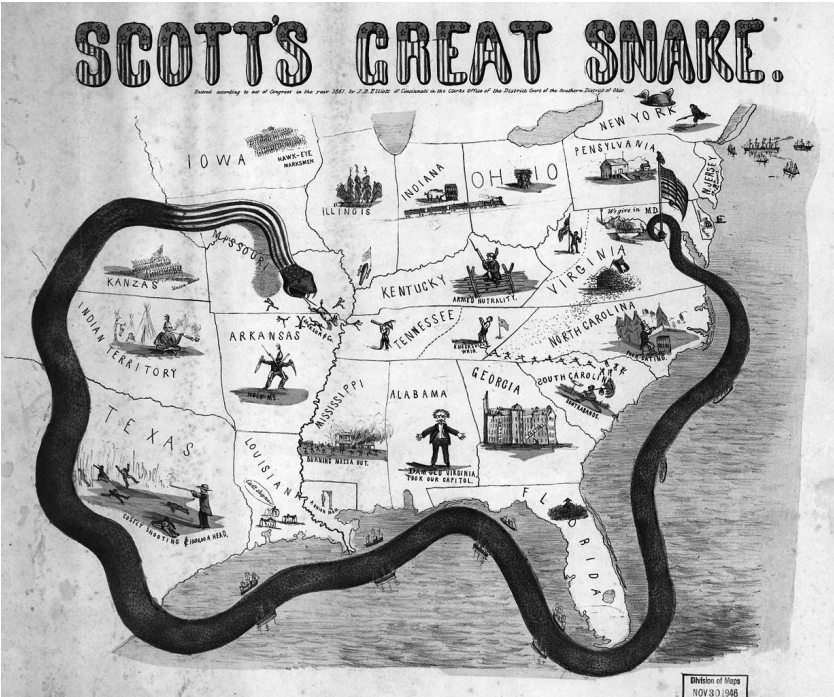

For this practice test, use scratch paper for notes and planning as well as writing your responses.

BACKNEXT

Section II: Free Response

Document 1

Source: Cartoon map illustrating General Winfield Scott’s “Anaconda Plan,” by J.B. Elliott, 1861

1

Mark for Review

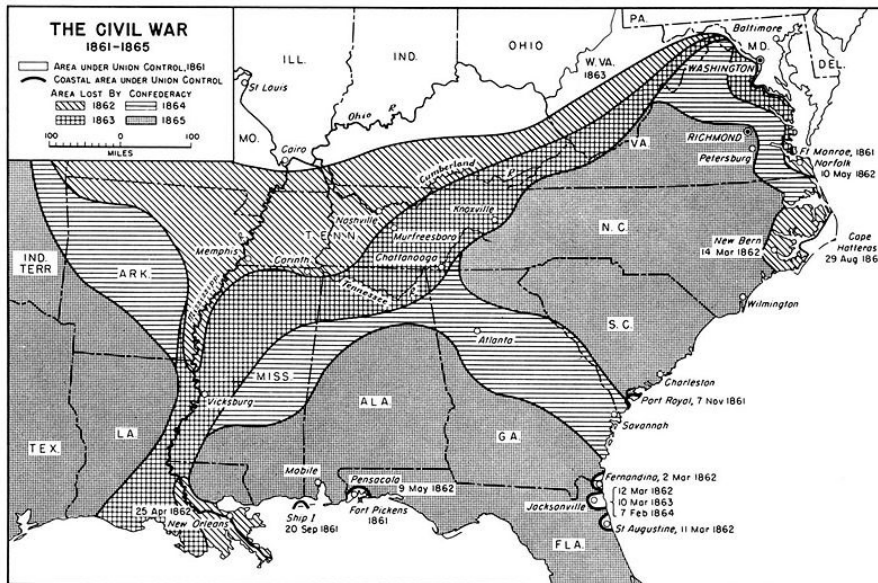

Evaluate the extent to which industrialization caused the Union to succeed over the Confederacy during the Civil War.

BACK

NEXT

Document 2

Source: Map of Confederate territory losses, 1861-1865, Office of the Chief of Military History, United States Army

BACK

NEXT

Section II: Free Response

Document 3

Source: J.M. Edmunds, Commissioner General Land Office, “Manufactures of the United States in 1860: Compiled from the Original Returns of the Eighth Census,” 1865

Without our manufacturing capacities whence could we have drawn the materials of war? Not from abroad, for there was hostility of sentiment. Who would have taken our loans? Not the capitalists of England or the Continent, for there the sympathy generally was with the other side. No, it was manufacturing and mechanical resources and the granaries of the West which enables the republic to arm, subsist, and pay immense armies, and create iron-clad fleets to meet the emergency. It was mainly for the want of these, and not for lack of courage, will, or skill, that the revolt failed.

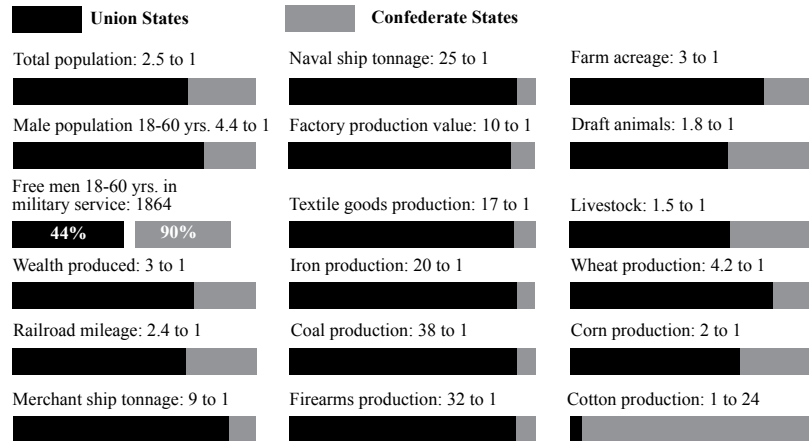

BACK

NEXT

Document 4

Source: Comparison of available resources in the Union and the Confederate States in 1861

Comparative resources: Union and Confederate states, 1861

BACK

NEXT

Section II: Free Response

Document 5

Source: General William Tecumseh Sherman, comments to Professor David F. Boyd, December 24, 1860

You people of the South don't know what you are doing. This country will be drenched in blood, and God only knows how it will end. It is all folly, madness, a crime against civilization! You people speak so lightly of war; you don't know what you're talking about. War is a terrible thing! You mistake, too, the people of the North. They are a peaceable people but an earnest people, and they will fight, too. They are not going to let this country be destroyed without a mighty effort to save it... Besides, where are your men and appliances of war to contend against them? The North can make a steam engine, locomotive, or railway car; hardly a yard of cloth or pair of shoes can you make. You are rushing into war with one of the most powerful, ingeniously mechanical, and determined people on Earth—right at your doors. You are bound to fail. Only in your spirit and determination are you prepared for war. In all else you are totally unprepared, with a bad cause to start with. At first you will make headway, but as your limited resources begin to fail, shut out from the markets of Europe as you will be, your cause will begin to wane. If your people will but stop and think, they must see in the end that you will surely fail.

BACK

NEXT

Document 6

Source: General William T. Sherman, Military Division of the Mississippi
Special Field Order 120, November 9, 1864

IV. The army will forage liberally on the country during the march. To this end, each brigade commander will organize a good and sufficient foraging party, under the command of one or more discreet officers, who will gather, near the route traveled, corn or forage of any kind, meat of any kind, vegetables, corn-meal, or whatever is needed by the command, aiming at all times to keep in the wagons at least ten day's provisions for the command and three days' forage. Soldiers must not enter the dwellings of the inhabitants, or commit any trespass, but during a halt or a camp they may be permitted to gather turnips, apples, and other vegetables, and to drive in stock of their camp. To regular foraging parties must be instructed the gathering of provisions and forage at any distance from the road traveled.

V. To army corps commanders alone is entrusted the power to destroy mills, houses, cotton-gins, &c., and for them this general principle is laid down: In districts and neighborhoods where the army is unmolested no destruction of such property should be permitted; but should guerrillas or bushwhackers molest our march, or should the inhabitants burn bridges, obstruct roads, or otherwise manifest local hostility, then army commanders should order and enforce a devastation more or less relentless according to the measure of such hostility.

VI. As for horses, mules, wagons, &c., belonging to the inhabitants, the cavalry and artillery may appropriate freely and without limit, discriminating, however, between the rich, who are usually hostile, and the poor or industrious, usually neutral or friendly. Foraging parties may also take mules or horses to replace the jaded animals of their trains, or to serve as pack-mules for the regiments or brigades. In all foraging, of whatever kind, the parties engaged will refrain from abusive or threatening language, and may, where the officer in command thinks proper, give written certificates of the facts, but no receipts, and they will endeavor to leave with each family a reasonable portion for their maintenance.

VII. Negroes who are able-bodied and can be of service to the several columns may be taken along, but each army commander will bear in mind that the question of supplies is a very important one and that his first duty is to see to them who bear arms....

BACKNEXT

Section II: Free Response

Document 7

Source: Jens Anderson, letter to a friend, Army Camp at Murfreesboro, Tennessee, March 1, 1863

From your letter of Feb. 20th I see that you have learned about the skirmish we had on Boxing Day.

That was but a foretaste of the New Year Party...

In the evening of December 29, we were 6 miles from Murfreesboro and 1 mile from the enemy outposts. Due to the immediate proximity of the enemy, we were forbidden to make fires at night, and didn't it rain that night! So there was nothing to do but throw ourselves on the ground and eat a cracker and drink cold water with it, and after that humble meal we had to think about sleep. Those who had any unrolled their blankets, but on account of the rain and the coldness of the night, we did not get any sleep.

In the morning, at daybreak, we were all up and sighted the enemy. At eight o'clock the weather cleared, and we moved forward in battle order. The field was low and swampy, thickly wooded with cedar, and intersected by the Stone River. Our line had difficulties in forcing their way through the thick forest. Having advanced a couple of miles, we encountered the enemy outposts, who gradually retreated, however. Our regiment together with the 21st Illinois were the vanguard of our brigade and followed right after the skirmish-line.

At 3 p.m. we were suddenly stopped by a large enemy force, which opened a murderous fire at us with two batteries and thousands of muskets. We were immediately ordered to retreat behind a fence where we stayed until nightfall, when we withdrew to the reserve, where we lay that night, embracing our rifles, and almost froze to death, whereas the next day became much too hot for comfort: at the earliest dawn we heard firing on our right flank where Johnson's Division was located and one could tell from the shooting that they were being driven back, nor was it long before we felt the consequences from this: we were attacked at the front by a line three ranks deep, and at the same time they flanked us on both sides, so we were fired at from three sides; this was quite insufferable, we had to get away, and everybody took flight, that is, everybody who was able to flee; for many were down already, swimming in their own blood, and many more had to bite the dust that day.

Our Lieutenant Colonel together with many another brave officer and bold soldier fell here. I do not think you can imagine how terrible that day was for us soldiers, nor can I describe it. It seemed as if all the elements were in rebellion: fire, smoke, thunder from the cannon, the explosions from the grenades, the screeches of the bullets, and the screams from the wounded all combined to make it a terrible day.

I have been ill, but am now quite well again.

BACK

NEXT

Question 2, 3, or 4 (Long Essay)

Suggested writing time: 40 minutes

Directions: Answer Question 2 or Question 3 or Question 4.

In your response you should do the following.

- Respond to the prompt with a historically defensible thesis or claim that establishes a line of reasoning.
- Describe a broader historical context relevant to the prompt.
- Support an argument in response to the prompt using specific and relevant examples of evidence.
- Use historical reasoning (e.g., comparison, causation, continuity or change over time) to frame or structure an argument that addresses the prompt.
- Use evidence to corroborate, qualify, or modify an argument that addresses the prompt.

2 Mark for Review

Evaluate the extent to which the American Revolution changed the lives of American women from 1760 to 1800.

3 Mark for Review

Evaluate the extent to which the Market Revolution transformed the lives of African Americans from 1800 to 1848.

4 Mark for Review

Evaluate the extent to which the Great Depression led to economic and political change from 1920 to 1950.

BACKNEXT

Section II: Free Response

Choose a question to answer before you start typing. If you change your selection, any work you've done will be saved.

- ☐ Answer Question 2
- ☐ Answer Question 3
- ☐ Answer Question 4

END OF EXAM

Copyright © 2026 by TPR Education IP Holdings, LLC. All rights reserved.

BACK